INCREASE IN OLD AGE ASSISTANCE GRANTS PROPOSED

Governor Suggests Maximum Payment be Raised to $35 or $36

Increase in the allowance for old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid for the blind is in prospect as Governor Stassen and members of the legislature prepare for opening of the coming legislative session.

The governor pointed out at a recent luncheon attended by members of the majority group in the House of Representatives that the allowance should be increased in recognition of the increase in the cost of living and suggested that the maximum grant for old age assistance might very well be advanced from $30 to $35 or $36 a month.

Careful management of state finances, together with advantages obtained through the old age assistance lien and other safeguards have so improved conditions of the old age assistance fund, he said, that the state can make the increase proposed. The lien influences children who are financially able to contribute to support of their aged parents, Governor Stassen said, and this helps to make possible larger grants for those who are really in need.

Members of the legislature generally seem in accord with the proposal for an increase in the allowances.

Air Raid Signal

Police Chief James Gray of McKeesport, Pa., with home-made air raid signal which he put together with a couple of pieces of old pipe. Property Tax Levies for Minnesota Higher than Most Other States

Property owners in Minnesota carry a heavier tax burden than property owners in more than three-fourths of the states in the union, the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research pointed out in a new study of property taxes made public this week.

Having its conclusions on recent U. S. census figures, the institute reported that the per capita receipts from general property taxes of state and local units of government in Minnesota for 1941 were $39.42. In only ten states, the institute said, was the burden greater. The average for all states was $33.12.

Of the property taxes collected in Minnesota, the report brought out, local levies constitute by far the greater portion. They account for $35.51 of the total per capita burden of $39.42 for 1941.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY NEARLY FOOLED 'EM

Virginia. — One brother in the Army and another awaiting his call for the Navy was just too much for a local 15-year-old youth. The urge to get into the fight overpowered him to the point of taking an older brother's birth certificate to apply for and successfully get into the U. S. Navy, and as a matter of fact as far as Great Lakes Naval Training Station. But alas, the conniving was discovered and the lad is home again impatiently waiting for two more birthdays.

125,000 WORKERS SETTLE DISPUTES WITHOUT STRIKES

Minnesota Is Far Ahead of the Nation in Cutting Strike Losses

Machinery set up under Minnesota's labor relations law has brought about the peaceful settlement of more than 1,600 labor disputes, involving more than 125,000 workers, during the past three years, putting Minnesota far ahead of the nation in cutting strike loss, the state division of conciliation reported this week.

Preparing his annual report, James L. Kelley, state labor conciliator, submitted figures to show gains made since Minnesota embarked upon its pioneering venture in this field early in 1939 at request of Governor Harold E. Stassen. He wrote:

"Comparing the three-year period ending June30, 1939, with the three year period ending June 30, 1942, strikes in Minnesota have been reduced 44% whereas, reduction in the country as a whole has been only 8%. Number of employees involved in strikes has been reduced 69%, compared to only 2% in the country as a whole. Mandays idle due to strikes have been reduced 68% in Minnesota compared with a reduction of 33% in the country as a whole."

Tabulations included in the report, supplementing earlier analyses, showed that more than 1,600 labor disputes, involving 128,000 employees, have been settled peacefully through conciliation, arbitration or other machinery provided by the law, without workers having to resort to strikes or employers resorting to lockouts.

Should Use Light Weight Stationery for Air Mail

The volume of air mail is constantly increasing, while at the same time facilities for transportation of it have been curtailed in order to move essential war material and personnel. Therefore, in order that space available for air mail may be utilized for the fullest advantage of the greatest number of persons, it is necessary that all cooperate by reducing the weight of air-mail letters and packages as much as possible, Postmaster Andrew Anderson stated today.

"THIS HITS THE SPOT!"
. . . . (THAT'S MORALE)
Achieving small successes are always occasions for celebrating in every American home. An evening-long but triumphant tussle with the family budget calls for a midnight snack and a glass of beer. A promotion calls for dinner out and "the best steak you've got".
"Morale" is a solemn word for the warm feeling of pleasure and satisfaction that comes to men and women on these occasions. It is a state of mind, a blend of contentment and friendship, ambition and achievement, hope and confidence.
Today more people are rediscovering the joys of their own homes and firesides as the result of gas rationing. They are also rediscovering the wholesome, hospitable custom of serving mildly stimulating, delightfully refreshing beer in their homes to promote needed relaxation, good neighborliness and true sobriety. America, faced with the hardest job in her history, can count on beer to help sustain and encourage the faith of her people.

INSIGNIA FOR FARMERS GETS MEETING'S O. K.

Plans Made Last Saturday to Honor Agriculture for War Effort

MINNESOTA MANPOWER AGENCY TAKES LEAD

Awards to be Made on Basis of 1942 Production of Food Items

Agricultural leaders gave enthusiastic approval of the idea of recognizing the part Minnesota farmers are playing in the war effort, at a conference held at the Capitol Saturday in the Governor's reception room. As a result, Governor Stassen is to take immediate steps to select a suitable banner to identify outstanding farms and a lapel insignia to be worn by all members of such producing units.

Details of the administration will be a part of the job of the Minnesota Emergency Manpower Agency, and the conference recommended that the township be adopted as the unit on which the program is to be based. Currently, awards will be made on production in 1942 as compared with 1941. The plan will be continued through 1943 and probably for as long as food production is vital to victory and to the nation's peace program.

As tentatively planned, the award will be made by the state on the basis of determinations by local groups, in which the extension service, the township boards, and AAA committees will play a part. Details were left to the governor and his advisors and will be announced soon.

During a discussion of the farm manpower problem it was emphasized that Minnesota leaders should work for a revision of procedures so that essential farm workers could be inducted into the military establishment and then, as reserves, assigned to essential farm work.

In keynoting the conference, Governor Stassen explained that behind his thinking with respect to a suitable insignia is the need for a greater consciousness, state and national, of the very real problems, especially in the matter of manpower, that confront farmers in their patriotic efforts to produce the vital foods that America and our allies must have.

WILLARD KOTTKE, PROWLER COACH, ENTERS U. S. ARMY

Inducted with Group from Rushford at Snelling Last Wednesday

The U. S. Army gained its second Prowler athletic coach last Wednesday when Coach Willard Kottke, reporting with the Rush City contingent, was inducted into the army at Fort Snelling. Kottke, who succeeded Harry Newby here this year, and Newby in turn had succeeded Captain John Lindenmeyer who was called into service in 1941, has had marked success with the Prowlers in the short while that he has been coach, leading the blue-and-gold to a district football title.

The Prowlers marked up four wins in district play, defeating Crookston, 20 to 0; Red Lake Falls 14 to 0; East Grand Forks, 27 to 6; and Warren 46 to 0. The two losses on the record were administered by Bemidji, 6 to 0, and Moorhead, 13 to 0.

The basketball game scheduled with Fosston for Friday night was advanced to Wednesday night so that Coach Kottke would have an opportunity to handle the Prowlers in their opening game. The coach will report at Fort Snelling on Friday.

Kottke's induction into the army increases to four the number of high school athletic department members that are in the service. In addition to Lindenmeyer and Kottke, Chet Nelson and Delver Daly, physical education instructors, are in the service.

STATE DRAFT HEAD GIVES DETAILS OF FARM DEFERMENT

Standards Are Set up to Facilitate Process, Says Nelson

The establishment of criteria to be used in considering deferment for dairy, livestock or poultry farm workers or operators was announced today by Colonel J. F. Nelson, state directors of selective service.

The standards have been set up to facilitate the process whereby selective service local boards grant occupational deferment to such workers or operators. In view of the labor shortage in these fields, workers and operators who meet the requirements will be given either a Class II-A or Class III-B classification by their local boards.

Skilled workers or operators who are determined to be surplus in the operation of one farm unit will be referred to the United States Employment Service and the department of agriculture county war board in an attempt to place them on another essential farm on which there is a shortage.

It was announced that the department of agriculture has determined that for every worker deferred there must be at least 8 animal units on the farm. Colonel Nelson stressed the fact that the basic standard of 8 animal units per worker would be raised to 10 units on February 12, 1943, and to 12 units on May 12, 1943. In this way, it was pointed out, the labor requirements for each worker would be greater, resulting in increased production.

An animal unit is defined as one milk cow plus production of its feed. Therefore, a farm having 8 milk cows would require only one worker to take care of that number.

Tables were also provided indicating the milk cow equivalents in livestock and poultry; for instance, it takes 2 beef cows to equal one animal unit. These tables will be in effect only until February 12, 1943, at which time they will be revised according to the above-mentioned increase, and another increase will be effective May 12, 1943.

WHO MAY BUY IT: Persons over 15 years of age, whose age is proved by War Ration Book No. 1—the "sugar book."

HOW CAN IT BE BOUGHT: With ration stamps out of Book No. 1. Stamps numbered from the top down to 20 are to be coffee stamps.

NEXT RATION PERIOD: To be announced later by OPA.

IF YOU HAVE NO WAR RATION BOOK NO. 1: Apply at your local war ration board if you haven't applied before. If you didn't get a book last spring because you had too much sugar on hand, go to your board before December 15 and ask for a book. Your board will give you a Book No. 1, with stamps torn out to cover the sugar you have on hand now.

Test Blackout in City Ordered for Wednesday, G. Schilbred Announces

If Thief River Falls citizens respond as expected, the city will be in complete darkness next Wednesday night, December 2, from 10 o'clock to 10:30, a test blackout having been requested for that time by Lieutenant Colonel T. A. Oberlander of the Minnesota state guard, it was announced today by Major G. Schilbred, chairman of the Pennington county civilian defense council. The test will be in preparation for a blackout of the entire state of Minnesota and eight other states scheduled for Monday night, December 14, starting at 10 o'clock. Major Schilbred requested the full cooperation of local citizens in making the blackouts a success.

MUST HAVE RATION BOOK NO. 1 TO GET RATION BOOK NO. 2

State Office of Price Administration Clarifies Situation

Persons who don't have their War Ration Book No. 1 are being warned by the OPA that they'll be out of luck when Ration Book No. 2 is issued in a few more weeks. You just won't get a No. 2 book if you don't have No. 1, said T. G. Discoll, Minnesota OPA director, in a warning that applications for the No. 1 books will be received at ration boards up to December 15.

Many persons who had more than enough sugar under the rationing plan in their homes when the No. 1 books were issued last spring were unable to get these books, which then were intended only for sugar. If they made application then, they should go to their ration boards now and ask for the No. 1 book, Mr. Discoll said. Persons who moved away from the ward or district in which they lived when the first application was made should go to their new board and ask it to obtain the application from the old board, so No. 1 book can be issued on the basis of this application.

Persons who haven't applied for any book yet will go to their board and fill out the necessary forms. Mr. Discoll said that No. 2 books will be issued only to holders of No. 1 books.

So that persons with sugar on hand won't be able to use coupons for an oversupply, the boards will tear out whatever coupons are necessary to cover each individual situation. UNREGISTERED GET 2D CHANCE FOR GAS RATION

May Obtain Basic "A" Books on Friday, Saturday or Monday

GAS RATION OFFICE AT C. GUSTAFSON & SON

Office Now Also Receiving Applications for Supplemental Ration

A Pennington county office for the registration of motorists for basic "A" ration books, as well as for supplemental gas rations, has been opened in the lobby of C. Gustafson & Son on Main av. at Fourth st., it was announced today by A. J. Rau, chairman of the gasoline rationing panel, which also includes C. D. Gustafson and Alfred Longren.

The office will be in charge of Mrs. Vern Keifenheim, volunteer worker, assisted by a group of other women volunteers.

Mr. Rau stated that the office will be open each day between the hours of 9 and 4 o'clock. All county residents, he said, who did not register for "A" books in the schools November 12 and 13, and who require them, should register on Friday, Saturday or Monday, November 27, 28 or 30.

Those applying for supplemental gas rations are asked to have the necessary form filled out correctly when they appear at the office. Mr. Rau explained that persons using gasoline for any purpose whatever should obtain the proper forms at the main office of the ration board in the Northern State bank building, and after filling them out should return them by mail to the gas rationing office. When the applications are approved, the individuals will be notified to call for their ration cards in person.

Mr. Rau said enough gas will be available for all driving essential to the war effort. Food production being important, he added, farmers will be assured of an adequate supply of gas. Only 90 miles of non-essential driving will be allowed each month for those applying for supplemental allowances.

T. G. Driscoll, Minnesota OPA director, explained today that the "B"—"C" application form contains a number of questions that only the applicant himself can answer. They deal strictly with his personal driving requirements and no OPA rationing employee can give him much help.

These forms are really a certification of the individual's driving —the use to which he puts his car, the distance he drives in a month, the number of persons who ride with him, the mileage from his home to his job, the other transportation facilities available to him and why they can't serve him adequately.

The applicant will also set down his occupation, the name and address of his employer, whether he puts gasoline into the car from his own tank, and other questions, answers to which are needed by the rationing boards for the proper handling of supplementary gasoline coupon books.

This form, Mr. Driscoll said, is for use by individual drivers — those who registered November 12 and 13 for "A" automobile gasoline books or "D" motorcycle gas books. "B" books are designed to provide additional gasoline to persons who need their cars in their work, business, study or other work that contributes to the war effort or to public welfare.

PENNINGTON CO. FARMERS TO BUY SEED FOR RUSSIA

County Committee Is Named to Seek Contributions from Farmers

Pennington county farmers, working through a local committee, are contributing funds to buy seeds for Russia. As a result of the invasion of Russia by the Nazis in June, 1941, much of the good land of Russia was lost to food production. While Russia's soldiers are making great sacrifices on the battlefield, her civilian population is doing its best to keep the armies fed and clothed. Seed for planting the 1943 crop is badly needed, and much of this seed must come from Minnesota and neighboring states, as our soil and climate is similar to that of Russia's most productive areas, says J. S. Jones, chairman of the Minnesota Russian Seed Relief committee.

The local committee will acquaint farmers with the need for sending seed to Russia, and will ask each farmer to give in cash the equivalent of a bushel or two of grain. Except for assembling and transportation problems, and the need for standardization, the contribution of seed would be as welcome as the gift of money, but after all angles were considered, the committee decided to ask farmers to convert their gift of seed into cash and to send the cash, through the county committee, to state headquarters.

Members of the local committee are Simon Brelland and W. M. Ferguson, Thief River Falls; and R. J. McKercher, St. Hilaire.

LOCAL SCHOOLS AND STORES TO CHANGE HOURS

Schools Will Open One Hour Later Effective Next Monday, Nov. 30

STORE HOURS WILL BE FROM 9 A. M. TO 6 P. M.

Supt. Morris Bye Points out Inconvenience of Present Schedule

To counteract the objections to daylight-saving war time, the local board of education at a special meeting Saturday afternoon voted to fix school hours one hour later than at present, starting Monday, November 30, and continuing until April 1, 1943.

At a meeting Friday afternoon of Supt. Morris Bye and L. W. Rullien, secretary of the board, with proprietors of local stores, the merchants agreed to cooperate by changing store hours from 8:30 to 5:30, as at present, to the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 at night, also starting next Monday. Stores will be open Saturday evenings until 9 o'clock, as is now the case.

Following is the new schedule of school hours: Junior-senior high school, 9:45 to 12:45 and 2 to 5. Kindergarten, 10 to 12:15 and 2 to 4:15. Grade One, 10 to 12:30 and 2 to 4:30. Grade Two, 10 to 12:45 and 2 to 4:45. Grades Three to Six: 10 to 12:45 and 2 to 5.

Commenting on the change in hours, Supt. Bye said, "The so-called "daylight saving" or war time is not proving to be of any advantage so far as schools are concerned. On the contrary, it creates some additional problems which are in themselves serious. Many rural children, for instance, have to get on our school buses as early as 7 o'clock in the morning. With war time in effect this is actually 6 o'clock according to the sun and is really an outrageous hour to require these youngsters to start for school. War time also means considerable increase in our light bill, because for a good share of the year it makes it necessary for us to use artificial lights an additional hour. We estimate that the increase in our annual light bill caused by our being on war time schedule is about $750 which represents a half mill tax rate."

LET US GIVE THANKS

Again in millions of American homes, we will offer up thanks for all that America has given us.

Thanksgiving is our symbol of plenty . . . of the bountiful harvest of field and farm. Such old American customs, and all they stand for, are what we are fighting to preserve. It will surely demand sacrifices.

We must sacrifice little luxuries, so we can buy War Bonds with our savings. We must shop with care and forethought, so our earnings will go as far as possible.

We must strive to keep courage and confidence . . so we may have reason to give thanks every day of every year to come.

Several months ago we worried about the submarine menace in the Atlantic. Each day brought reports of ship losses. Then gradually such reports became less frequent. There were no official statements however that would indicate why fewer losses were being reported and we suspected that information was being withheld. Now we can quit worrying. The results of the Atlantic submarine war are stated clearly, although indirectly, in the new marine insurance rates. In August the insurance rate on a cargo shipped from New York to Buenos Aires was 25%. The present rate is 12½%, still high compared to peacetime normal but comparatively low with the wartime high. These rates tell us quite effectively that the submarine no longer is a serious menace in the Atlantic. Chalk it up as another battle we have won.

Up to the present time "Food will win the war and write the peace" has been just another slogan. Now we are approaching the time when food will actually become an important political as well as military weapon. The invasion of North Africa puts us closer to the problem of feeding starving Europe and because the shorter distances to African bases will simplify our shipping problems we will now be able to increase substantially our deliveries of food and supplies to points from where it will be more accessible later on. The results will be felt both in the markets and in pantries. Surpluses will disappear and increased government buying will make necessary the rationing of products that now are plentiful. We are just getting nicely started in the use of ration cards.

It will be less unpleasant for you to pay your income tax if you think more about the fellows fighting in the Solomons for less than two bucks a day and less about the carpenters who are drawing on your bank account to the tune of five hundred a month.

There will be few complaints about the new school and store hours. The later opening and closing schedules merely offset the change forced upon us when the nation set its clocks back one hour as a daylight saving measure, and, in reality, bring us back to normal living by the sun. After a year of the so-called daylight saving time we are beginning to think the whole idea is crazy. Whatever benefits may result from starting work an hour earlier could be accomplished just as easily by asking a few industries to adjust their working schedules as by setting the clocks back for the entire nation.

Young fellows now subject to the draft should give consideration to the advantages of enlisting. Those who volunteer are given better opportunities of choosing special services. At the present time the navy is making a drive for aviators and to young men of high school education they make an attractive offer. Better pay and splendid schooling in an activity that is destined to develop commercially after the war are worth while incentives. These and other special offers should be investigated by the young men who will be called upon to enter military service during the next few months.

After a couple of years of two Thanksgivings it is nice to have the entire nation celebrate the annual holiday on the same date.

Twenty-four more shopping days and then comes Christmas. This year, more than ever before, the advantage is going to be with the early shopper. Getting merchandise, not selling it, is the problem of merchants these days. The number of items on store shelves that cannot be replaced is steadily growing. That's why late shoppers may have more difficulties than usual this season.

Ten thousand ton ships built in less than five days—that sounds like a fairy tale. But the story is true enough to make Americans proud and Axis leaders jittery. It is a fact that these great ships have been assembled in such a short space of time—sections as big as ten room houses swung into position and welded together in a few hours. Assembly line methods have reduced construction time 70% in the last eight months. At this rate, with our losses decreasing, we soon will have plenty of ships. And when it is no longer necessary to build ships we will be glad Thief River Falls is not a shipbuilding town.

How to Secure Obedience

"How can I succeed in getting my child to want to obey me?"

This question, asked by the mother of a six year old child, shows a real understanding of the need of getting at the roots of behavior. This child's mother knows that it is not enough to make a child obey, to force him into acceptable behavior. She sees that if discipline is to be really effective as an aid in encouraging a more and more responsible attitude in the child, it must be carefully thought out, must take account of his feelings about what is expected of him.

How can we get cooperation, and avoid arousing resentment? Enforced compliance may do very well at the time, but it is not character building. Our attitude in making requests of our children is very important, as has been shown in a very interesting study in which various ways of getting children to do things were tried. The form in which we make a request influences how children respond.

Two groups of children between the ages of three and twelve were given certain tasks to do, each group being given different directions. Thus, in one instance, one group was told, when making something of paper, "Cut it in the corner to save paper." With the other group the negative approach was used: "Don't waste the paper." Does it surprise you to find that the first group cooperated much better than the second? In another part of the experiment, one group was told, when they were engaged in a difficult task, "You can do it!" in an encouraging tone of voice. The others were asked "Is it too hard for you?" Ninety-five per cent of the first group succeeded in their task, while only five per cent of the second carried it to completion!

"It is time to dress the doll now" brought better responses than "Do you want to dress the doll?" (How often we make the mistake of saying, "Do you want to take your bath now," or "Do you want to go to the store for mother?" when merely announcing that it is "time" for one of these necessary things would bring more cooperation.)

The general conclusions of the study were as follows, and they can be applied to many, many home situations: "Positive, unhurried, specific and encouraging types of direction are superior to negative, hurried, general and discouraging types of direction." How about memorizing that finding, and putting it to use in everyday life?

Topics of the Times
By M. A. H.

The Gallup poll is getting a lot of razzing for failing to forsee the Republican upsurge in Congress.

The government is buying a lot of rotary snowplows from county highway departments in Minnesota. Better pray for an open winter.

A falling off is to be anticipated in the number of coffee parties this winter.

From here on to the end of gasoline and tire rationing, the owner of a good pair of legs will appreciate his luck.

With the successful big game hunters back from the wars, a lot of local families are on a venison diet.

We agree with Wes Meyers of the Detroit Lakes Tribune that we have had our fill of that cheerful little washday song over WDAY.

Cheerful thought—The soldier boys in the army camps are getting their fill of Thanksgiving turkey and all the trimmings.

In view of traffic congestion, there won't be any advertising by the railroads this season appealing to holiday travelers.

If Santa Claus intends to cover the world this Christmas, he had better wear a bullet-proof vest.

The most appropriate Christmas gift this year will consist of war bonds and stamps.

Personally, we don't expect to suffer much from the rationing programs until they limit our supply of pipe tobacco to one can a month.

It won't work out so good if folks cash in their war bonds when the time comes to pay their 1943 income taxes.

University to Expand War Work for Women

Every school term that the war lasts will see more and more women entering training for specialized work and more and more courses of study developed on university and college campuses to train women, University of Minnesota officials have declared. Women will not only be trained for direct war efforts, such as nursing, factory inspection, and airplane construction. They also will receive training that will enable them to do non-war jobs left by men who are at war or in war production. Business establishments, for example, are seeking an increasing number of women with specialized skills, accounting being a current example. Never before has there been so fine an opportunity for women to find accounting positions according to Dean Russell A. Stevenson of the School of Business Administration.

Been Saving up Coffee? Rationing Will Hit You

If you're one of the Northwest consumers who thought he'd stock up on coffee to avoid the discomforts of rationing, listen: You might just as well ration it out for yourself on the basis of one pound for every five weeks. Coffee rationing is going to be handled just like sugar. When you apply for your War Ration Book No. 2, you'll have to report how much coffee you had on hand Nov. 29. An equivalent number of stamps will be taken out of your book. You won't be able to buy any fresh coffee until what you have on hand is used up.

Both Constitutional Amendments Approved by Pennington Voters

The announcement of the state canvassing board last week that both constitutional amendments had passed by the required majority of those voting at the Nov. 3 election throughout the state, crowned with success the intensive, state-wide campaign of education conducted by the state board of investment and the League of Minnesota Municipalities, the official sponsors of the two amendments. Amendment No. 1 relates to the interest rate on loans of state trust funds. Amendment No. 2 relates to publication requirements for home rule charter amendments.

Amendment No. 1 carried in 51 counties and Amendment No. 2 carried in 75 out of the 87 counties of the state. Using the votes on Amendment No. 2, the ratio of "Yes" votes to ballots cast was lowest in Red Lake County, with 43 percent, and highest in Freeborn county, with 79 percent. In Pennington county the ratio was 48 percent on Amendment No. 1 and 65 percent on Amendment No. 2.

Farmers Getting AAA Checks are Urged to Purchase War Bonds

More than 6,000,000 farmers, recipients of Agricultural Adjustment Agency checks, are receiving a leaflet from the Treasury Department urging them to convert a part or all of the payment into war savings bonds. Mailing of the leaflets began late in October and is to continue until late winter.

The leaflets, in addition to pointing out the benefits to purchasers of War Bonds, contains an order form on its back to facilitate the conversion of AAA checks into war bonds. It especially emphasizes that farmers will get $4 for every $3 invested if they hold their bonds until they mature.

"Lay 'Em On the Fighting Line" is the title of the folder, which outlines a three-fold financial plan for farmers. It recommends that farmers "Produce all you can on your farm," "Get your debts in shape," and "Invest to the full limit of your ability in war savings bonds both to help your country and safeguard your own future."

In 1941, 77 per cent of all auto trips were for "necessary purposes", but "unnecessary" driving accounted for more than 65 billion road miles of travel and consumed more than four billion gallons of gasoline.

Cafe Coffee Rations to be Reduced 15 Per Cent

Rationing is expected to curtail consumption of coffee in restaurants, hotels and institutions by about 15 percent, Office of Price Administration officials estimate in an explanation of rationing rules to such establishments. This cut applies to comparisons with recent consumption, which has been affected by already heavy curtailment of coffee. Some of the curtailment will be due to the length of the first rationing period, which is 71 days, compared with 61 days in September and October.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Now that the official state canvassing board report shows that the people elected me to Congress from the 9th congressional district by a majority of 601 votes, I want to take this means of spreading the following message to the citizens of N. W. Minnesota.

As your new congressman I always will make every effort to serve all of the people of the 9th district and of the state and nation, irrespective of party politics. In other words, my office staff and myself are ready, willing, and anxious to serve the official demands and wishes of the people of the 9th district.

I seek the guidance and counsel of all citizens, the business people, the workers, and the farmers and especially the latter because we realize that farming is the main business and the main industry of our district. Therefore I ask the readers of your excellent newspaper to take time to write me and express their views on the important problems and issues confronting the people, our district, our nation, and the world today.

I appreciate the very honest serious opposition to me in the recent campaign. It was on a very high plane and no ill feeling developed and no false reports were spread against me. For this I feel very gratified. I always refrained from mentioning my opponent in any way whatever and even those opposed to me complimented me and my supporters on the friendly and clean campaign we conducted.

My sincere and humble appreciation is given to the thousands of loyal citizens in the 9th district. I am especially appreciative of the unselfish efforts extended in my behalf by so many friends and supporters, Farmer-Laborites, Democrats, and Republicans alike.

Now of course we all must see this war through to its victorious close and then begin the work of developing a happy, prosperous Christian community and nation.

I am happy of the opportunity to serve the 9th district in congress and Washington, D. C., and to join the citizens of our district in building a greater and finer place to live.

With all good wishes, I am
Very cordially yours,
HAROLD C. HAGEN,
Congressman-Elect
Crookston, Minn.

"We appreciate the interest shown in our unit by the people of this community and hope that when our ranks are again open to direct enlistment, that we will receive as ready a response as we would apparently have had at this time."

For further information relative to service with the battalion write to the adjutant, 1st Separate Battalion, Infantry Minnesota State Guard, 2606 W. Michigan street, Duluth.

WOMEN AT WAR

Janey

Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last! She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see whether she really did look like Hedy LaMarr. Quite a lot, she decided.

And now to business. She drew forth from the bottom of her top bureau drawer the sheet of pink writing-paper and the envelope that she had been saving for this day. She sat down at the table by the window and dipped the pen into the bottle of green ink that her sister Rose was such a pig about. She wrote, with beautiful arabesques, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," and held her head back to admire this effort of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond. $18.75. I started last Christmas when I got $3.00. Not counting 50 cents, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week at a local grocery store, and I'm quite proud to say I worked hard to get it."

Janey stared out of the window at Peterson's house and beyond at the big yard where the kids were playing football. She held her pen elegantly in air.

"Sitting here looking out the window, I see a peaceful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a conspicuous "Miss" in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on staring out of the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air.

Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outside—"Jan-ey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy LaMarr nor a deep philosopher any more, but exactly twelve years old.

In Memoriam

To our son and brother Ed. Evenson who passed away on November 27, 1939.

You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by, we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by Mrs. Slyne Evenson and family. 48p

In Memory of Mrs. Anne Johnson

When the evening shades are falling
And we are sitting all alone
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she could only come home.

Oft and oft our hearts do wander
To a grave not far away,
Where we laid our beloved mother
Just two years ago.

Sad and silent was the call,
One so dearly loved by us all
God took her home,
It was His will,
But in our hearts she lingers still.

Sadly missed by Mrs. John Gustafson. 48p

1942 Christmas Seal Sale Opened in Thief River Falls on Monday

With the nation facing a threatened wartime rise in tuberculosis, the 1942 Christmas seal sale got off to an early start and will be carried on intensively, according to Miss Margaret Hessburg, local chairman. Monday, November 23, was the opening date.

This is the 36th annual seal sale and the local campaign will be, held in conjunction with the nationwide fight against tuberculosis. Funds raised make possible the local health program for the prevention of tuberculosis, and aid in the statewide and national fight to eradicate tuberculosis.

Ninety-five per cent of the income from the seal sale remains in the state in which it is raised, and only five per cent goes to support the medical research and other work of the National Tuberculosis association.

"Prepare for Winter" Is Timely Warning of Highway Commissioner

Many sections of Minnesota have already had a taste of winter weather, and State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann today called upon all motorists to prepare their cars — and themselves for the uncertainties which late fall and winter motoring always bring.

Basing his warning on the fact that many motorists will be driving their cars less this winter because of the forthcoming gasoline rationing, Mr. Hoffmann pointed out that people may become careless in properly preparing their cars for winter driving. People should not forget that even though they will probably confine their driving to short trips this winter, that now is the time to equip their cars with one or more warm blankets and extra clothing to be used by passengers in case of encountering a sudden storm such as that which struck the state in November of 1940.

Automobiles, too, he said, should now be equipped with adequate frost shields, and all drivers should make it a point to carry a snow shovel. Heaters should be checked to determine if they are in good working condition. Radiators should be filled with a good anti-freeze solution. Batteries should be tested often, because with less driving your battery will run down quicker, and be sure to check your exhaust pipe connections so that there will be no chance of your being killed by monoxide gas.

Announce Cancellation of G. F. Turkey Show

Cancellation for the duration of the All-American turkey show, held annually in Grand Forks in January, was announced Monday. The show will be resumed after the war. Gasoline and tire rationing was given as the principal reason for the cancellation.

America wastes some 2,000,000,000 pounds of fats and greases annually or enough to make 20,000 light tanks, 56,000 37-mm anti-aircraft guns, 15,000 4-ton trucks or the hulls of about 21 heavy cruisers.

Keeping Score

With HUCK OLSON

What's The Excuse This Time, Oscar?

Oscar Cerny, bowling with the Bratrud Clinic team against the Poppler's Furniture team in a Commercial league match last week, certainly wasn't much of a help to his team. Oscar marked up a score of 93. In piling up that "epic" total, he chalked up six blows, three splits, and one strike. That one strike is questionable too because there is some evidence that one of his pin boys kicked over a couple of pins. Oscar will have to have a better alibi than the one he has been putting out to explain that score. He says hat he's been worrying too much about one-cent tax increase on cigarettes, and that he has become so nervous over counting pennies that it's effected his bowling. That excuse rates about as high as his 93 score.

Some Hot Bowling

Except for Cerny's exhibition, the bowlers really were in the groove last week. Young Cal Ripley, a recruit to league bowling this year, rolled a 244 game for the Oen's team in the Business league. Rip had eight strikes, two spares, and a blow in the game. And that score, incidentally, set a season's high single game for the league. For all the leagues, in fact.

And the Hartz Bakery team, Commercial league leaders, set a team mark when they rolled a 912 net score against the Math Barzen team. Vern Williams had a 158 score, Alex Smith rolled a 157, George Comstock tallied a 163, Wally Carlson rolled a big 224, and Ed Carlson anchored the team with a 210. That's the first net 900 score that's been chalked up this year.

The First One

Tonight, Wednesday, the Prowlers will open their basketball campaign, meeting the ever-dangerous Fosston Greyhouds in the high school gymnasium. The game, originally scheduled for Friday night has been advanced to tonight so that coach Bill Kottke can handle the boys in one game before he reports for service in the army. Kottke has drilled the Prowlers intensively during the past three weeks, and if the squad reveals the form that they have exhibited in the recent drills, the fans will be pleased with the team.

The starting five will probably find Bob Powell and Billy McKechnie at the forwards, Bill Bye and Milt Reierson at the guards, and captain Jack Melby at center. That's the fastest group that Kottke has, but except for Jack and Bob, that five will lack height and bulk. Certain to see action in the game will be Homer Matheson, Don Berg, Pete Michalsky, Bob Wright, Norm Furuseth, and Mark Leverson, and in that group Kottke has good size and fair speed. Bob Abbott, reserve center, turned his ankle in practice last week and it's doubtful if he will be in condition to play.

Last year the Prowlers defeated the Greyhounds, 33 to 24, and as Fosston lost four regulars by graduation, the Prowlers should repeat their last season's win. Homer Matheson claims that the locals will score a 31 to 18 win. Well, if they can hold Fosston's Russ "Blackie" Haugen in check, the Prowlers will perhaps win.

Lessening the Meat Shortage

According to all the venison-gathering reports the meat shortage should have gotten quite a lift during the past eleven days. Among some of the hunters that came in with deer were John Lind, Vern Thompson, Helmer Baumann and Kern Olson, and this party hunted along the south branch of the Rapid River; Hub Baum hunted around Faunce, south of Williams, and had good luck; Herb Jung, Carl Kretschmar, Lincoln Arnold, Carl Wennberg, and Geo. Erickson "filled" and they were on the north branch of the Rapid River; Carl Hovie, Loren Jung, Leonard and Milo Hanson, hunting between Baudette and Waskish, came in with four deer; Ed Nelson, Glen Sevre, Ten Jensen, Bill, Rudy and Adolph Bugge secured their deer after driving the thickets along the ridges west of town; Joe Laltoe and Lyle Green shot a couple of deer east of town, and you should hear Joe brag about that twelve-point buck of his. And it's a pleasure to report that none of the local hunters were involved in any serious accidents.

ACUTE SHORTAGE OF TIN STRESSED IN SALVAGE DRIVE

Housewives Must Show More Interest in Saving Tin Cans, Says Chief

The acute shortage of tin for the war effort is becoming more critical each day. The return of the lowly tin can from the home is our largest domestic source of tin. Each tin can returned to the grocer for collection yields 1 percent tin and 99 percent useable steel.

L. E. Vorpahl, regional chief of the War Production Board's general salvage section, warn again "If the housewife does not show more interest in complying with the request to return all tin cans to the grocer for collection, a drastic measure is forthcoming."

Each regional shipping point contemplates several freight cars will be moving toward detinning plants before the 1st of December. "Duluth housewives have set an example for others in the state to follow," said Vorpahl. "The homemaker's co-operation in Duluth is most commendable."

For the housewife who pleads she does not know what to do with her tin cans, here is the story briefly Clean and remove paper, tops and bottoms from all tin cans other than paint, oil, varnish and motor oil cans. Take the flattened, prepared tin cans to your grocer for collection by trucks of the beverage industry.

PERFECT VOTE GUESS WINS $25 WAR BOND

International Falls.—When Mrs. Alton H. Hilden entered her guess as to the number of ballots that would be cast in Koochiching county in the general election she did not miss, not even one. The figure she entered was 5,883 and that was exactly what the county vote stood as announced by the county canvassing board. Accurate election judgment apparently runs in the family as the winner's husband was only nine away from the correct number guessing 5,892.

Match Marks

This man is not dead. He is just sleeping. And sleeping a little more soundly, perhaps, because there are still many Americans who are not putting at least 10% of their pay into War Bonds on a regular Payroll Savings Plan. How about you joining a lot of other fellows in giving the little paperhanger a rude awakening? How about you signing up with a Payroll Savings Plan today . . . to the tune of not 6%, or 7% or 8%, but 10% and more if you can? LET'S TOP THAT 10% BY NEW YEAR'S.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

If you are . . .

1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

MOST CHRISTMAS MAIL MUST BE IN P. O. DECEMBER 1

Postoffice Department Issues Urgent Appeal to Public

The bulk of Christmas mail must be in the postoffices by December 1 this year if deliveries on time are to be assured, according to Smith W. Purdum, second assistant postmaster general. Mr. Purdum is responsible to Postmaster General Frank C. Walker for smooth and efficient air and railway mail service.

Unprecedented wartime demands on the postal and transportation systems, plus a prospective record volume of Christmas mailings, were cited by Mr. Purdum as necessitating earlier mailings than ever before. "It is physically impossible for the railroads and air lines, burdened with vitally important war materials, to handle Christmas mailings as rapidly as in normal times," Mr. Purdum said. "If the bulk of parcels and greeting cards are held back until the usual time — the period of about December 15 to 23—they simply cannot be distributed in time, and thousands of gifts will reach their destinations after Christmas."

In 1941, about 21,950 mail cars were required between December 12 and 24 to deliver Christmas mails—enough cars to make a train 270 miles long. This year, the extra cars needed to move holiday mails are largely being used by the armed services, and a severe shortage is in prospect.

The postal service usually borrows about 2,500 trucks from the Army and other government agencies, and rents about 10,000 from private owners, to handle the Christmas mails. This year, it will be extremely difficult to obtain enough of these vehicles to meet even a substantial part of the need. The Army needs its own trucks and private owners are reluctant to let someone else use their tires.

Railroads are cooperating by converting some hundreds of steel box cars and similar equipment for mail transportation, and Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, has ordered that unnecessary travel be curtailed to the limit during the holiday season. But these measures cannot assure deliveries of gifts on time unless the public cooperates by mailing early and thus spreading the transportation load over a longer period than usual.

Roast Beef

Roast beef is not a typical American dinner. English folk were developing brawn from the roasted dining halls long before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

U. S. Boston Bombers Raid Le Havre

United States air force Boston bombers, also known as the Douglas A-20 C's, attacked Le Havre docks in a daylight raid. This photo, which is one of the clearest of its kind that has been made during this war, shows one of the Bostons over the target area as the first stick of bombs of the attack breaks on and near the western end of the quay in the Bassin De Maree, where there are E and R boat pens. During this attack, bombers were escorted by U.S.A.A.F. fighter planes.

Many Oldsters are Now Returning to Work to Assist in War Effort

As wartime want-ads beg for older workers, the new science of geriatrics sets out to stretch the prime of life into the 60- and 70-year-old age brackets, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Of approximately 18 million American men 45 years old or over, 14 million are now actually at work, many drawn out of retirement by the call for more manpower. But of the remaining four million, three men out of four are unfit to work, because of ill health or other disability, and many of the 14 million at work can give only limited service.

Millions more Americans now live to age 65 and beyond, than in former years, but their health after 50 has been improved little, if any, says the study. Average life span is longer because of brilliant achievements in combatting the diseases of infancy and youth. But there has been a corresponding steady increase in the number of helpless, disabled oldsters in the United States.

The work of geriatrics is to protect the normal, healthy aging process. There is no reason why the average man or woman cannot be vigorous, happy and successful at 65, 70, or even 80—normal aging need not be deterioration, says the study.

U. S. Coffee Ration Is Liberal in Contrast to Other Nations of World

The northwest coffee-lover may think the rationing deal he gets beginning Sunday is pretty rugged but it's an easy deal compared with what is passing for coffee in other countries.

The rationing plan of one pound per adult for each five weeks works out to about 3.2 ounces per adult per week. The northwest coffee drinker is getting finest product of Latin America in those 3.2 ounces.

Almost no coffee is to be had in Germany. Scanty stocks on hand command fancy prices on the black market. German people are drinking "ersatz" a substitute that is limited, too.

In Belgium, neither coffee, tea nor cocoa are to be had at any price in the legitimate market, but the coffee drinker may get himself a couple of cups of chicory a month. Danes may get up to seven cups of coffee a month, while in France, there were about three cups of coffee a month to those who know where to find it, or seven to eight cups of an unpalatable coffee mixture. In Unoccupied France, the choice was between three cups of real coffee or ten cups of national coffee, a substitute material.

In the Netherlands, those who can afford it and can find it, might drink as many as 20 cups of coffee, tea, cocoa or substitutes a month. In neutral Sweden, the monthly quota has been six cups. Greece, Poland and Jugoslavia literally have no coffee, tea or cocoa.

HIKES 41 MILES TO DELIVER COUNTY BALLOTS

Baudette.— Forty-one miles on foot is what Adler Goulet of Angle Inlet in the Northwest Angle section, the most northerly polling place in continental United States, covered to deliver Lake of the Woods ballots to the county auditor, M. D. Weeks. First he walked eight miles to American Point, only to find that the last boat of the year had left two hours previously. Then he walked eight miles back, and then walked 25 miles to Sprague, Manitoba, where he took the Canadian National train for Baudette. The Angle Inlet was the last polling place in Minnesota to report.

Township Supervisors and County Boards Will be Consulted

Ole Flaat of Fisher, one of the state's prominent farmers, has been named director of the Minnesota agricultural award program. Mr. Flaat was appointed by Victor Christgau, the programs administrator, and assumed his duties Monday. The award's director is vice-president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and farms extensively in the Red River Valley. In addition to handling large dairy and beef herds, he is an extensive grower of potatoes and grain.

Governor Stassen's agricultural award program, approved by farm leaders and strongly supported by the press and radio of the state at a conference held on November 21, is being administered by Mr. Christgau, director of the employment security division, who acts as the governor's representative. R. A. Trovatten, commissioner of agriculture, is chairman of a board of farm leaders to advise as to rules and policies.

First step in executing the program was the governor's direction this week that the state purchasing agent obtain bids for early delivery of a supply of service flags to be awarded individual farm operators and of lapel insignia to be worn by persons who worked on all "Service Flag" farms.

The farm service flag will be somewhat similar to that displayed in homes from which persons have gone into military service, except that the colors will be maroon and gold, with a maroon "A" on the center panel.

Every man and woman, boy and girl who contributed to the production accomplishments of an "honor" farm is to be awarded a small insignia, a gold shield with a maroon "A" imprinted on it.

State officials this week were perfecting machinery for making the awards. Every farmer in the state will be supplied with a "1942 production statement."

Township supervisors will be invited by the governor to serve as local boards of recommendation, to which farmers will send the production statements, after they have been filled out. Service flags will be awarded on recommendations of the township officials.

Each board of county commissioners, with the county auditor serving as clerk, and with the county agricultural agent acting as consultant, will be asked to serve as a board of review and to assist, at the county level, with the development of the program as circumstances may require.

STATE RAISES R. E. VALUATIONS FOR THE RURAL AREAS

Partly Nullifies Cut Made by Pennington Board Earlier in Fall

County Auditor A. M. Senstad was notified Monday by the state department of taxation that, in order to equalize the 1942 assessment of Pennington county with that of the surrounding counties, the state had ordered an increase of ten per cent in the true and full value of lands, structure and improvements in the townships of Pennington county.

The county board, sitting late this fall as a county board of review, had made a flat 25 per cent reduction in real estate assessments in the rural areas of the county, so that, even after the raise by the state department, valuations should be still considerably below those set up by the 1940 assessment.

For the benefit of any officials or taxpayers who wish to be heard on the proposed changes, the department of taxation announced, a hearing will be held in the state office building in St. Paul next Monday, December 7, at 10 A. M.

The department also ordered increases of 20 per cent on grade cattle under one year, 16 per cent on steers and feeder cattle, and 50 per cent on sheep under three months old.

COUNTY MAN IS DEATH VICTIM IN FARM BLAZE

Vernon G. Pope of Rocksbury Loses Life Saturday Afternoon

HAD BEEN LIFELONG RESIDENT OF COUNTY

Kerosene Can Explodes as Fire Is Being Started in Range

Local residents were shocked to learn of the tragic death by fire of Vernon G. Pope, 32, son of Mrs. Louisa Pope and making his home with her on their farm south of this city in Rocksbury township, who died late Saturday afternoon from the effects of burns suffered when a can of kerosene used by him to start a fire in the kitchen range exploded, covering him with flames.

The young man ran from the house and rolled over on the ground in a vain attempt to extinguish the flames which enveloped him. He then ran a short distance before he fell to the ground and succumbed. Shortly after, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anton and other neighbors arrived at the scene, too late to be of assistance to the unfortunate victim but in time to prevent the fire from causing much damage to the house.

Mr. Pope and his aged mother had just returned to the farm from a visit in this city when the fatal accident occurred. Mrs. Pope escaped injury from burns.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Community church, Rev. S. S. Olafsson officiating, and interment was in Greenwood cemetery. Pallbearers were Albert Koop, Chris Anton, Hans Anton, Jr., Carl Zinter, Elmer Geske and Emil Welo.

Surviving his death are his mother and three brothers, Clarence of Thief River Falls, Ray of Crookston and Samuel of St. Paul as well as two nephews and a niece. His father preceded him in death in 1928.

Vernon George Pope was born in Rocksbury township December 14, 1909, and after attending Lincoln high school and Northwest School, Crookston, continued to make his home on his parent's farm, taking over the reins of management following the death of his father. He was unmarried.

WPB Chairman Asks that Farmers Continue Scrap Campaign Thru December

In a message to the Times, Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board in Washington, D. C., says, "The government is asking the American farmer to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt. Steel mills need more heavy scrap, and the farms are one of the best sources of this type of metal. All salvage committees are being instructed to continue to make available to the farmer all their transportation facilities and manpower, and to cooperate in every way possible. The nation is looking to the American farmer, and I am sure he will come thru."

GOOD JOB DONE ON BLACKOUT, OFFICERS SAY

Visiting Observers Report Test Was Successful on the Whole

WORK REMAINS TO BE DONE BEFORE DEC. 14

"Incidents" Are Simulated in Course of Test Last Night

The test blackout in this city Wednesday night from 10 to 10:30, preparatory to the statewide blackout Monday night, December 14, was on the whole a success, altho considerable work remains to be done to insure 100 percent compliance.

This was the verdict of Lieutenants B. E. Lathrop and Harold Solberg of the auxiliary service corps of the Minnesota state guard who were stationed here as observers. The officers said that the local civilian defense organization, headed by Major Gust Schilbred, chairman, did a good job in planning and executing the blackout.

Heralded by warning blasts from the fire siren, all street lights and other illumination in the city were extinguished within the space of about two minutes. Air raid wardens, patrolling every block in the city, entered a number of places that did not cooperate at once and ordered compliance.

The officers reported that a half dozen lights were left burning for a considerable period after the alarm sounded, and recommended that the offenders be haled into court and issued warnings. At the time of the December 14 blackout, it was indicated, offenders will be fined in accordance with the provisions of the city blackout ordinance.

Several "incidents" were simulated in the course of the test Wednesday night, including damage from an incendiary bomb, represented by a red flare, which brought out the fire truck; an injured man, which resulted in the dispatch of an ambulance and first aid workers; and a blocked street, which City Engineer L. E. Quist was called on to attend to.

The control center for the blackout was well staffed and functioned efficiently. Boy Scouts were on hand to serve as messengers, and Victory Aides as drivers.

Final arrangements for the blackout were completed at a meeting Monday evening attended by nearly 200 air raid wardens and their deputies. Chairman Schilbred and Harry Severson, chief air raid warden, addressed the meeting. The Victory Aides also assisted by making house-to-house calls to explain the blackout regulations.

Age limits for this service are 18 to 27 and applicants must have high school education. During the training period which includes excellent schooling, the cadets are paid $75 a month and upon graduation receive reserve commissions. Naval Aviation Cadets to Enlist Here Dec. 17

Young men of Western Minnesota will have an opportunity to take the preliminary physical and mental tests for naval aviation cadets when a travelling examining board of naval line and medical officers visits four cities in December.

The board will be in Willmar on December 14, Fergus Falls on Dec. 15, Crookston, Dec. 16, and Thief River Falls on Dec. 17. The headquarters of the board will be at the Elks lodge in each city.

In each community a city-wide committee has been established to interest young men in training for commissions in naval aviation. Information on the opportunities offered by the Navy to its fliers now may be obtained at any of the Elks clubs. Plans also are being made at present to bring into the nearest city young men from other communities on the day that the board appears. Much interest is being shown by local young men, chairman Walter Jung reported this week.

If an applicant passes the preliminary examinations at Willmar, Fergus Falls, Crookston, or Thief River Falls, his transportation to the naval aviation cadet selection board in Minneapolis will be furnished. At the selection board, final physical and mental tests are given, and, if the applicant passes, he is enlisted as a naval aviation cadet, and soon starts the finest aeronautical training in the world.

The examinations given at the cadet selection board are thorough, but any average young American in good health should be able to pass them.

Naval aviation cadet training is open to high school graduates, 18 through 26, who are single, American citizens, and in good health. Emphasis in the physical examinations is placed on eyesight as a naval flier must have perfect 20-20 vision. The height requirements are between five foot four inches, and six foot four inches with weight in proportion to height.

Upon graduation, the cadet is commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve, or a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

His pay during training is $75 a month, and when commissioned, it is $245 a month or more.

Local headquarters for receiving applications have been opened in Borrys Garage on Main av., with J. O. Yotter in charge. He is prepared to supply detailed information to any young men interested.

QUICKIE MEALS

"Quickies"—the kind of meals that will be delicious and nutritious and that can be prepared quickly—are much in demand as more women on the home front go into industry—or take over more volunteer community defense activities. "Broiler meals" are the sort of quickies that will just fill the bill—

Broiler Meals With Sausages or Meat Patties

Broiled Sausages (link or patty) or Broiled Beef or Hamburger Patties; Broiled Apple Rings or Pineapple Slices or Halves of Bananas; Broiled Potatoes; Tossed Green Salad; Hot Buns; Busy-Day Cake with Broiled Icing; Coffee.

With Frankfurters

Broiled Frankfurters; Creamy Scalloped Potatoes; Broiled Pineapple Slices; Fresh Vegetable Salad; Hard-Crusted Rolls; Fresh Fruit or Fruit Sauce and Cookies; Coffee.

With Ham Slices

Broiled Slices of Tender New Ham; Broiled Sweet Potatoes; Broiled Fruit Garnishes (such as Pineapple Slices or Halves of Bananas); Simple Green Salad; Assorted Rolls; Quick Chocolate Pudding; Coffee.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR BROILING

Grease broiling rack lightly with bacon fat (or with piece of fat taken from meat). Preheat broiling oven until very hot . . . having oven regulator set at 500° F. Arrange food to be broiled on rack or in a lightly greased shallow pan. Place rack or pan about 2 or 3 inches below flame or heating unit. Broil with the broiler door open.

Broiled Beef or Hamburger Patties

Season ground meat well. Shape into patties. Place under broiler and broil on each side until meat is browned and cooked all the way through (about 8 to 10 minutes). A slice of onion may be placed on top of the patty after it has been browned on one side and turned over.

Broiled Frankfurters

Wrap a strip of bacon around each frankfurter, and broil until the bacon is crisp . . . turning frequently. Or, split each frankfurter lengthwise almost all the way through and stuff it with a strip of dill pickle and a little prepared mustard or with a strip of cheese and a little pickle relish. Fasten securely with wooden pick. Brush with bacon fat. Broil.

Broiled Potatoes

Cut cooked potatoes lengthwise in slices about ¼ inch thick. Dip in melted butter; then sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil until a golden brown on each side. Cooked sweet potatoes and cooked carrots may be broiled in the same way.

Broiled Tomatoes

Sprinkle halves or thick slices of unpeeled tomato with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Broil. If desired, fine, dry, buttered bread crumbs or cracker crumbs may be placed on each tomato slice before broiling.

This week brings us to the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor, the event that blasted us into active participation in the global war we are now winning. Pearl Harbor was followed by many discouraging months of military reversals during which we had good reason to be fearful of the ultimate end. The uninterrupted progress made by the Japs during those months was both remarkable and terrifying.

Then came brighter days. Several brilliant naval victories brought assurance that our fighters were capable of more than holding their own. In less than a year after Pearl Harbor we have dismissed the Jap menace as a threat to be dealt with after the more important business of knocking out Hitler has been disposed of.

We know we have a long, hard fight ahead of us in the Pacific but we are satisfied that Japan no longer has sufficient strength on the sea or in the air to do more than maintain the territory already conquered. We no longer fear an invasion of our own country, and so we can bide our time. And biding our time it is. Pearl Harbor is not forgotten.

Americans are watching the developments in Europe as a nasty preliminary that must be disposed of first. When that show is out and over we will have a very personal matter to settle in the Pacific.

Our personal thanks to the men and women who, in recent weeks, have waited on us at various rationing centers. They are performing a necessary service for Uncle Sam, without compensation and without glory. To our questions, which already had been asked them by hundreds of others, they replied with patience and courtesy. If some of the things they and the public are required to do seem goofy, the fault is not theirs. So a round of cheers and a vote of thanks to the volunteers who led us speedily through the jungles of complicated forms that barred our way to the gas and fuel oil pumps.

Under ordinary circumstances the Boston night club fire would have been a disaster of the greatest magnitude, a catastrophe comparable to the Chicago theater fire that still ranks high as a story of horror. In the news of today, however, it is merely another passing event, quickly crowded off the front pages by reports of battles in which the loss of thousands of lives is just a commonplace. Ships are sunk at sea and the story is told in a paragraph. Unless a fleet is sent to the bottom a naval fight is just another skirmish. Great cities are exterminated overnight by mass bombing raids, but receive scant mention. The war has effected our thinking. Our sense of values is distorted. We are not normal.

Three million dollars of federal money is going into the development of a new iron mine in Minnesota. A swamp must be pumped dry to make available another small deposit of high grade ore north of Duluth. The announcement is important chiefly because it indicates that the increasing scarcity of high grade ore is an actual fact, recognized by the federal government.

For all practical purposes, assuming it had practical purposes, last night's blackout was a success. For us, however, it was a bitter disappointment. We had looked forward to it and had planned our work just as painstakingly as any warden. Wednesday night is the day we grind out this column and with careful cunning we had contrived how we would permit nothing to interfere with our established schedule, not even the bursting of enemy bombs. In our basement there is a dark-room to which we would retire. At the first blast of the city's siren we would proceed to this dark-room with our writing machine and a ream of paper and go about our work in the usual manner.

It didn't work that way however. The siren sounded and without any noticeable nervousness we packed up the supplies we would need in our bomb shelter and were about ready to turn the lights off when the lights went off of their own accord. That left us a little bewildered, but not for long. Pulling ourselves together we set our supplies down on a nearby floor and proceeded to turn on another light. None of them would function and then it occurred to us what had happened. The landlord had pulled the switch for the entire building and we were blacked out completely, even the dark-room, with neither our consent nor our cooperation.

That left us with nothing to do but observe what was happening up and down the street, and so we peered out into the inky blackness of night with only the buildings of the city visible to the naked eye. A couple of fellows came by with greened lights. We asked them if they were wardens and they said they were. A cop approached and said they should hold their lights down, not up. From up LaBree Avenue came a car with headlights burning brightly and the cop ran out into the intersection to stop it but the car turned west on Third Street.

For the remainder of the blackout we retired to our chair to meditate and to wait for our operatives to bring in reports from various sectors of the city. Promptly, at the appointed hour, the lights came back on and we proceeded with our work. Inset is a picture of us faithfully doing our duty during the raid.

Topics of the Times

By M. A. H.

Judging by the crowds in town last week-end, a lot of folks were moving around in their last fling before gas rationing started.

There is a general impression that it must have been a Philadelphia lawyer who figured out the application forms for supplemental gas rations.

A small town is defined as a place where everyone knows whose check is going to be good.

From reports issued by the postoffice department, we gather that if you don't mail your Christmas parcels and greeting cards within a day or two, they will be delivered about Easter time.

Thanks to the initiative of Governor Stassen, a lot of Minnesota farmers shortly will get, as they deserve, the equivalent of the Army-Navy "E" award for their achievement in war production.

The swan song of the smaller communities, it seems, was sung prematurely. Gas rationing, which forces people to stay near home, may be expected to change the picture completely.

It seems safe to predict that colds will be more numerous this winter in homes where the temperature is held down to 65 degrees.

Speaking of the effects of the war, a University of Minnesota authority tells us the high grade iron ore on the Mesabi range will be exhausted in six or eight years if mining is continued at its present accelerated pace.

We trust you didn't forget to fill your gasoline tank November 30.

It's getting a bit late to do your Christmas shopping early.

Folks should be duly appreciative of the fact that the meal they enjoyed last Thursday is probably the last complete Thanksgiving dinner they will enjoy for the duration.

Figuring in the war news lately have been such places as Buin, Buna, Bone and Gona. If you can distinguish between them, you know your geography.

Looking Backward

1932—TEN YEARS AGO

Roy Oen, who starred in the center position on the University of Minnesota football team, was elected captain of the 1933 eleven.—Hans Anton was elected president of the Pennington county fair board, succeeding Emil Griebstein, who served in that capacity the past three years. — Alvin Christofferson was named manager of the local independent basketball team.—Dr. O. F. Mellby, president, was in charge of a meeting of the Northern Minnesota Lutheran Brotherhood in Detroit Lakes.—Mrs. Lee Beebe of St. Hilaire succeeded Mrs. Freeman Allen of Smiley as county chairman of the women's project.

1922—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Great Northern freight train was held up for a day because of a heavy snowfall. —The council instructed City Attorney H. O. Chommie to prepare an ordinance regulating soft drink parlors in the city.—Erling Dahlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Dahlen, fractured his arm while cranking an automobile. — Attorney Gay Halvorson has resumed the practice of law here.—George Votava, high school senior, was assigned to a position with the U. S. department of commerce.—Dr. J. T. Bowers of River Falls, Wisconsin, will shortly engage in the practice of medicine here.

CONSCIENCE CLEARED: RED CROSS $10 RICHER

Wadena. — Twelve years ago, way back in 1930, a cashier in the former Merchants' National Bank in this town overpaid a customer when he cashed a check for him. Two $10 bills, plus $2.50 were given in payment for the $12.50 check presented. Recently that customer appeared at the desk of M. J. Ebner presenting $10.00 which he requested be returned to the man who had made the mistake. Since the Merchants National Bank of 1930 no longer exists, the money was turned over to the County Red Cross Treasurer.

WOMEN AT WAR

Margaret

Margaret turned off the humming vacuum cleaner, and straightened the slipcovers of the armchair and the daybed that she had pushed up to go over the rug. Then she stood quite still in the doorway and looked at the small bedroom with its southern exposure. It was as neat and impersonal as a pin. It might never have been lived in. The door stood open on the clean, bare closet. There was not a pennant, not a team picture, not even so much as an old Arithmetic book left to show where room it had once been.

Margaret stared at the walls, the furniture, and deeply, slowly, she realized that no matter what lodgers with their own trinkets and pictures might occupy it, she would always see it the old way. It was the old way that she saw it now. A pair of hard-worn gray pants lay on the floor where they had been dropped. Three baseball bats were stacked with a fishing rod in the corner. A battered red cap with a letter on it lay on the bed. And through the bed, as though it were transparent, Margaret saw another bed, smaller, and with high slatted sides.

She put the vacuum cleaner away and went down to her desk in the sitting-room. She took the fifteen dollars rent that the new lodger had paid that morning in advance for the room, and added to it, from her purse, three dollars and seventy-five cents more. Then she drew out a sheet of paper and began to write on it, slowly, gravely.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The "Stovepipe," as the 60 millimeter trench mortar is commonly known, is used by our infantry for close-in fighting. It fires a 2.4-pound shell at the rate of about 35 a minute.

The mortar fires its projectile in a U-shaped arc and for this reason may be successfully camouflaged behind an obstruction. It costs about $300. You and your neighbors, joining together, can buy many of these effective weapons for use of our army. Investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday will do the job. TWIN SOLDIERS ALWAYS WRITE TWIN LETTERS

Clarkfield.—Twins, Dorance and Delos Erickson are located in U. S. army camps a thousand miles or more apart but when the folks back home get letters from Delos, they get a letter from Dorance; whether its parents, cousins, or friends, the twins always write "double." The boys are sons of an Erickson family in Montevideo. From infancy they have shown a tendency to act and think together which has always been amazing to their parents.

3,000 TIN CANS SAVED BY WOMAN

Marshall.—For years and years, Mrs. Tom Johnson has saved two-pound coffee cans — almost a "barnful." Why she saved them she didn't know but felt some day they would come in handy. The day has arrived and last week her husband spent most of his time preparing them for the government's tin salvage program.

Mediums of Expression

In these harrowing times, when every family is facing changes and upsets, it is especially necessary for all family members to have outlets for self-expression. For one person, it is relaxing to get out and work in a garden; for another, to sit down at the piano and play, no matter how inexpertly, relieves nervous tension.

Children need ways of getting relief, too. Boisterous play will sometimes only add to a child's emotional excitement, but absorbing work with the hands tends to give a feeling of great satisfaction. The more spontaneous the activity, the more refreshing it becomes.

Clay or plasticene is often thought of as such messy stuff that its use is curtailed, but if precautions are taken, modeling with clay can be done with a minimum of clutter. Spread newspapers under the table and around the chair where the child is working. An oilcloth apron or a piece of an old oiled-silk curtain may be used to protect the clothing. Oilcloth, a piece of linoleum, or a bread board should be laid on the table, and some utensils provided. A dull knife, some kitchen skewers, a baking powder can or other small cylinder with which to roll the clay into shape, will be appreciated. The young child will not succeed in making anything that looks very finished to the adult, but his product will please him, which is all we want.

Another activity that offers much creative joy is painting. If you can make or buy an easel at which the child can stand, he'll spend hours using it. If you can't arrange that, see that he has a low table (an old kitchen table with the legs cut off at an appropriate height makes a fine play table) and plenty of large sheets of paper. Buy part of a roll at the butcher shop, or ask your wallpaper dealer for some old cheap rolls that are remnants. Brushes should be large, so that the child can really cover the ground with big strokes. It is wonderfully absorbing and exhilarating to be able to splash one's ideas onto paper in bright colors. A three year old may start out by just daubing paint with big arm movements, to find himself delighted a moment later by seeing to his results a tree or a cloud or a dog.

Whether in paint, in clay, in music, by using wood and tools, by cutting and pasting colored paper, or by any other free form of handicraft, children are often able to release otherwise pent-up emotion in a soul-satisfying way. Let them go to it!

Full Cookie Jar Important Part Of Holiday Menu

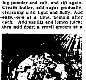
Pile high the cookie jar and gift boxes with fruited, sugared cookies as your contribution to Christmas. The jars at home should be full for the children and visiting relatives for general nibbling purposes or cookies for stringing on the tree lend their bit to the festive spirit. Plan to pack a few boxes to send away to friends or relatives, too, as nothing is more welcome than home-made cookies in a variety of shapes, sprinkled with Christmasy red and green sugar.

ASSORTED HOLIDAY COOKIES

Rolled Butterscotch Cookies

- 3½ cups sifted cake flour
- 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup butter
- 1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 1½ teaspoons lemon juice

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Add vanilla and lemon juice; then add flour, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll ⅛ inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with fancy floured cutter. Brush with egg mixture for glazing and decorate as desired. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 5 to 6 minutes.



Chocolate Cookies.

- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ cup butter or other shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and cinnamon, and sift three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs and chocolate, and beat well. Add flour, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll ⅛ inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cutter. Brush with egg mixture for glazing and decorating as desired. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 9 minutes.

Cutters used for cookies: Baking powder cans (tops of 1-pound and 6-ounce double-acting baking powder cans), thimble or top of salt shaker, and knife (small paring knife).

Egg mixture for glazing cookies: Mix together 1 beaten egg yolk and ¼ cup milk. Brush lightly over cookies before baking.

Decorations Used for Cookies.

Sugar: Granulated sugar, mixture of cinnamon and sugar, or colored sugar. (Colored sugar may be bought or prepared at home. To color sugar, dissolve a bit of coloring in a teaspoon of water, sprinkle over ½ cup granulated sugar, mix well to distribute coloring evenly, and spread sugar out on unglazed paper until dry. This gives attractive large crystals of colored sugar for decorating.)

Nuts: Whole almonds, halves of almonds, walnuts and pecans, or any nuts, finely chopped.

Candies: Tiny colored candies, small red winter-green or cinnamon candies, candied caraway seeds, and silver dragees.

Fruits: Raisins (seedless), currants, and citron. (Citron should be green, and may be cut easily with sharp scissors.)

Safety Suggestion

The National Safety Council's figures prove that each year hundreds of youngsters, swept up with holiday hilarity, meet death and disaster on the highway. Parents are cautioned to ask their sons and daughters to be extra careful during this period of extra danger; to ask them not to drive with drinking drivers, to remember the dangers of speed, and to combine their fun with common sense.

LOOK Lady

By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

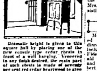
Hallways are to homes what receiving lines are to receptions—a friendly, welcoming introduction to your home. And yet, hallways often are the bane of the homemaker's existence.

Actually, to accomplish their purpose, hallways, like receiving lines, should be practical as well as decorative. And for both practical and decorative values, we know of nothing so charming and useful as one of the new type cedar chests.

These modern pieces of furniture hide away an appreciable amount of out-of-season clothing, or family trinkets, and at the same time give guaranteed moth-protection to all woolen articles.

Casually, we do not feel hallway furniture must match the wood or styling of dining or living room period furniture. Although, of course, it is quite possible to do so, regardless of whether your furniture is maple, walnut or mahogany.

You will scarcely recognize the new cedar chests in their guise of lowboy, highboy or console form. And they do come in a variety of woods and finishes, too, if you desire your hallway to repeat or introduce the theme or setting for the rest of the house.



Dramatic height is given to this square hall by placing one of the new console type cedar chests in front of a wall hanging. Veneered in any finish desired, the main part of such chests is made of seventy per cent red cedar heartwood to give moth-protection to woolens stored inside. Entrance to the chest is gained by lifting the lid.

Besides providing ample utility and protective space, the new lowboy, highboy and console styles offer unlimited decorative appeal. For instance, the chests with somewhat of an Italian design have a rich distinguished appearance when placed in front of a tapestry hung from the wall. Or a pair of heavy candlesticks and a fruit bowl may more suitably fit in with the decorative scheme you have in mind.

In new modern homes, with accent on white enameled woodwork and highly waxed floors, cedar chests with the popular bleached mahogany exterior strike the right note for a gay, cheerful entrance. Decorative motif on top of such a chest could be fern or cacti gardens, in season, or informal bouquets of seasonal flowers. your own would be lively, if you have a garden.

So whatever your hallway problem, there is a cedar chest designed to meet the need, and based on its utilitarian as well as decorative value, actually is a sound and conservative buy.

YOUNG BUCK DEER ASSISTS EDITOR

The young fellow seemed bent on helping get the newspaper out, editorial, linotype, or press all seemed to absorb his interest. The issue going through the mill was the one telling about the opening of deer season. When the paper was off the press, the editor feeling very grateful to the young fellow, arranged to keep him out of the woods until the shooting is over.

OLD LADY LUCK SURELY FAVORED HIM

Brainerd. — Has the enemy arrived, thot William J. Hogan, one night recently when he opened the door of his car which he had just driven into the garage. A heavy thud dinned his ears, and then came clouds of dust. Quickly he turned the lights out and discovered a hole about six feet deep directly beneath the car. It seems some 50 years ago a cesspool had been located in that spot and later covered with boards and cement. The boards had rotted and it required but the vibration of the car passing over to cause the cave in. It was necessary to bridge the hole with planks to drive the car out.

COACH W. KOTTKE CONFERS LETTERS ON FOOTBALL BOYS

Departing Athletic Coach Receives Fountain Pen from Players

In a departure from the usual custom of announcing the football letter winners at the close of the school year, coach Willard Kottke, during the half-time intermission of the basketball game last Wednesday night, named twenty two Prowlers as winners of football letters.

After a brief review of the season's play, coach Kottke called the following boys the 1942 letter winners: captain Don Michalsky, Bob Wright, Homer Matheson, Eddie Chommie, Vernon Eide, Don Aasland, Connie Engelstad, Steve Alnes, Norman Furuseth, Matlyn Dorn, Bill McKechnie, Cal Traver, Bill Bye, Chuck Richards, Morris Efteland, Virg Moeller, Art Forsberg, Herb Claffy, LaMarr Hanson, Bob Baker, Tim Conners, and Ray Bowers.

Captain Don Michalsky, in behalf of the football squad, and as a memento of the 1942 season, presented coach Kottke with a fountain pen.

Truckers May Obtain Gasoline for December, Says State OPA Chief

Farmers and other truckers who have not yet received their certificates of war necessity from the Office of Defense Transportation can obtain enough gasoline to carry them through December by applying to their local rationing boards.

That's the advice from T. G. Driscoll, Minnesota OPA director, in an emergency notice to truck operators who might be faced with storing their trucks until their certificates are obtained. But to get emergency gasoline rations, the applicant must be able to show the board that he either has signed the application form supplied by the ODT or applied for one.

The truck operator must estimate accurately how many miles he will drive his truck during the rest of December. Any ration allotted him by the board will be deducted from his permanent ration when he gets his permanent certificate of war necessity, Mr. Driscoll said. A truck operator who overestimates his needs, therefore, will lose, because not only what he actually uses, but the excess amount of his estimate as well will be deducted from his allotted ration.

SPORTSMENS CLUB DISCUSSES DEER SEASON OUTCOME

Members at Session Tuesday Evening Favor Annual Deer Season

More than fifty members assembled in the Civic and Commerce rooms Tuesday evening for the December session of the Pennington County Sportsmens club, which was featured by a lively discussion of the outcome of the recent deer season.

The meeting went on record in favor of an annual deer season, and also recommended that the conservation department be authorized to set the dates, as well as urging that non-resident fishermen be permitted to transport the possession limit of fish out of the state instead of the daily limit as at present.

Appointed on a committee to draw up resolutions covering these points were Dr. H. H. Hedemark, John Dokken and Arthur Fretland.

Lunch was served at the close of the evening by a committee under the direction of Julin Provencher.

Civilian employment in government stands at 2,208,000, an increase of 118 per cent over June 1940.

Milt Reierson's one-handed shots and Jack Melby's fine defensive play were the highlights of last Wednesday night's game as the Prowlers opened their basketball schedule with a 38 to 17 win over the Fosston Greyhounds. The game, which was played on the local floor, was Coach Kottke's final contest at the helm of the Prowlers, for immediately following the game he entrained for Fort Snelling to enter active service with the U. S. Army. On Friday night, on the Bemidji floor, the Prowlers will meet Glenn Barnum's Bemidji Lumberjacks.

Coach Kottke's Prowlers, playing a neat passing game and setting up their plays nicely against Fosston's zone defense, piled up a 10 to 1 lead in the first period, and held a 24 to 10 lead at the half. Milt Reierson popped a one-handed shot into the west basket to open the scoring after three minutes of play. Jack Melby pivoted into the free throw lane and looped in a close shot; with Reierson following with a one-handed try from the free throw circle. Don Berg flipped in a close shot to give the blue-and-gold an 8 to 0 lead before Fosston's Orville Tangen dropped in a free throw. Reierson took a pass from Bill McKechnie and drove in for a set-up.

Milt continued on a scoring rampage in the second period, opening the play with another one-handed shot into the net. Fosston's Russ "Blackie" Hagen, one of the game's stand-out players, dropped in a close shot, and then looped a one-handed try into the basket. Berg boosted the Prowler's lead with a field goal, and after Hagen had registered a free throw, McKechnie popped a shot into the basket. Merle Larson accounted for a Fosston field goal, sinking a shot from the side-line. Reierson, on another one-handed try, marked up his fifth field goal; and Melby, after a floor-length dribble, lifted a one-handed shot into the net. Russ Hagen, on a break, dribbled in for a push-up shot. Bill Bye looped in a shot from out on the floor; and Bob Wright tallied from near the basket to end the first half scoring.

Jack Melby set up three scoring plays for the Prowlers in the opening minutes of the second half, flipping a pass to McKechnie, who drove in for the shot; tipping the ball to Reierson, who made the counter; and after Hagen had scored for Fosston, Jack fed the ball to Reierson, and Milt marked up the goal. Russ Bjornerud's field goal brought the Fosston score to 11, with the Prowlers score at 30, as the period ended.

The fourth period found Bill McKechnie breaking up a Fosston play and dribbling for a set-up shot. Reierson, on a two-handed push shot, scored his eighth field goal. Don Berg counted with a left-handed toss, and McKechnie added a free throw. Hagen totted up two free throws, and Larson scored on a close shot just as the game ended.

The game's high point man was the locals' blond guard, Milt Reierson, who tossed in eight field goals. Bill McKechnie, with seven points; and Don Berg, with six, were other Prowler high scorers. Fosston's Russ Hagen, on four field goals and three free throws, led the Greyhound scorers, and in addition he turned in a nifty floor game.

GLENN A. HANNA, NOTED COACH, NEW PROWLER MENTOR

Led Moorhead Quint to Two State Championships in 1928-29

Glenn A. Hanna, coach of the 1928 and 1929 state high school basketball champion Moorhead Spuds and of the 1930 North Dakota basketball champion Bismarck high school, on Saturday accepted a contract which made him a member of the local high school faculty, and he will succeed Willard Kottke as Prowler athletic coach. His appointment was ratified by the board of education Monday morning.

Mr. Hanna, a graduate of Valley City Teachers College in 1925, is only 39 years old and he has established a remarkable record as an athletic coach.

Under Coach Hanna's tutelage the Moorhead high school football and basketball teams enjoyed their "golden era" in athletics, with the Spuds, as regional champions, participating in the state basketball tournaments in 1926-27-28-29-30-31 and 34, and winning the state championship in 1928 and 1929. Coach Hanna's champions of 1928 and 1929 also participated in the national interscholastic basketball tournament in Chicago.

In 1935 Mr. Hanna moved to Bismarck, and his teams continued to play championship ball, with the Bismarck teams playing in the North Dakota high school basketball tournament in 1936-37-38 and 39, and winning the state title in 1939. It is recalled that in 1939 he brought his rangy Bismarck team here for a game with the Prowlers, and Hanna's team won a six-point victory, 52 to 46. Since 1939 Mr. Hanna has been operating a school supply establishment in Bismarck, and, on a part-time basis, he has been coaching at St. Mary's high school.

The new coach will report here on Saturday, and will be in charge of the Prowlers when they play Roseau and Climax here on December 11th. In the meantime Quentin Jones, physical education instructor, has been supervising the Prowler basketball practice sessions, and he will direct the Prowlers when they play the Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji on Friday night.

Keeping Score

More Than Luck

The first few times that the high school authorities came up with the signed contract of first-rate coaches I thought perhaps that the local officials were enjoying a streak of good luck, but now, and in a time such as this, when they come up with a coach such as Glenn Hanna, well, I suspect that it isn't all a matter of luck. A roll-call of the Prowler coaches since the days of Lars Thune, and he was A-1, brings up such names as Eddie Boe, George Hays, Roger Dooley, George Lee, John Lindenmeyer, Harry Newby, Willard Kottke, and now Glenn Hanna, and reveals that the local school has been favored with some fine athletic mentors. Only one or two, perhaps, weren't top-flight. That's a fine percentage and it serves to strengthen the claim that there is more than luck involved in the selection of a Prowler coach.

Hanna Is Outstanding

In Glenn Hanna the Prowlers have secured the services of one of the northwest's top-ranking coaches. Local fans are well acquainted with Hanna's teams, for when Glenn was at Moorhead there were a couple of times that the Prowlers faced the Spuds in the regional tournament, and lost. In those days, from 1925 through 1930, Moorhead was included in the eighth region. And the stars that Hanna developed at Moorhead are readily recalled: Earl Moran, who for three years was an all-state selection, Cliff Halmrast, who is the present coach at Moorhead, Pat Hilde, Carroll Malvey, Bliss Littler, Bud Marquardt, Johnny Walker, and others.

A Tough One Coming Up

The Prowlers looked quite nifty in disposing of the Fosston team last Wednesday, rolling up a 37 to 18 win; but tomorrow night they are due for a more severe test when they face the Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji. Fosston, except for the veteran Russ Hagen, lacked experience, they were all sophomores and juniors, and the Prowlers were able to control the pace of the game throughout most of the thirty-two minutes of play. It'll be different when they take the floor against the rangy Lumberjacks. With such boys as Tommy Corrigan, Harlan Grover, and Phil Feir on the squad, Bemidji will have a definite height advantage, and Corrigan and Grover are strong scorers, too. Bemidji lost an able play-maker when Jack Vinje graduated, and graduation also took Glen Back, Erwin Dilley, and Bob Bakko from the squad. But it's a fact that Bemidji always comes up with a strong team, so the Prowlers are apt to be pretty busy tomorrow night.

Glad He's Gone Back

The Carlsons, Ed and Wally, and especially Wally, are glad that Carlo Columbo, who visited here during the week-end, has returned to the iron mines at Ely. One of the first things that Carlo did when he arrived here last week was to bounce over to the Hartz bakery and, after telling the boys that he rolled a 265 game in a tournament in Duluth, issued a challenge to Ed and Wally. The match was bowled on Saturday afternoon and Carlo, with games of 214-213-195, posted a huge 622 total, to make his challenge good. Ed came through with a fine 599, having games of 202-182-213, and only a "turkey" in the final frame of the third game gave Carlo the decision. Wally marked up a creditable 534 total, with scores of 151-192-191, and that gave him the privilege of paying for most of the lines. Well, anyway Ed and Wally are glad that Carlo went home happy.

Watch This Outfit

As you watch the progress of the teams of the "big four", East Grand, Crookston, Warren, and Thief River, during the basketball season, and make notes on their tournament prospects, don't forget to keep an eye on Harold Rud's St. Hilaire team. That's the team, you know, that came within a field goal of eliminating the Prowlers in the district tourney at Crookston last spring, with the locals eking out a shaky 34 to 33 decision. And this year, from all reports, the St. Hilaire team is an improved and better-balanced aggregation than last year. They lost Grover Stevens and Enus Nohre through graduation, and Earl Bothman did not return to school, but they have Bob Jande, Roy Kratz (he's the fellow that was dropping in those long shots against the Prowlers), William Holmes, Wallace Swanson and Harlan Olson.

Whip Goodridge 54-17

Merlin Elle, coach of the Goodridge high team that was beaten by St. Hilaire, 54 to 17, tells me that in Harlan Olson and Roy Kratz, coach Rud has two very effective players. Olson, in particular, being a hot-shot, scoring twenty points against Goodridge in the first half.

The fact that St. Hilaire has not been able to schedule games with the bigger schools in the district may handicap the Saints considerably when tournament time rolls around. By playing against the larger schools, and on the larger floors, the boys develop poise and gain fine experience. The larger schools arrange their schedules several years in advance, and when such a strong team from a smaller school appears, such as St. Hilaire, it's difficult to open up the schedule and make a game, but that team of Rud's will be a club to watch.

U. S. IN DRIVE TO SELL 9 BILLIONS NEW SECURITIES

"U" President Calls on All Citizens to Invest as Much as Possible

President W. C. Coffey of the University of Minnesota Sunday called on every citizen, every business, every industry in this state to assure the future security of America by investing to the utmost in the Victory Loan securities offered by the federal government to finance the war.

Speaking over nine Minnesota radio stations on the eve of the opening of the drive to sell $9,000,000,000 of such securities during December, he termed the purchase of Victory Loan securities "not only an opportunity, but a very specific obligation of every American.

"It is going to be necessary—yes, imperative—that we utilize not only that portion of current income available in excess of immediate and urgent necessities of life, but also every dollar of available surplus or savings in the purchase of whatever types of Victory Loan securities best suit our individual needs."

Pointing out that the financing program is the largest in all history, he reminded listeners that the conduct of modern war requires men, machines, and money, and that it is in the last field that the "citizen soldier finds his opportunity for a contribution, without which the front line cannot long be maintained."

Securities, he said, are an apt name for the various classes of bonds and certificates being offered, "for certainly in the purchase of a government bond we are in fact buying security for our nation."

The gigantic financing program has a dual purpose, he said: to help pay the cost of the war and to control inflation.

St. Paul Is Enforcing Drivers License Law

A vivid example of what can be done by effective local police methods to curb the habitually dangerous driver, has been set by Minnesota's capital city of St. Paul during the first ten months of 1942, according to figures furnished by the state highway department to the Minnesota Editorial association's "Save 100 Lives" committee. During the ten-month period of 171 Minnesota motorists have been jailed and convicted of driving after suspension or revocation of their drivers' licenses. Out of this total for the entire state, 130 of them, or 76%, were apprehended in St. Paul.

'OLD GLORY' MADE WITH 43,103 CROCHET STITCHES

Winona—A girlhood ambition of Mrs. G. A. Hicks, has just been realized with the completion of a beautiful crocheted American flag. A total of 43,103 stitches were required to complete it, each star requiring 62 stitches. Nine balls of standard crochet thread, 2,800 yards, were required and the work was completed in approximately 71 days. Getting that job off her mind, Mrs. Hicks vows she is ready to go back to knitting sweaters for service boys.

MANKATO'S LONGEST TELEPHONE CALL

Mankato—A call from Mankato to Rio de Janeiro on the southeast coast of Brazil last week some 5,000 miles away is believed to be the longest call in the history of the Mankato Citizens Telephone Company. The call was made by Mrs. Thomas Wyatt at the St. Joseph's hospital to her husband, Sgt. Wyatt stationed at Rio de Janeiro, occasioned by the birth of a daughter.

TAXPAYERS GROUP SEEKS REDUCTION IN STATE LEVIES

Officers are Reelected at Annual Meeting Held in Litchfield

Reduction of the state property tax, as well as lower rates in the state income tax, imposition of no new taxes, and curtailment of all state and local expenditures to bare essentials for the duration of the war. These are highlights in the program adopted by the Minnesota Taxpayers association at the annual meeting held at Litchfield.

Other points in the program call for reduction of state and local debts; elimination of all unnecessary federal non-war costs to aid the war effort.

The association outlined a program for consideration of the Minnesota legislature convening in January, and stressed the need for state and local economies as a definite assistance to all-out prosecution of the war.

James P. McDonnell of Buffalo was re-elected president; Norman A. Borgen of Excelsior, secretary; D. L. Crimmins of Redwood Falls and C. D. Tearse of Winona, vice presidents; E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis, treasurer.

REGULATIONS FOR DEC. 14 BLACKOUT ARE ANNOUNCED

Seven States to be Covered in Test That Evening from 10 to 10:20

Regulations for the state of Minnesota in the regional blackout Monday, December 14 were announced this week by Adjutant General Ellard A. Walsh. The blackout, covering the entire 7th civilian defense region comprising the states of Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Wyoming and Minnesota, or about one fifth the area of the United States, will be held from 10:00 to 10:20 P. M. and will cover the entire state.

Colonel Allan Briggs, chief of staff of the Minnesota Office of Civilian Defense, said that all county and local defense councils have been notified of the time, and conditions of the blackout. Those communities which have not established control centers have been asked to do so at once.

The office of the adjutant general advised that test blackouts be conducted in every community in the state which has not already done so, and that authority for such blackouts has been received from the commanding general for the 7th Region. County wide test blackouts before December 14 were also advised.

War plants, which have formerly been exempt from blackout regulations, will not be required to interrupt production, but they will be required to reduce lighting.

Railroads will not be expected to interrupt operations, but they have been asked to participate to some extent. Yard floodlights should be shut off for at least three minutes during the blackout, to show that they can be turned off in an emergency. Terminal operations will not cease, but curtains on passenger trains should be drawn. Headlights on through trains need not be dimmed, but switch and yard engines should do so.

All traffic will be halted, including bus and truck transportation.

Local operators were cautioned not to pull main switches at electric power plants, except those which regulate street lights.

Beacon lights, warning lights and landing field lights, including those on high buildings or water towers, will be blacked out insofar as there will be no interference with the safety of air travel.

ALL USED CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY TO BE LISTED

Immediate registration of all used construction machinery in Minnesota, North and South Dakota has been called for by the regional office of the War Production Board in Minneapolis. Under WPB order L-196 owners of construction equipment are required to register it with WPB. All owners of construction equipment should get in touch with WPB immediately if they have not already done so, WPB officials said.

FARMERS MAKING NUMEROUS LOANS ON STORED GRAIN

Place Nearly 15,000,000 Bu under Government Loan in Minnesota

During the past ten months Minnesota farmers have placed under government loan 14,787,032 bushels of corn, wheat, flax, barley, and rye, valued at $13,860,320.83 as of November 1, Charles W. Stickney, State AAA chairman, announced Saturday.

Of the total amount under loan, 11,208,368 bushels are stored on farms, the remainder in public warehouses. A total of 8,190,212 bushels of 1941 corn is under government loan. All of the corn, carrying a loan value of $5,664,393.60, is stored on the farm.

The total of 4,951,835 bushels of wheat stored in the state is valued at $5,840,444.49 at the loan rate. Of the amount stored, 2,052,379 bushels are on the farm. Minnesota farmers stored 940,666 bushels of flax—331,569 bushels on the farm. The loan value of flax in storage is $2,132,714.10.

The total barley stored is 540,100 bushels, 533,797 bushels on the farm. Loan value of the total storage is $275,046.65. A total of 114,219 bushels of rye has been stored, 100,410 bushels on the farm. The loan value of stored rye is $67,721.99.

Mr. Stickney pointed out that tremendous amounts of stored corn and wheat have been moved from surplus areas into short-feed areas to assist farmers in the latter area to reach production goals for milk, eggs, poultry, hogs and beef cattle during the year.

The majority of the grain moved into short-fed areas was grain produced in years prior to 1942 and held in the Ever-Normal Granary until needed.

TOO MANY UNITS OF GOVERNMENT SAYS RESEARCH AGENCY

Institute Says Minnesota Ranks Fourth from Top In This Respect

Pointing out that Minnesota has outstripped all but three states in acquiring an excess of local units of government, the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research in a new report made public this week suggested the need for drastic reduction in number and reorganization of local governmental units.

Basing its survey on a study made by Professor William A. Anderson of the University of Minnesota, the institute reported that Minnesota has 10,409 local units of government, a total exceeded only by Illinois, Kansas and Missouri. Looming large in Minnesota's total are its 7,687 school districts, highest in the nation except for three states, and its 1,833 townships, a field in which it outranks all states. Twenty-six states have no township governments.

The institute's report says that Minnesota could get along without thousands of these local units of government.

The survey prepared for Public Administrative Service recommends that "the average state should have only 370 local units of government." Factors suggested from this report as necessary for effective local government include:

1. Adoption of a plan calling for one administrative unit only in each defined area, with not less than 20,000 population, with a rural county government for rural areas and a city or village government for the urban areas in each county. Under this proposal the number of counties would be reduced from 87 to not more than twenty-five in Minnesota.

2. Abolition of the school district as a separate governmental unit, with education being handled by the county governmental unit.

3. Elimination of townships as separate governmental units, with such functions as assessing, social welfare and highways being turned over to the county units of government.

The present system of local government was set up before the automobile, the telephone and other modern conveniences, the institute's report said, and no longer fits needs of the people. "This vast multiplicity of governments is an extravagance that cannot be afforded under present conditions," the report concludes.

78 Pct. of Population Has Bought War Bonds

A recent survey by the Gallup poll revealed that 78 per cent of Americans have bought war bonds or stamps, it was announced in Washington. Reporters for the poll asked a representative cross-section of the voting population this question: "Do you happen to have bought any war bonds or stamps?" The result was: Yes, 78 per cent; No, 22 per cent. Seeking the answer to the failure of one out of every five adult Americans to buy war bonds or stamps, Dr. Gallup made a further study and found that two large segments of the population — the lower income group and farmers — are responsible for this situation.

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT
EVER MADE BY THE U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

(The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!)

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars from accumulated savings and idle funds in the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort—without compensation of any kind—to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s—available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the Victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Ahoy! You Landlubbers!
Try this Typical Sailors' Dessert

Nothing appeals to keen appetites more than rich plum duff. Flavorful and fruity. Not wasteful of sugar, it's a practical wartime dish! Prunes and Vitamin-and-Mineral Enriched Flour make it very nutritious ... Every sack of Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour contains added amounts of two important "B" vitamins and iron. That means it's better for you. Yet there's been no change in its baking qualities, color or taste.

LIGHT PLUM DUFF . . . TRY IT!

SPECIAL NOTE: To improvise a steamer, arrange a rack 2 inches above the bottom of a covered roaster.

For molds: use one 7" tube-center mold (1 qt. size), coffee cans or (to mold in individual servings) jelly glasses. Fill molds ⅓ to ½ full. Then cover with waxed paper, and place molds in steamer over water that's already boiling. The steam must surround the mold. Cover steamer tightly. Don't lift lid during steaming, so be sure lower kettle has enough water to last through steaming time.

Use at least 2½ cups water in cooking prunes, so you'll have 2 cups of juice left for the sauce.

2 cups sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour ... 4 tsp. Baking Powder ... ½ tsp. Salt ... 2 tbsp. Sugar ... 2 tbsp. Shortening ... 1 cup Milk ... 2 cups cooked Prunes (drained, pitted).

SIFT the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Then cut in the shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until finely blended. Add milk and mix to make a soft dough.

Arrange 4 large cooked, pitted prunes (spread open) at equal distances apart on the bottom of a greased pudding mold, and cover with a thin layer of dough (dropping it lightly from a spoon) ... then with a layer of prunes (opened) ..., being sure that the prunes come out to the edge of the mold. Repeat this procedure, with alternate layers of dough and prunes, till all are used. Finish with a thin layer of dough on top.

Now cover. Steam one hour (instructions above). Turn out on a serving platter and serve hot with hot prune sauce. (Enough for 8 to 10 servings.)

HOT PRUNE SAUCE

2 tbsp. Cornstarch ... ½ cup Sugar ... 2 cups cold Prune Juice (in which prunes were cooked) ... 2 tbsp. Lemon Juice or mild Vinegar ... 1 tbsp. Butter ... ½ tsp. Nutmeg

MIX cornstarch and sugar with the cold prune juice and lemon juice (or vinegar). Cook over a low heat until thick—stirring frequently to keep from lumping. Remove from heat and blend in the butter and nutmeg.

Perfect results guaranteed only with Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour

They're Pigs in Blankets!

Easy and quick to make. They make a hit for a "hurry-up" supper or lunch.
All you need is:

2 cups sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour ... 1 tsp. Salt ... 3 tsp. Baking Powder ... 4 tbsp. Shortening ... ⅔ to ¾ cup Milk ... 8 little Sausages or Wieners (cooked)

SIFT the flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender (or 2 knives) until finely blended. Then stir in just enough milk to make a soft dough.

Roll out ¼ inch thick on a lightly floured cloth-covered board, and cut in oblong pieces to make the "blankets" for the sausages. Place a cooked sausage or wiener in the center of each piece and roll dough around it, letting the sausage show at each end; then press edges to seal firmly. Now place on lightly greased baking sheet.

Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven (450°). Makes 8 servings. Delicious when served hot with a Cream Sauce.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 32 Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Thursday, Dec. 10, 1942 Number 50

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THIS AREA SET FOR BLACKOUT MONDAY NIGHT

First Statewide Test Will be Conducted from 10 to 10:20

RURAL AREAS ALSO AFFECTED BY ORDER

Minnesota Adjutant General Cites Importance of Coming Test

Residents of Thief River Falls and Pennington county are preparing to join with other Minnesota citizens in the first statewide blackout scheduled for next Monday evening, December 14, from 10 o'clock to 10:20.

As was the case in the test blackout successfully staged in Thief River Falls the evening of December 2, the coming blackout will be heralded in the city by repeated blasts of the fire siren. Residents elsewhere in the county should extinguish their lights for the 20-minute period promptly on the stroke of 10, it was announced by Major G. Schilbred, chairman of the county civilian defense committee.

"So long as we remain at war there can be no assurance we will not be attacked," Major General Ellard A. Walsh, Minnesota adjutant general, declared today in a directive issued in connection with the statewide blackout.

"Since no individual is sufficiently clairvoyant to declare with authority we will not be attacked, it not only is prudent but vitally necessary that every person recognizes the necessity for doing those things which will assure maximum safety to our children, mothers, wives, the aged and infirm," said General Walsh.

The adjutant general emphasized "apathy and loose thinking can have no place in the minds of men where lives and property are concerned."

"The public," said General Walsh, "has a right to the unstinted efforts of those in authority and charged with formulating plans for their protection and safety. The people of our state may well be proud of the fine leadership found in the several communities, and the wholehearted co-operation of its citizenry in building up and maintaining the numerous civilian defense agencies, particularly those agencies contained in the protective group—the citizens defense corps."

The blackout will be part of a blackout ordered for a number of midwest states during the same 20-minute period on Dec. 14.

All the area within the boundary of the state will participate in the test.

All vehicular traffic, with the exception of designated emergency vehicles, will cease during the test, General Walsh said in the directive.

"All lights will be extinguished, the striking of matches and activation of flashlights are prohibited. Vehicular traffic not within the range of alarm signals may proceed again with their normal runs at 10:20 p. m."

Pedestrians finding themselves on the streets during the test, Walsh said, should seek shelter in buildings, doorways or immobilize themselves by standing against walls or buildings.

General Walsh recommended that violations be prosecuted.

GAS RATION BOARD CALLS ATTENTION TO REGULATIONS

Drivers Are Told to Attach Windshield Stickers, Endorse Coupons

A warning to motorists that they immediately must place the sticker designating their gasoline rationing status on the windshield of their vehicle was issued this week by the gasoline rationing panel.

The board also advised motorists to immediately endorse all the coupons in their gasoline ration books (A, B, or C) by writing their license number and state of registration on the back of each coupon.

The board said such a procedure was advisable to prevent misuse of coupons in the event of theft of the book or its loss by the owner.

Coupons must not be detached from the book by the motorist, the board warned.

LINCOLN SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED MONDAY EVENING

Ceremony Features December Meeting of Parent-Teacher Ass'n

In an impressive ceremony Monday evening at the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, a huge service flag bearing stars representing 246 Lincoln high school students and faculty members known to be in the armed services was dedicated by Supt. Morris Bye.

Recalling that the occasion was the first anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, Mr. Bye reviewed events of the past year in the nation's intensive war effort. He pointed out that citizens during the coming months will have to do without many things they have enjoyed in the past, but that they are prepared to make sacrifices in order to win the war.

President Lloyd Bennes was in charge of the program, which opened with a demonstration of correct posture by a large group of grade school pupils. Sixteen girls in the junior-senior high school, under the supervision of Miss Alice M. Carter, demonstrated various physical fitness exercises carried out in gymnasium classes, while a group of boys gave a similar demonstration under the direction of Quentin Jones, who briefly explained the purpose of the exercises.

Roy Struble, accompanied on the piano by Harold F. Harrison, sang "God Bless America." In a brief business session the association approved the purchase of a $5 Christmas seal bond. The meeting closed with the singing of "The Star-spangled Banner," followed by the serving of lunch.

AFRICAN CAMPAIGN VET VISITS HERE

He served on a transport that was sunk four days after it had landed at Fedahala on the west coast of Africa.

Postmaster Asks Early Mailing for Christmas

Due to the fact that relatives and friends of local residents are scattered thruout the nation as a result of wartime conditions, mailing of Christmas packages and greeting cards got under way unusually early this year, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. At the same time he emphasized the acute congestion that will result if mailings are further delayed, and urged all local citizens to attend to their holiday mailing within the next day or two, so far as possible.

The annual report of County Agent Ernest A. Palmer and of Miss Irene Olson, Pennington 4-H club agent, completed last week, reveals that the agency has cooperated fully during the year in the national "Food for Freedom" campaign, and that participation by county young people in 4-H club work attracted more workers than in any past year.

With the organization of eight new 4-H clubs, a total of 23 were functioning in the county this year, with the enrollment increasing 38 per cent from 441 in 1941 to 607 in 1942. Workers displayed 504 exhibits at the Pennington county fair, and 19 members participated in events at the Minnesota state fair.

Among projects in which county farmers participated under the direction of Mr. Palmer were a pasture improvement program, phosphate fertilizer experiments, tests of the new Bi-Wing flax variety, and demonstrations of sheep shearing and flock improvement.

A total of 2,540 persons attended 108 meetings thruout the county to discuss the topics, "Feeding the family" and food preservation. County 4-H clubs conducted a Victory garden project in which 141 members participated, and 104 entries competed in the garden contest at the county fair.

COUNCIL PICKS NEW ALDERMAN FROM 3D WARD

Ralph Hunt, Resident Here 10 Years, Named to Succeed Clifford Overum

TOBOGGAN SLIDE TO BE OPENED SHORTLY

Arrangements Are Made to Install Amplifier on Fire Siren

The third ward is represented on the city council by a new alderman as a result of action taken by the council at its December session Tuesday evening to appoint Ralph N. Hunt to succeed Clifford Overum, who submitted his resignation recently before entering the army. Mr. Hunt has been a resident of the city the past ten years, and is employed by the Robertson Lumber company.

Recognizing the growing burden placed on city employes by the rising cost of living, the council at its session granted to a majority of city workers salary increases ranging from $5 to $15 a month.

Appearing in behalf of the city recreation board, W. E. Dahlquist stated that the park board is arranging to put the toboggan slide in Tindolph park into operation at an early date, and asked the council to supply one or two attendants to augment the services of two men who will be supplied by the WPA for the time being. The council indicated that men will be transferred to that duty temporarily from the street department.

The recreation board also announced that with the termination of WPA activities early in 1943, the city will lose the services of Mrs. Camille Dostal as recreation supervisor unless other arrangements are made for financing this useful project. The council agreed to pay her salary for thirty days after the termination of WPA, and indicated that in the meantime a conference will be held with the board of education in an effort to work out a permanent solution.

Following complaints that the fire siren had not been heard in some parts of the city at the time of the December 2 test blackout, Clarence Vevea submitted a model of a multiple amplifier for the siren to be constructed of plywood. He recommended for permanent installation an amplifier eight feet in diameter and four feet vertically, but suggested that for experimental purposes one about half that size be tested first. The council authorized Mr. Vevea to proceed at once with the construction of a smaller model.

BOMB AND WAR GAS SCHOOL SLATED IN CITY DECEMBER 17

Deputy State Fire Marshal to Give Lectures at Auditorium

Reflecting wartime conditions and the possibility of enemy attacks on this country, a bomb and war gas school of instruction will be held in the municipal Auditorium next Thursday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the state fire marshal's office with the cooperation of the Thief River Falls fire department.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Himal will give lectures dealing with the tactics of aerial bombing, bomb removal and rescue squad instruction, incendiary bombs, effects of war gases, first aid for gases, gas shelters and decontamination. He also may give an outside bomb demonstration, it was indicated.

H. L. Schuster, secretary of the local department, is mailing out invitations to fifty Northwest fire departments to be represented at the school. The public is invited to attend, he added.

Nearly Six Inches of Snow Falls This Week

This locality received its first substantial snowfall of the season Tuesday, Wednesday and this morning when nearly six inches fell, there being no wind to pile the white stuff in drifts. Temperatures during the week have ranged above the zero mark.

Council Votes an Extra Thirty Pct. Discount on Light Bills in December

The city council entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of Christmas giving when at its session Tuesday evening it voted a special thirty per cent discount on December billings of the electric light department payable January 1, this being in addition to the regular ten per cent discount for prompt payment. The city fathers thus carried out a custom established last year, when an extra twenty per cent discount was allowed on December bills. City Clerk P. G. Pederson estimated that the extra discount this year would aggregate approximately $4,000.

TAX COMMISSION RESCINDS 10 PCT. VALUATION BOOST

Takes Action at Request of Taxpayers Association Delegation

The ten per cent increase in rural real estate valuations in Pennington county, ordered last week by the state tax commissioner, was rescinded Monday following the appearance before the commissioner in St. Paul of a delegation from the Pennington County Taxpayers association, headed by Alfred Longren, president.

The local men presented figures showing that real estate valuations in townships of this county had been unduly high compared to those in effect in adjoining counties.

The tax commissioner had originally raised rural valuations in the county ten per cent following a blanket reduction of 25 per cent made by the county board of equalization.

ANOTHER GROUP OF RESERVISTS WILL DEPART SATURDAY

Program at Auditorium Is Arranged for 10:15 in Morning

The December contingent of Pennington county reservists, smaller in number than in the recent past, will assemble at the Auditorium Saturday morning at 10 o'clock previous to leaving for Fort Snelling, Arthur Berg, chief clerk of the selective service board, announced today.

The Civic Service Organization, under the direction of Dr. E. R. Amesbury, has arranged a short program to be held in the Auditorium at 10:15. The high school pep band will play, while Robert J. Lund will speak and Rev. G. S. Thompson will offer the prayer and benediction.

In the departing group are Herbert Saillie, Herbert Haraldson, Merl Sorenson, Nels Holmberg, Kenneth Engelstad, Raymond Leach, Clarence Offerdahl, Robert Blakey, Ole Ottum and Herbert Goethe. George Comstock will leave next Monday for Fort Snelling.

40 & 8 to Hold Election and Dinner This Evening

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Thief River Falls voiture of the 40 & 8 will be conducted in the veterans memorial room in the Auditorium this afternoon at 5 o'clock, it was announced by Alex Cloutier, chef de gare. Following the meeting at 7 o'clock a wild game dinner will be served in the Palm Garden Cafe for members of the organization and invited guests.

Recruiting Party for Naval Aviation Cadets Cancels Visit to City

The naval flying cadet recruiting mission, which was to have come to Thief River Falls Thursday, December 17, was canceled following the order issued Saturday by President Roosevelt calling a halt to voluntary enlistments, it was announced today by Walter Jung, chairman of the local committee. He added, however, that young men over the age of 18 and high school graduates who filed their names before the deadline may go to Minneapolis for examination at their own expense.

Levy for Bank Losses Raises County Budget

Due to the necessity of reimbursing Pennington county subdivisions for losses sustained on deposits in closed banks fifteen years ago or more, the county board at its December session Tuesday levied $14,282.93 for that purpose, sufficient to pay off the entire amount in 1943.

The matter was finally brought to a head this week when Judge J. E. Montague of Crookston indicated to County Attorney Paul Lundgren that he would return a verdict in favor of the Town of Kratka in the action brought against the township by the county as a means of deciding the issue.

As a result of this additional levy, together with a four-mill increase in the bond and interest levy, it appeared that the mill rate for county purposes would aggregate approximately 51 mills, this total being tentative because computation of tax valuations has not yet been completed, Auditor A. M. Senstad explained. The 1941 rate was 39.45 mills.

The budget drawn up Tuesday by the board for the coming year includes the following sums, the bond and interest figure being approximate:

	1942	1941
Co. Revenue	$35,400	$33,171
Road & Bridge	35,820	36,808
Welfare	40,307	46,120
Sanatorium	8,640	6,000
Bonds & Int.	33,000	22,065
Closed banks	14,282
	$167,589	$145,184

C. & C. DISCUSSES PLAN TO COPE WITH U. S. REGULATIONS

To Hear More of Proposal at Evening Meeting Next Thursday

Efforts to cope with the increasing quantity of federal regulations affecting local businessmen will furnish the topic for discussion at an evening session of the Civic and Commerce association in the club rooms next Thursday night, December 17, at 6:30, Secretary L. W. Rulien announced today.

At last Thursday's meeting members discussed the possibility of securing the cooperation of the local bar in analyzing the regulations, it being suggested that the attorneys divide the various subjects among themselves for intensive study. A report by the lawyers on the proposal will be given at next week's meeting.

Mr. Rulien, Roy Oen and W. E. Dahlquist were named on a committee to represent the association at a meeting called for Sunday to organize a "share your car" club among local traveling salesmen.

Rotarians Hear Message from General MacArthur

"They told me to tell you," a message from General MacArthur and his men when stationed in the Philippines, was read at the Rotary club luncheon in the Evelyn hotel Tuesday noon by Dr. A. E. Jacobson. The address had been delivered originally before Rotary club No. 1 in Chicago by Colonel Carlos Romulo, aide de camp to the general. LOCAL SELECTEE DIES IN CRASH ON EVE OF INDUCTION

Wallace Gunderson Killed at Crookston Thursday Evening

Wallace Gunderson, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gunderson of Mentor, who arrived at his home Thursday morning from Detroit, Mich., to report to his selective service board at Thief River Falls Friday morning at 10 A. M. for induction at Fort Snelling that day, died at 12:57 Thursday night from injuries in an auto accident that occurred a minute or two before Crookston's trial blackout began at 10 P. M.

Leo Gunderson, 28, defense worker at Detroit, who had traveled to Minnesota to bring his brother here for induction, and their sister, Mrs. Norland Bollom, 25, of Grand Forks, are in St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston suffering from multiple injuries suffered in the same accident.

The young men were bringing their sister from Grand Forks so that she could go to Thief River Falls Friday morning when Wallace left for service. Mrs. Bollom was driving the car, it was reported.

The car, a new Ford belonging to Leo Gunderson and bearing Michigan state licenses, failed to make the turn at Sixth St. and University Ave., climbing the curb and crashing into a tree. Wallace, riding in the front seat of the car, was thrown against the door, suffering head injuries that resulted in his death a few hours later.

The condition of the two survivors was reported serious, but their recovery is expected.

The young men have been employed in defense work at Detroit, Leo for the past two years and Wallace since spring. Two sisters, Mrs. Darrel Leas and Mrs. Thibideau, formerly of the Crookston community, also reside there while their husbands are in defense work.

Gunderson had been employed in garages in Thief River Falls previous to engaging in defense work.

HALT ORDERED IN VOLUNTARY ENLISTMENTS

All Armed Services Will be Supplied Thru Selective Service

PRESIDENT ISSUES ORDER ON SATURDAY

War Department Calls Halt on Induction of Men over Age 38

Voluntary enlistments in the armed forces were stopped by President Roosevelt Saturday, except in special cases, and the army and navy were told to get their recruits henceforth through the selective service system, which was placed under Paul V. McNutt.

At the same time the war department called a halt to the induction of all men over 38 and opened the way for the honorable discharge of such men already in service if they can serve the war effort better as civilians.

The president acted, after weeks of study of the knotty manpower problem, in an executive order which not only vested supervision of military procurement in McNutt as chairman of the war manpower commission but gave him stronger powers as well over all government departments concerned with manpower and over the practices of private industry.

McNutt was empowered to direct that the hiring of workers in any occupation or area which he might designate should be done through the United States employment service, an adjunct of his manpower commission, and to channel workers into the most essential jobs from those less essential.

Mr. Roosevelt's order ending voluntary enlistments, a step designed to bring military and civilian manpower procurement and disposal under unified supervision, applied to men 18 to 38. The armed forces thus might continue to receive enlistments of certain specialists above that age, and the navy was enabled to continue its recruiting of 17-year-olds. The army enlisted no men below 18.

The ban on enlistments referred to "the enlisted personnel of the armed forces, including reserve components." The acceptance of volunteers as officers apparently was continued. The army has announced, however, that all its officers henceforth will be obtained from the ranks through officer candidate schools except in the case of a few specialists.

The selective service system, heretofore an independent government agency, was placed under McNutt's complete control. The duties of Major General Lewis B. Hershey, its director, were transferred to McNutt. The latter was empowered to appoint a director or other officers to exercise the functions, however, and it was possible that he might retain Hershey in the post, under his directives.

War or No War, Youngsters Keep Faith in St. Nick

Throughout this nation, letters from kiddies are beginning to pour into the post offices. They eventually turn up at the postmasters' desks, for they are addressed:

Santa Claus
North Pole

In New York city, San Francisco, New Orleans, Chicago and hundreds of other cities such addressed letters turn up—all testifying that, war or no war, the simple and faithful children have put their trust in Santa Claus.

Such letters as the one following are the kind that postmasters, calling upon local charities, and individuals, try to have answered on Christmas morning:

> "Dear Santa Claus—I am writing to you because I am scared that you will miss me like you did last year. I have five sisters and four brothers, and they would like something for Christmas too. Mama hasn't got enough money to buy us anything and daddy has light, grocery and other bills to pay.
>
> "Santa, we all hope and pray that you can get to our house. We live on the second floor.
>
> "Mary G——"

Why Not Give a 'Roving Party'?

"Roving Parties" are loads of fun! And they cut down the work for our hostess. They can easily be arranged where several close friends live on the same street, or close by.

Hostess No. 1 serves the first course—an appetizer or soup. The main course is served at the next home. A third hostess serves the salad, and a fourth comes afterward with dessert. This is the last stage of the "roving party," and at this home the jovial crowd spends the evening.

The "roving party" can, of course, be divided between two or three hostesses, if this plan is more suitable.

OFFICIALS REPORT ON PRODUCTION OF MUNITIONS OF WAR

Say Output Is Above Most Optimistic Estimates of Year Ago

The office of war information announced that the U. S. in the year of 1942 will have produced approximately 49,000 planes, 32,000 tanks and self-propelled artillery, 17,000 anti-aircraft guns larger than 20-mm., 8,200,000 tons of merchant shipping, thousands of anti-aircraft machine guns, and thousands of scout cars and half- and full-track carriers.

Munitions and war construction were "above the most optimistic estimate of our production possibilities a year ago," and food production — a large proportion of which was meat, milk, eggs, and soy beans—was 12 percent above the previous year.

Expenditures for the year for munitions and war construction will total $47,000,000,000. In the first 10 months of 1942, more than $12,000,000,000 were collected in taxes and more than $33,000,000,000 through the sale of bonds and other government obligations. Approximately 17,500,000 people are now employed in war work—compared to 7,000,000 a year ago—but in 1943 an additional 5,000,000 will be needed for war work and for the armed forces.

By March 15, 1942, the cost of living had risen 15 percent over the end of 1939, but price regulation, instituted in April, held down the increases in those prices subject to control to 6-10 of one percent as of October 15.

Jobs are open to those that may have had a general education but who have been working in engineering or some other technical or mechanical capacity. RAIL OPERATING UNIONS SEEK 30 PCT. PAY BOOST

Chiefs of Five Unions Vote for Move Wednesday in Chicago

Chiefs of the five operating railroad unions decided Wednesday to seek a 30 per cent pay increase, or a minimum raise of $3 a day, for their 350,000 members.

The decision was reached 11 weeks after leaders of the 15 non-operating labor organizations asked a wage boost of 20 cents an hour for 900,000 rail line workers.

As a result of the action of both groups American railroads faced requests to place millions of additional dollars in the pay envelopes of 1,250,000 employes.

Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a spokesman for the five operating unions, stated wage increases were necessary because of the "excessive" hours and added responsibilities of the workers, a manpower shortage, higher living costs and the "inequality" of railroad pay compared with the pay in other industries. He contended many skilled men were leaving rail line jobs to take war jobs at higher pay.

The girl scout leaders met last Monday and the following carols were chosen for the carollers to sing this year: The First Noel, Silent Night, O Little Town of Bethlehem, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing, and Oh, Come All Ye Faithful.

The girl scouts are asked to watch the time and meeting place of the carollers. If you know of any invalids who would like to have us carol for them, call Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, telephone 319.

BARGAINS

If you are thinking of buying a musical instrument for your boy or girl for Christmas, it will pay you to see me before you buy elsewhere, as I can save you money on anything from a piano to the smallest article in accessories.

I have some very good buys on Saxophones, Baritones, Drums, Guitars, Violins, Trombones, Cornets, Clarinets, Banjos, Music Stands, Harmonicas, Reeds, Valve and Slide Oils, and numerous other articles.

Yes I have sold a number of very fine pianos at a big saving. Ask the people that have purchased these pianos. My prices for piano tuning are the same as before the war, but being that I have several orders for tunings on my books, it will be necessary for you to place your order at once, if it is to be done before Christmas.

Don't forget to remember the blackout Monday night. For a few minutes an area several states large is supposed to go entirely black. It is the dress rehearsal that we all hope will be a wasted effort. None of us wants the actual emergency to occur but it is well that we know what to do if it does occur. To cooperate requires little effort and regardless of how remote the possibility of an air raid may be, the effort is well worth while.

A special thirty per cent discount on light bills for the month of December was voted by the council this week. This little dividend will be greatly appreciated after the first of the year when folks normally wonder where the money disappeared to during the holidays.

The administration that is doing a swell job on the diplomatic and war fronts continues to do a rotten job handling the nation's finances. Rotten is the right word. It stinks. The national debt passed the 100 billion dollar mark last week. By the end of 1943 it is expected to increase another fifty billion dollars. Maybe it isn't patriotic under present circumstances to question the government's ability to pay back the money it is borrowing and spending so recklessly. It is true that in time of war we must be less critical of mistakes than in time of peace. But wars do not justify continued and deliberate waste of public funds. In financial matters the present administration never has been and is not now honest with the people. The politicians who prate of the security they are providing for the masses are creating a condition that is going to bring misery to the masses. Instead of distributing wealth the government is dissipating it. The debts now being contracted will be paid. All debts are paid, but not always in the manner people expect them to be. We all are now living at government expense, enjoying a prosperity that is based on borrowing. We are headed for the financial bow-wows because an administration that thinks in terms of ward politics is afraid to either change its course or apply the brakes.

There are 245 stars in Lincoln High School's service flag, dedicated at a meeting of the Parents and Teachers Association this week. That is the number of graduates definitely accounted for so far and is not complete. The figure is sufficiently large however to be impressive. These 245 men are now scattered over the world and before the war ends many of them will have fought on several continents. Their records, assembled in one volume, would make an interesting book.

War news continues favorable but there is no justification for hopes of easy victories. The hard fighting is ahead of us and we are going to suffer reverses along with our victories. It is to be expected that the Axis powers will make a desperate attempt to win before they resign themselves to defeat. When they break they probably will break fast but there is no indication yet that they are starting to crack. It is better to overestimate the strength of the enemy and overprepare than to underestimate and underprepare. The men who are directing our war activities are not taking chances. Time is in our favor and it is encouraging to know that our advances are being made carefully and cautiously. Those of us who remain at home can afford to be patient and accept our horrible inconveniences with a smile.

Saturday is the logical day for week-end shopping but so many shoppers do the logical thing that Saturday actually is a poor day to shop. Because of the difficulty in securing competent help, store service is not too good on any day at the present time. On Saturdays it is especially bad. Shoppers who can rearrange their schedules without too much inconvenience should do their buying on other days of the week as much as possible. Now during the Christmas rush this would be helpful.

We hear quite a few comments about the absence of Christmas street decorations this year. No, this is not an indication that the village is losing its zip. Plans for decorations as usual had been made and then Uncle Sam requested that all such folderol be omitted as a part of the war effort. For the duration special street lighting is out.

FAMILY MAN

As a crowded London bus came to a standstill, a stout, middle-aged man descended the stairs carrying a small girl.

Tenderly placing his burden on the curb, he ascended the stairs again and shortly returned carrying a tiny dog. Placing the dog beside the child, he returned upstairs and again descended bearing a second child, which he stood beside the first. Once more he ascended the stairs and again returned, carrying a third youngster.

These evolutions were eagerly observed by a passenger seated inside the bus who, as father proceeded to dismount with his third offspring, exclaimed: "Lumme, 'e must 'ave a nest up there!"

When Your Child Must Stay in Bed

Have you ever been tempted to let a convalescent child get up and run about before it is safe for him to do so, because it is so hard to keep him in bed? Of course a sick child's mother cannot be with him all the time, nor would it be good for him to become dependent on her. Occupations can be provided that will keep children absorbed and happy for long stretches, without taxing them. Pictures hung on a screen or at the foot of the bed may be changed often, so that there is something new to look at. Old magazines can be used in many ways—an older child likes to clip and send away coupons, a younger one enjoys cutting out the pictures, or coloring them and making a scrap-book, or using the fashion plates for paper dolls. Puzzles are good if they are simple. Crayons, paints, plasticene and plastic wood can be used, if an old sheet or piece of oilcloth is spread over the bed. Little children love to deck themselves out in another's discarded beads and bracelets, or make multi-colored ones of salt and flour paste, with vegetable coloring. The family button-box provides fun for an imaginative child. A mail-order catalogue lends itself to any number of uses.

If a child's bed can be placed near a window, the passing cars and people make him feel less alone. Moving a child for part of the day to another room than the one he has become tired of will cheer him up. Company, in the shape of goldfish, a canary, or a new stuffed animal, will make him feel less lonely.

A convalescent child should be carefully guarded from over-excitement, consequently the use of the radio must be closely watched and the type of program controlled. A phonograph has the advantage that, once suitable records have been chosen by the mother, the child can play them at will. A harmonica, castanets, bells, and other simple musical instruments give a child the fun of producing his own music.

Many an older child has learned to knit or crochet while in bed, and has whiled away hours making something for her doll. An older boy may find pleasure in making a model airplane, in sorting and labelling a collection he has made, or in pasting the snapshots reminiscent of a summer outing into a scrap-book.

There are times when playthings pall, and a quiet game is in order. Even quite small children enjoy playing with mother or an older child the old rhyming games that goes, "I see something that rhymes with . . ." In guessing "Is it . . . ? or . . . ?" a child's vocabulary is constantly being added to, and much interesting conversation is provoked. "Teakettle" and "The Minister's Cat" are other old favorites that still please little children.

It is a good idea to have rest periods, when the room is darkened and everything is quiet, at fairly frequent intervals, in the interest of preventing overstimulation and fatigue.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 2nd, 1942

Pursuant to call for special meeting the County Board of Pennington County met at the office of the County Auditor at 3 to P. M. December 2nd, 1942.

Present: Bredeson, Mulry, Mandt, Race and Roy.

Absent: None.

The order of the State Department of Taxation dated November 28th, 1942, whereby the assessment of Pennington County for 1942 was increased as follows:

10% increase in the true and full value of Lands, Buildings and Improvements, in the Township, 20% increase on Item 30-B, 10% on Item 30-K, 30% on Item 37-A, all in Class 3-B. Personal Property was taken up for consideration, as the order of Department of Taxation provided for hearing to be held in St. Paul at 10:00 A. M., December 5th, 1942, in event objection was to be made to the order of the Department of Taxation.

It was the unanimous opinion of the Board that the order of the Department of Taxation should be rejected inasmuch as the County Board of Equalization had made a 25% decrease in platted lands as compared to prior years, and that the amount of Personal Property as listed under Class 3-B, Items 30-B, 30-K, 37-A, is not enough in this County to make a material difference in the amount of taxes.

Moved by Commissioner Mulry and seconded by Commissioner Mandt that the Board adjourn to December 8th, 1942. Carried.

ALFRED BREDESON,
Chairman of County Board

Attest: A. M. Senstad,
County Auditor.

Women AT WAR

Betsy

The little girl tugged gently at her mother's sleeve.

"Now, Mother?" she asked. "Now can't we write my letter?"

"Why of course, Betsy," Mrs. Carson grinned. "Are you going to write it or am I?"

"Well," Betsy said. "Maybe you'd better kind of say it to me. Only I'd love to write it."

"All right, then, Miss Carson, take a letter," her mother said, walking slowly up and down the room. "Ready? 'Dear Mr. Morgenthau: The way I save money for War Stamp buying is to steer all the small household jobs toward my daughter, who is eight years old. She is so keen about buying War Stamps that I know all the money I might have paid to someone else for doing the jobs will go toward Victory when paid to her.'

"Now make a list, Betsy. 'Windows washed, 60 cents. Apples picked from under the tree, 27 cents. Emptied trash cans, 4 cents. Sold string beans from the garden, 15 cents. Sold strips of spoiled film to children for sun-gazing, at one cent a yard, 20 cents. Total, $1.24. Yours helpfully, I hope,'—and then I'll sign it at the bottom."

Betsy was puffing like a grampus from her labors. The tall, painstaking letters followed bravely across the sheet of paper. Gravely Mrs. Carson took the pen to sign.

"Mother, would it be the proper etiquette if I signed it too?"

"Perfectly proper, I think," Mrs. Carson said without a smile, and handed the pen back to Betsy.

Yule Briefs

Christmas town—Bethlehem, Pa.—was founded on Christmas eve, 1741.

Puritans had many odd ideas about Christmas. Many attempts were made to abolish it and Thanksgiving was sponsored as a substitute.

The Poles call Christmas "Boze Narodzenie," meaning "God's Nativity."

In Australia Christmas is celebrated with picnics and trips in the open.

Shoes replace stockings at the fireplace in France, Spain, and Holland at Christmas.

Uncle Willie Mullins says—

One of my biggest investments is War Bonds. I insist on putting at least 10% of all my earnings into War Bonds from New Year's on!

LOOK Lady

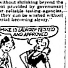
By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

When the American Institute of Laundering says an article is washable it means that, under normal conditions in the average laundry, the article can be safely reconditioned. And, in laundry language, safely reconditioned means preserving the appearance of the article as well as removing soil.

For instance: If a housedress fades, or trimmings pull loose, or a hemline twists out of shape, or the pockets fade a lighter shade than the main part of the dress—the appearance of that dress definitely is ruined. It might be as clean as the proverbial whistle but its value to you is practically nil.

If this happened in the professional laundry, that dress would not be considered launderable because you wouldn't call it wearable when it was returned to you.

That's why the American Institute of Laundering says, "pure cotton and pure linen fabrics, whether in sheets, pillow cases, towels and other household linens or wearing apparel, are washable only when, under normal or average conditions prevailing in the professional laundry, they can be washed without fading, without shrinking beyond the 2 per cent provided by government and other reliable testing agencies, or when they can be washed without the material becoming sleazy."



MINE IS LAUNDRY-TESTED AND APPROVED

"Pretty is as pretty does" might be what Sorry Sue is thinking as she compares her own shrunken dress with the spic and span appearance of Happy Hannah's laundry-tested and approved-for-launderability dress.

In giving its laundry tested and approved seal, the American Institute of Laundering goes a step further and includes threads tested and approved as non-fadeable and buttons as non-breakable.

And, if any of these things occur to your articles at the laundry, you may be sure they would happen in home laundering, too, "for such faults lie in the construction of the article itself rather than in the laundering method."

Pointed Paragraphs

Moth Is Sneak Thief

For a big, husky man to let a frail little moth steal the overcoat right off his back seems pretty silly until we learn mama moth doesn't just walk up and snatch the coat. Instead, she sneaks quietly under coat lapels, deep into pockets, or up under the lining to concealed seams. Utterly unaware he's harboring a thief in the dark, the poor man hangs his coat in a far corner of the closet and, more than likely, forgets it until the chill of autumn jogs his memory. Too late, he then discovers mama moth's young have fed on his overcoat all summer. All of which could have been prevented by having the coat thoroughly cleaned and then stored in that attractive cedar chest the little woman has been hinting for ever since she discovered modern cedar chests are handsome pieces of functional furniture, styled and veneered to fit into any room in the house.

Trailerites Solid Citizens

Now that trailer coaches have settled down to war-service, they are strictly substantial family affairs. More than 65 per cent of the families living in them have one or more children, which means increased attendance at local schools and Sunday schools.

'Only Congress Has Power'

"If the laboring man is to be required to join an organized group in order to work because of some overriding social policy, the compulsion must take the form of new legislation. . . . It can be brought into existence only by Congress. It cannot be created by executive or administrative fiat."—From an Inland Steel Company brief questioning the power of the War Labor Board to impose the closed shop on war industry.

War Intensifies Schooling

Presidents and faculty members are cooperating with the Board of Education of the Methodist Church to intensify the wartime programs of the 125 Methodist colleges and universities throughout the country. Dr. Harry Wright McPherson, secretary of the Board in Nashville, said their slogan, "Methodist Schools Excel," will have even greater meaning in providing education with a Christian basis.

"Only by accelerating the school curriculum," Dr. McPherson said, "can we hope to continue to fit our young people before entering the war effort with the necessary background of Christian education to prepare them for war and post war world conditions."

Silk and Nylon Hosiery Out

Rayon will be used in 90% of women's full fashioned hose by August 1. The remaining 10% of women's full fashioned hose will be made of cotton—according to John Sherman, chief of the knit goods section of the WPB in addressing the American Federation of Hosiery Workers in Philadelphia.

A Few Little Smiles

THE EVIDENCE

The prison warder was examining a new batch of convicts.

"Here," he said to one of them, "sign your name on this blank."

"Sorry," said the prisoner, shaking his head; "I can't sign it."

The warder was amazed.

"Why can't you sign it?"

"Because," answered the prisoner, "I can't write."

"Oh, I see," said the warder. He reflected a moment. Then: "What are you here for?"

"Forgery."

"What!" cried the warder. "How could you be convicted of forgery when you can't even write?"

The convict shook his head again.

"Well, I think I had a bad lawyer!"

Unending

I asked her if she'd marry me
She plainly answered "no"
You can imagine how I felt
It was an awful blow.

I said, "Then all is over Between us, I suppose?"
"Oh, no!" she said, "You still can take Me out to 'eats' and shows."

Prodigy

Mrs. Clark—Our Bessie is the brightest little child you ever saw. She picks up everything she hears.

Mrs. Smith—Something like our Johnnie; he picks up everything he sees.

GOOD REASON

"Let's get married right away, dear?"

"No, dear, I've already bought my winter outfit. I won't need any more clothes now till spring."

Routine

Two friends, who had not seen each other for several years, met again, unexpectedly, as neighbors in a new suburban place.

"Hello, Bilkins; who are you working for now?" asked Simkins, over the garden fence.

"Same people," was the cheery answer. "A wife and five children."

Commercial

The Villager—When my father first settled here he could have bought this town for a mere song.

The Visitor—Why didn't he?

The Villager—Father never had any ear for music.

Secret

The Man—Of course you understand, dear, that our engagement must be kept secret?

The Woman—Oh, yes, dear! I tell everybody that.

Thinking

"Have you ever thought seriously of marriage?"

"I have ever since I got married a month ago."

Caught On

"She says he is not such a good catch, after all."

"She says that, eh? He must have dropped her."

TRAGIC

"What's the matter with your wife?"

"She got a terrible jar at a sale yesterday."

"How'd that happen?"

"She was told it was the latest thing in vases."

Poem

He told the shy maid of his love
But on the shoulder of his coat
It showed for several weeks.

Suds Cleans Leather

Leather davenports can be successfully cleaned with a thick suds of mild, neutral soap, with as little water as possible. The important thing to remember is to do only a small area at a time, wiping off all traces of the soap suds with a damp cloth as the work progresses. The surface should be dried and polished with a soft dry cloth.

COL. NELSON CITES NEW REGULATIONS FOR REGISTRANTS

Required to Have Notice of Classification on Their Person

Registrants under selective service are required to have in their possession at all times their current notice of classification, Colonel J. E. Nelson, state director of selective service, announced today. This card must be carried in addition to the registration certificate which all registrants are required to carry at all times.

It was pointed out that this latest ruling applies to every registrant who is within any age group which has been liable for training and service for six months.

Strong emphasis was also placed on the fact that the notice of classification must be exhibited to any authorized official upon request. Such authorized officials include representatives of the secretary of state, secretary of treasury, or attorney general, any official of national or state headquarters for selective service, any member of a local board or appeal board, any government appeal agent, and any other official designated by the director of selective service.

The notice of classification is surrendered to the person's commanding officer at the time of entry into service.

Playing on the Teachers College floor at Bemidji Friday night the Prowlers dropped a 47 to 32 decision to a rangy, smooth-passing Bemidji Lumberjack team. The Prowlers' new coach, Glenn Hanna, will make his introduction to the local fans Friday night when he directs the Prowlers in a basketball double-header against Climax and oReseau. Climax, with the season but a couple of weeks old, has already scored triumphs over Crookston and East Grand Forks; while Roseau has been victorious over Hallock and Badger, and is heavily favored to retain its 32nd district title.

Using their superior height to good advantage in controlling the ball off the backboards—Corrigan, Groves, Feir and Crosby are all six-footers — and with Tommy Corrigan and Jack Robbins setting up the plays against the Prowlers three-in-and-two-out zone defense, Glenn Barnum's Bemidji aggregation over-powered the locals to post a 47 to 32 win Friday night. Don Berg opened the game's scoring with a free throw, but Phil Feir, Bemidji center, popped in a close shot to erase the lead. Milt Reierson, who tied for the game's high point honors, looped in a shot from out on the court.

Robbins, a sophomore, and son of Bemidji's former coach Buck Robbins, bounced in for a field goal. Both teams were playing fine basketball and the Prowlers, in particular, were connecting with their shots from the field and the free throw line, and the score was knotted at the end of the first period, 9-all. Bemidji, with Feir getting numerous set-up shots and doing the bulk of the scoring, pulled into a lead in the second period, outscoring the Prowlers, 12 to 6, to hold a 21 to 15 lead at the intermission.

Opening the second half Milt Reierson, Bill McKechnie, and Bill Bye pumped in long shots to narrow the Lumberjack margin, but Bemidji, with Robbins, Crosby, Corrigan, and Grover leading the scoring drive, boosted the blue-and-white score to 31 as the third period ended, with the Prowlers trailing by 8 points. The tired Prowlers faded in the final period, playing reckless basketball and making numerous long shot attempts, while Bemidji continued to drive through for close shots, marking up 16 points while the locals were registering 9 points.

Milt Reierson's six field goals, marking up two in the first half and four in the second half, tallied 12 points to tie Feir, who also connected for six field goals, for high point honors. Jack Melby, handicapped by an arm that was sore, having taken a diphtheria "shot", was held scoreless from the field, but he turned in a strong defensive game. Bill Bye, with 9 points, trailed Reierson for Prowler scoring honors, with Bill McKechnie chalking up 7 points, in spite of "losing" a point or two. Although Phil Feir topped the Bemidji scorers, the Lumberjacks most effective players were Tommy Corrigan and Jack Robbins.

Pennington County Egg Producers Nearing Goal

Farmers of Pennington county are well on their way toward achieving their "Food for Freedom" goal of 829,000 dozen eggs this year, production statistics issued by The U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate. The figures show that, despite a shortage of labor which has taxed the ingenuity and lengthened the work day of most operators, the goal already is in sight.

Cal Colvin Week

You really are seeing double when you see Cal Colvin's name listed twice in the Business league's honor roll. The explanation for the oddity is that the Times team, on which Cal is the anchor man, bowled two matches during the week. One of the matches was a roll-off of a postponement, and Cal came through with a 607 total in that series. In the week's regularly scheduled match, Cal posted a 642 total and that won runner-up honors. It must be quite a sensation to be runner-up to yourself.

Schmidt With the Bruins

Marly Dorn was telling me of an item in the Williams Northern Light which stated that Clarence Schmidt, the fine, stick-handling defense man that Kip Kaapl had on his Williams high school hockey team last year, is being given a tryout by the Boston Bruins of the National hockey league. It stated that a scout had covered Schmidt's play during the junior hockey tournament here last spring, and on the basis of that scout's favorable report, Schmidt was called up for the tryout. Comment among the local fans leads to the belief that Eveleth's Cliff Thompson was the scout that put the "eye" on young Schmidt. The fact that Clarence is only 16 years old, being a senior in high school, made him doubly attractive to the Bruins, because that gives him a couple of years leeway before being called by selective service. It's not expected, though, that he will stick with the Bruins, but it's a good bet that they will keep a string on him.

Sergeant Beverly

I learned from Alex Campbell, who received a long letter from George Beverly, former coach and defense man of the Thieves, that Bev is a full-fledged sergeant in the R. C. A. F. Bev graduated from an air force technical school in August as a wireless operator, and after training at the air bases at Lethbridge and Guelph, he earned his wings as a wireless air gunner. He is stationed in Nova Scotia, but expects to be sent overseas shortly. As a romantic footnote, Bev added that he is planning on being married this month, to a Winnipeg girl.

The Regional Favorites

I didn't see the Prowlers play at Bemidji on Friday, but I had a couple of scouts, Wayne Bredeson and Billy Claffy, at the game. They told me, and Wayne was pretty emphatic about it, that the Bemidji Lumberjacks must be given top ranking on the list of teams that are labeled as threats to Bagley's regional title. Glenn Barnum has plenty of size on his club, with Phil Feir towering six feet, four inches; Harlan Grover at six feet, two inches; and Tom Corrigan and Clarence Crosby at six feet. Jack Robbins is the only member of the starting five that doesn't reach the six-foot mark. That kind of height is quite an asset in high school basketball, and the Lumberjacks have fair speed to go with their height. By the way, you will get a glimpse at another team that is being touted as a regional threat tomorrow night when Roseau plays here. Roseau's the team, you know that defeated Bemidji in the consolation game in the regional last year, and the reports are that Roseau lost only one man through graduation.

A Couple of Tough Ones

The Prowlers in their first game under coach Glenn Hanna, bump into a pair of tough games tomorrow night, meeting Climax and Roseau. Climax, which is billed to play the reserves, is actually first team competition, having posted wins over Crookston and East Grand Forks. The Vikings are an all-veteran team, and in Bob Nelson they have one of the districts's finest scorers. Bob's a three-year man, and other three-year men on the team are Gust Olne and Duane Howland, and Del Galserud and Al Runess are playing their second year. Climax defeated the Prowler reserves last year and they should be favored to do so again.

Roseau lost bespectacled Martin Hegland through graduation, but they have Berdeen Braatad, Jim Lundbohm, John Dahlgren, and Van Dieter as returning regulars. They are pretty much of cinch of being in the regional next spring.

The two games will be fine tests for the Prowlers and will give Coach Hanna an idea of what the boys can do under pressure. Hanna has been getting acquainted with his squad, and has made some revisions in the offense and defense, but he will move slowly until he learns the capabilities of the squad. Bud Eide reported for practice on Tuesday, and that gives the squad strength a boost. Bud played a lot of ball with the reserves last year until he injured his ankle late in the season.

Odd Fellows Lodge Picks Lunke for Noble Grand

Scrambled Eggs Galore at Terrebonne Saturday

A huge truckload of fresh eggs, valued at nearly $2,000, became badly scrambled at Terrebonne last Saturday when the truck coasted from its parking place down the main street and over the bank, the vehicle rolling over. The truck was owned by a Fargo creamery and operated by a Mr. Kist of Mahnomen.

If every family in the U. S. returned ten pennies to circulation, the more than 1,000 tons of copper needed to replace them could go to make war weapons.

PLANS NOW GOING AHEAD FOR VALLEY SHOWS FEB. 1 TO 5

President McCall Gives Details of Annual Event at Crookston

Plans for the 1943 Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston February 1-5, 1943, are progressing according to schedule, states T. M. McCall, president of the Winter Shows board of managers. Negotiations are now underway with national authorities on world events for the evening meetings which start on Feruary 2 and close on February 5.

Ten subcollegiate judging teams from North and South Dakota and Minnesota and fifteen high school judging teams have now entered the general livestock, dairy and crops judging contests scheduled for Monday, February 1.

"Food for Victory" is the slogan for the week's meetings for men starting with the Crops Day on Tuesday, February 2, and followed by Livestock Day on February 3; Potato Day, February 4; and Poultry Day, February 5.

Authorities from the University of Minnesota, Northwest Experiment station, commercial organizations, state department of agriculture, American Red Cross and National Livestock and Meat Board will bring the latest information on subjects of vital importance to the men's and women's meetings.

The women's meetings will devote one day to each of the following subjects beginning on February 2; Red Cross, Health and Physical Fitness, Foods, and Clothing.

The Livestock Show has a total of 365 animals listed for entry with an entry closing date of January 15. The livestock sales, scheduled for February 4 and 5, have 185 animals consigned, which will make the largest sales in years. Col. Fred Reppert of Decatur, Indiana, has been secured as auctioneer for the livestock sales.

December 15 Final Day to Make Application for Ration Book No. 1

Anyone who does not have a War Ration Book No. 1 has until Tuesday, December 15, to get one, the Office of Price Administration said.

Possession of a War Ration Book No. 1, it explained, is important for two reasons.

First, a person who does not have one cannot buy coffee. Stamps from this book are necessary for purchase of coffee under rationing.

Second, a person who does not have one cannot register for War Ration Book No. 2 around the first of the year, and this book will be the most important ration book yet.

Persons who don't have their War Ration Book No. 1 can apply at their local ration boards for one. Persons who registered last spring but did not get a book because of their sugar holdings need only explain the situation to their boards and get a book now. Persons who have moved since registering last spring should advise the board of their former board location, OPA said.

Gov. Stassen Endorses Universal Bible Sunday

Governor Harold E. Stassen endorses the observance of Universal Bible Sunday next Sunday, December 13. The American Bible Society, which sponsors the celebration that will be held in tens of thousands of churches throughout the country, has received the following word from Governor Stassen: "I am very happy to join with the American Bible Society in urging universal observance of Universal Bible Sunday — December 13th."

U. S. Seamen Celebrate Christmas

Hot or cold, rain or shine, clear or cloudy, and wherever they might be, U. S. sailors always celebrate Christmas in their own way. Here, in gale jackets while in the Arctic zone, these seamen play, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing."

Farmers Not to be Hurt in War Necessity Plan

The following message to the farmers, stock raisers and dairymen of the Northwest was issued this week by the Office of Defense Transportation. No farmer is to be put out of business as a result of the office's certificate of war necessity plan.

As long as the tires, spare parts and gasoline are available, the ODT will help every farmer get enough tires, spare parts and gasoline to carry on his necessary truck operations.

Any farmer who is dissatisfied with the amount of mileage and gasoline allowed in his certificate of war necessity for his truck or trucks should take the matter up immediately with his county agent, his county war board or his county farm transportation committee.

If these agencies are convinced that any farmer should have been granted more mileage and gasoline in his certificate of war necessity he will recommend that a revised certificate be issued. This recommendation will be made to the ODT district manager serving the county in which the farmer lives.

All ODT district managers have been instructed from Washington to accept the recommendations of the county farm transportation committees, unless such recommendations contain obvious errors.

Farmers who have received certificates allowing them sufficient mileage and gasoline for a limited period are urged to delay filing appeals with their county farm transportation committees until those whose certificates contain obvious errors have been taken care of.

If a certificate does not contain an obvious error, the farmer's war price and rationing board will grant him a gasoline ration in an amount provided by the certificate. In accepting such a ration, the farmer does not forfeit his right to appeal for an additional gasoline allowance later. Appeals may be filed at any time.

If a farmer has received a certificate which does not allow enough gasoline to operate the mileage allowed in the certificate or which contains other errors obvious on the face of the certificate, the farmer should do two things:

First he should go to his war price and rationing board present his certificate and ask for a temporary transport ration. This ration will be granted by the ration board, giving the farmer enough gasoline to operate until January 1.

Then the farmer should take his certificate to his county agent, county war board or county farm transportation committee and point out that an error apparently has been made. The county farm transportation committee will take up all such cases with the proper ODT district manager. Cases which are referred to the county agent or the county war board by farmers will be turned over to the County Farm Transportation committee for handling.

Any farmer who has applied for but who has not yet received his certificate of war necessity should report this fact directly to his local war price and rationing board and obtain a temporary transport ration, which will give him sufficient gasoline to operate through December.

The purpose of the war certificate plan, ODT officials emphasized, is to allow truck and bus operators, including farmers, sufficient gasoline, tires and parts for their essential needs. Any farmer who has been issued a certificate of war necessity which does not take care of his essential needs, is urged to take the matter up at once with his county agent, county war board or county farm transportation committee.

At the same time, ODT officials urged farmers to take advantage of every opportunity to save tires, pointing out that the country's 5,000,000 commercial motor vehicles must get along during the next year with less than half the rubber that was consumed in 1941.

Two State 4-H Members Among U. S. Healthiest

Minnesota 1942 4-H club health queen and king were among the six youngsters picked as the healthiest club members in the United States at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last week.

Nancy Lu Kingzett of Perley, Norman county, and Norman D. Ramey of Redwood Falls, were named state health champions last fall following medical examinations conducted at state Christmas Seal headquarters.

"I am not at all surprised to hear that both of Minnesota's champions went on to national honors in Chicago," said Dr. E. A. Meyerding, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association, who has directed the medical examinations of the contestants for the past ten years. "We have noticed remarkable improvement in the health of the 4-H club boys and girls coming in for examination each year and the 1942 lot had a better record than any previous group."

HE SAID HE'D DO IT, AND HE DID

Rushmore. — Walking into the bowling alley and writing down the score you hope to make might be wishful thinking but not so with H. Van Regenmorter. He strolled into the local bowling alley one day last week, casually wrote down 174—made a couple bets and in the seventh frame with only 26, bet again that his score would be 174. He rolled three strikes with eight back, collected his bets and walked out.

Not Transferable

Old age assistance is not transferable from one state to another. A beneficiary moving to another state would have to meet the qualifications of the state, including requirements, to receive old age assistance there.

SHOULD LIST PART TIME WORKERS FOR SOCIAL SECURITY

Agency Manager at Bemidji Calls Attention to Regulation

Marlin J. Haack, manager of the Bemidji field office of the Social Security Board, today reminded all employers to be certain to list part-time as well as full time employees on quarterly returns submitted to Arthur D. Reynolds, collector of internal revenue.

"It is essential," said Mr. Haack, "that this be done in order that every worker be properly credited on his old age and survivor's insurance record. The proper reporting of wages of all employees, male and female, children and adults, precludes 'check-up' visits by this office later."

Mr. Haack stated that the annual pre-Christmas rush for social security account numbers is again underway and that this year, more so than ever before, there is a noticeable increase in the number of children and women applicants.

Every worker must have a social security account number card, and only one account number, it was pointed out. A person's social security account number is the important part of his old age and survivors insurance account—as important as a policy to a holder of private insurance.

State Salvage Deputy Chief Asks Sustained Drive for Scrap Metal

Weekly newspapers of Minnesota, North and South Dakota did a "magnificent job" in the recent newspaper scrap salvage campaign, Paul C. Cabot of Washington, deputy director of the conservation division of the War Production Board, said today.

Although collections of scrap have been very satisfactory to date, Mr. Cabot said that salvage work must be continued without any relaxation for the duration of the war. Scrap now in dealers yards constitutes a valuable "backlog" for future steel production, he said, but if scrap collections lag this backlog could be eaten away within some 60 days.

"Demands for scrap iron and steel are enormous," Mr. Cabot pointed out. "They will continue for the duration of the war. We must continue our scrap work steadily, without any resting on our oars. The weekly press of the northwest and the nation can be of invaluable assistance to us in keeping on with salvage work."

GRACEVILLE MAN BAGS TWO DEER WITH ONE SHOT

Graceville.—A golfer says with pride "I made a hole in one" but a hunter who says "I killed two deer with one shot" really has done a once-in-a-lifetime accomplishment. That is what happened to A. Travnicek during the recent deer hunting season. Mr. Travnicek sighted two deer, the one closest to him being slightly ahead of the other. He aimed for the forward animal, the shot wounded it and went on to pierce the jugular vein of the second one. The shot hit the stomach of the first animal and it took three or four more to kill it.

Course in Cryptography

Hunter college, New York, is giving an evening course in cryptography, for study of secret writing, codes and ciphers.

Although only about 4 per cent of Eastern householders with fuel oil furnaces have switched to coal, about 2,850,000 barrels of light fuel oil will be saved. Conversion by 50 per cent of fuel users would save 36 million barrels.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

Coca-Cola
5¢
The best is always the better buy!

ABILITY to do an extra job takes an extra something. Coca-Cola has it. There are many things for thirst but Coca-Cola does far more than just quench thirst. It brings you a unique taste you enjoy ... and unique refreshment you feel.

In the making of Coca-Cola, there's a finished art that comes from a lifetime of practice. It takes the skill of 57 years of "know how" in blending certain special flavor-essences with all the other ingredients to produce an original unique taste all its own ... a taste you never tire of. It never cloys. You and your thirst could ask for nothing more than ice-cold Coca-Cola. Because ice-cold Coca-Cola is the real thing in refreshment. It's all refreshment ... pure refreshment.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

HALF NOVEMBER TRAFFIC DEATHS ARE PEDESTRIANS

Total of 30 Persons Died in Traffic Accidents in Past Month

The high ratio of pedestrian deaths in Minnesota during November slowed the momentum of the statewide "Save 100 Lives" campaign. Nevertheless, traffic fatalities have been reduced 66%, with a resultant saving of 220 lives, during the first half year of war-time speed restrictions.

The state highway department's preliminary monthly report records 30 traffic deaths during November of which approximately half, an abnormal percentage, were pedestrians. John E. Casey, state chairman of the Minnesota Editorial Association's traffic accident reduction campaign, declared that the experiences of November and other recent months show that the load of traffic safety responsibility is by comparison resting more and more upon the pedestrians. Motorist deaths have declined at an astounding and encouraging rate with the enforcement of a slower speed and the general reduction in travel.

"Restrictions upon the use of automobiles, now growing more rigid than ever with the rationing of gasoline, will vastly increase the army of pedestrians", Mr. Casey said. "Thousands of those who are walking to work, taking street cars in the larger cities, or waiting on street corners and roadsides in the swap-a-ride program are new recruits in this pedestrian army and, therefore, are not experienced walkers.

"It may sound strange to refer to "unexperienced pedestrians', but the man or woman on foot who is not accustomed to the hazards of pedestrian traffic is just as much a novice in traffic as is the man or woman behind the wheel of an automobile who has not had experience in driving."

Traffic fatalities for the month just closed constituted a reduction of 19% below the 49 traffic deaths occurring during November of 1941. This was a far smaller reduction than occurred during the previous month of October when the fatalities for the month were cut to 26 as compared to 79 for October of 1941, a reduction of 67%.

SHOT GRAZES WINDPIPE, COLLARBONE HARMLESSLY

Carlton. — To come out of a freak hunting accident such as Carl Asproth recently experienced with scarcely a bit of harm is hardly believable. Shooting at a buck deer a half dozen times, until his gun was empty, and still not killing it, he grabbed the animal by one hind leg and hung on to it. Another member of his hunting party seeing the deer's head bob up and down but not seeing Carl, took aim and the bullet grazed his windpipe and collarbone and passed on out. Rushed to the hospital doctors found the would superficial and with no serious result.

ASK 1,000 STUDENT NURSES IN STATE BY JUNE 1ST, 1943

Chairman of State Committee Tells of Acute Shortage

One thousand girls must enter schools of nursing in Minnesota between now and June 1, 1943, if Minnesota is to meet the quota set for it by the National Nursing Council for War Service, according to Miss Laura Draper, chairman of the State Nurses' association's committee on student nurse recruitment.

"The nursing situation is serious," she continued. "Many graduates have gone into military service, with the result that the hospitals are already struggling with greatly reduced nurse personnel. In addition, the loss of physicians throws added responsibility upon nurses who remain.

"Despite all this, the military needs are not met. The Red Cross is at this moment appealing to all eligible nurses to go into military service at once; they cannot be spared even until after the holidays. Because of the urgency of the need, married nurses are now accepted."

The entrance of capable girls into schools of nursing is the most direct and practical way of meeting this emergency, and the schools are doing their part by organizing so as to admit larger classes, and to admit classes more frequently. The success of these efforts depends, however, upon their receiving sufficient applications from well-qualified candidates.

Nine Minnesota schools at present are able to furnish some scholarship assistance to entering students.

Qualifications specify that an applicant should be in good health, should be between 18 and 30 or 35 years of age, and should have a record of good scholarship. Most schools state that she should have graduated in the upper third of her high school class, although some admit applicants who have graduated in the upper half.

White House Tree

Even the White House puts on an extra decoration for the Yule holidays. The tree here is just outside the main entrance of the President's home.

Poinsettia Lacks Yule Tradition

The poinsettia has no Christmas tradition. Possessing beautiful red and green leaves (the flowers themselves being the small yellow centers), and being available at this season, the brilliance and color of this plant add much to Christmas decorations. The plant is native to Central America and Mexico and was adapted some years ago to cultivation by Dr. Poinsett of Charleston, S. C. It is distinctly modern and American.

WOULD INVEST TEN MILLION HIGHWAY RESERVE IN BONDS

Commissioner M. J. Hoffman to Make Suggestion to Legislature

Speaking before the national convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials at St. Louis Tuesday, State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann disclosed that he will recommend to the convening legislature that it authorize the investment of $10,000,000 of state highway revenues, now set aside for the post-war construction fund and other reserves, in short-term U. S. securities.

Monies available in the state's trunk highway fund and trunk highway sinking fund, earmarked for the post-war construction program and other anticipated requirements, if invested in certain war bonds could now be earning $4,000 and $5,000 a month, Commissioner Hoffmann said. However, neither the state board of allotment nor the state investment board has authority under present laws to so invest them.

Although the post-war reserve funds are set aside in good faith for extensive highway construction which it is recognized will be urgent throughout Minnesota after the war, Commissioner Hoffmann pointed out that they, like highway department operating balances, could safely be invested only in short-term or callable securities. Because of the uncertainties of future revenues, the state highway department has no way of knowing when or how deeply it may eventually have to cut into them, in the event of a long war, in order to meet annual bonded debt charges and finance essential current operations.

Minnesota's bonded debt charges, the Minnesota commissioner asserted, will be approximately $1,500,000 a year including interest, and this annual obligation must be paid regardless of how drastic may be the drop in receipts from gasoline and motor vehicle taxes as a result of gas rationing and other necessary war-time restrictions.

He cited that eastern states which have been rationed for several months, already anticipate grave financial problems in carrying on essential maintenance, public safety and administrative activities and in meeting the necessary payments for bonds and interest. Such highway fund balances or reserves as they have been able to accumulate were, like those established in Minnesota, made possible by the fact that all construction, other than projects absolutely essential according to war-time standards was restricted almost a year ago, while the war-time curtailment of travel is only recently beginning to be reflected in major reductions of highway revenue.

Minnesota will not begin to feel the full force of gas rationing on highway income for two months or more because of the length of time required before curtailments in gasoline use are reflected in gas tax collections. Nor will the full effect of travel restriction upon motor vehicle license tax revenues be realized until the 1944 license tax has been paid late in 1943.

School Buses Can't be Used for Sports Events

Many a northwest community which has made its school bus double in sports events will be without this kind of transportation this winter. The Office of Defense Transportation says that conserving rubber for the nation's war needs far outweighs the need of buses for sports transportation. The agency's views were contained in a letter to nine school superintendents who hoped school buses would be exempt from the rubber conservation program so that interscholastic basketball could be continued. ODT said adequate physical training can be maintained in the schools without creating the need for special bus service.

Fathers and Sons Inducted Into Army

Extra Tires Should be Turned in by Dec. 12

Motorists who have neglected to turn in their extra tires in the mileage rationing program are warned by the Office of Price Administration that these tires must be turned in to a Railway Express Agency office by Saturday, December 12.

No motorist under the rationing program may keep more than five tires for each car that he owns and buy gasoline legally beginning Saturday, December 12, the OPA says.

Motorists should notify the nearest Railway Express Agency of their extra tires. If the agency, now busy with the annual Christmas rush, can't call for these tires, motorists will have to bring them in, the OPA said. The Railway Express Agency, designated as the official collector for the government, gives the motorists a receipt for the number of tires turned in. The motorist will be paid regular ceiling prices for the tires by the government in war bonds or stamps or a check.

Farm and Home Week at University Jan. 18-23

Busy Minnesota farmers and homemakers who attend the 43rd annual Farm and Home Week at University Farm, St. Paul, January 18-23, will study the best ways of meeting the responsibilities of wartime.

Theme of the week's programs will be "Strengthening the Home Base," says J. O. Christianson, director of agricultural short courses for the University of Minnesota. "Since Minnesota is a leading food exporting state, the success of our efforts are doubly important to the job of winning the war."

Classes will be aimed particularly at helping the farmer insure adequate food production in spite of shortages of manpower and material. There will be classes in the care of machinery and equipment, farm production, labor saving devices for farm and home, food and clothing conservation and many others on topics bearing directly on the contribution of the rural community in the war.

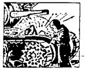
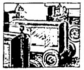
On Every Front

. . . General Electric equipment is fighting with America's land army. From the rolling kitchen to the front line, electricity works for victory.



1. In the factory electricity stitches the seams of tank armor, and on the battlefield it controls the operation of these spearheads of modern combat.

2. In induction center and field hospital, the X ray helps safeguard the health of our fighting men, aiding in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.



3. Far from the usual power sources, mobile power plants supply electricity for 800,000,000 candlepower searchlights by which a newspaper can be read 17 miles away.

4. Blitz war requires swift communications! On the soldier's back, in field and sky, radio co-ordinates the striking force of American army planes, guns, and tanks.

First Christmas Tree

In Strassburg, Germany, in 1604, the first Christmas tree appears in literature. It is thought that the custom of using Christmas trees in Germany spread from Strassburg.

When Queen Victoria married Prince Albert, he introduced the Christmas tree custom into England.

Hair Returned to Normal With New Acid, Claim

"Silver threads among the gold" are being turned gold again through daily doses of para-aminobenzoic acid, newest publicized member of the vitamin B family. The hair of gray-headed men and women as elderly as 65 years has been turned back to its normal shade in over 30 cases at Boston City hospital. Success in 300 other scattered cases was reported at a recent meeting of the American Chemical society. The newly identified antigray hair vitamin is found in yeast and liver.

Para-aminobenzoic acid is used in synthetic form and costs only around 10 cents a pound in large quantities. It should, however, be used under a physician's guidance because: When the 100-milligram daily doses required to restore hair color are given, blood pressure, in some instances, may be raised slightly. Despite this possible disadvantage no toxic effects of para-aminobenzoic acid have been observed. The antigray hair research has been conducted by the Warner Institute for Therapeutic Research and the International Vitamin corporation of New York city.

SCHOOL BOARD TAKES ACTION ON INSURANCE

Votes to Renew One Fifth of Policies for Period of Five Years

WILL MAKE ADVANCE PAYMENT ON BONDS

School Nurse Reports Only One Case of Diphtheria Among Pupils

The local board of education, at its December session Monday evening, voted to renew $99,300 in insurance policies covering school buildings and contents. The policies renewed, which represent one-fifth of the insurance coverage carried by the school district, will be written for a five-year term beginning January 8, 1943.

Local agencies sharing in the business are those of S. R. Dahlen, H. O. Berve, C. D. Gustafson, Ihle & Son, Robert J. Lund, Paul A. Lundgren, R. G. Mabey, W. H. Mulry, Theodore Quale, Union State bank, C. W. Vorachek, George W. Werstlein and Mrs. Emma Backe Ward.

In connection with the penny milk program launched Monday in the schools, the board voted to absorb the differential of one-tenth of one cent per half-pint of milk between the price paid the suppliers and the funds supplied by the Agricultural Marketing Administration.

Supt. Morris Bye stated that sales of war savings stamps in the local schools are running at the average rate of more than $200 a week, and that pupils have invested a total of $6,128.25 in the stamps since the program was inaugurated January 29, 1942.

The board approved the plan, in effect in recent years, of distributing salary checks for December to school employes in advance of the Christmas holidays, and the checks will be issued today.

Also approved was a proposal to make payment this month of principal payments of $7,500 and interest of $1,516.88 on school bonds maturing July 1, 1943. The action results in a saving of six months interest on the maturing principal payment.

Refuting recently current rumors as to the prevalence of diphtheria in the city, Mrs. Clara G. Paulson, school nurse, reported that there had been only one case in the local school system, that of a high school senior who developed the disease during the Thanksgiving recess. It was revealed that approximately 80 per cent of the grade school pupils have been inoculated against the disease, and from 30 to 40 per cent of the high school students.

The board granted a leave of absence to Miss Nanette Mogrenson, kindergarten teacher in the Northrop school, who will continue her studies toward a degree at Bemidji state teachers college. Appointed to succeed her during her absence was Mrs. A. V. Grinley.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR USED NYLON, SILK STOCKINGS

Women Are Asked to Deposit Discarded Hosiery at Local Stores

Acting on instructions from the state salvage board, Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson, chairman of women's activities on the Pennington county salvage committee, today appealed to local women to contribute for the use of the War and Navy departments all discarded washed stockings containing silk or nylon.

She added that the stockings may be deposited in special boxes in dry goods stores in the city, and that collections will continue for the duration.

It was explained that silk and nylon are critically needed for the production of powder bags and for other war materials.

Finding Cream Hard to Whip? Here's the Reason

Local dairymen this week reminded their patrons that if they find it impossible to whip the cream they are now obtaining, they shouldn't blame the suppliers, who have been ordered by federal authorities not to furnish cream that tests more than 21 per cent butterfat.

RESERVISTS GOING TO SNELLING GET SENDOFF DEC. 12TH

Robert J. Lund Speaker at Exercises Saturday in Auditorium

At simple but impressive exercises held at the Auditorium Saturday morning under the auspices of the Civic Service Organization, friends and relatives bade farewell to the latest group of Pennington county reservists who left at noon for Fort Snelling to receive their army assignments.

Following a group of selections by members of the Lincoln high school band, directed by Donald Rogers, Dr. E. S. Amesbury, presiding as chairman, introduced Robert J. Lund, who called attention to improvements in the military status of the allied nations that have taken effect since last summer, giving rise to a feeling of optimism. He pointed out, however, that a big job remains for the people at home to back up the boys on the fighting fronts.

The program closed with the distribution to the reservists of diaries, manuals and sewing kits, followed by the benediction by Rev. G. S. Thompson.

FARMERS TO BE ASKED FOR BIG OUTPUT IN 1943

U. S. Department to Lend All Possible Aid, Says Chas. Stickney

DRIVE TO COMMENCE WEEK OF JANUARY 11

Plan to Take Inventory of Manpower, Machinery and Fertilizer

Every resource of the United States department of agriculture will be used to assist Minnesota farmers in meeting 1943 food production goals, Charles W. Stickney, state USDA War Board chairman, said Saturday in announcing a gigantic drive for food production would be launched throughout the state the week of January 11.

Farm mobilization day committees will be organized in every county during the next two weeks as the Department of Agriculture enlist the aid of farm organizations, civic groups, business people, church organizations, vocational agricultural teachers in the tremendous task of assisting farmers to prepare for the greatest production in the state's history.

During the week of January 11, farmer-elected AAA committeemen will start a farm-to-farm canvas of the state to take a war inventory of the available manpower and manpower needed on Minnesota farms, the available machinery, amounts of fertilizer needed, and other pertinent information that may help to alleviate some of the production difficulties that will be faced in 1943.

The inventory will be taken for county USDA War Boards by AAA committeemen.

"I cannot stress too much the importance of farmers giving accurate information for the 1943 Farm War Inventory that will be taken by these committeemen," Mr. Stickney said. "This information will be used by the Selective Boards and by the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission to determine the draft status of farm labor in every county.

"The information on machinery will be used to assign machinery on farms to "pools" for neighborhood use and to make equitable distribution of a very limited supply of new machinery into areas where it is most needed for the production of vital war crops. The information will also be used to determine the amount of new machinery that will be requested by the Department of Agriculture in 1943.

"Every single item of information asked for in this inventory will have a direct bearing on the future course of farming during this war production effort," Mr. Stickney said.

On Monday, December 21, thirty-three field representatives of the Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Farm Security Administration, Production Credit Corporation, Agricultural Marketing Administration, and the AAA will meet in St. Paul to receive instructions on taking the 1943 Farm War Inventory.

Starting immediately after Christmas, these men will hold meetings with county USDA War Boards, AAA county and community committeemen to train those men on the taking of the inventory.

BLACKOUT HERE MONDAY NIGHT WAS A SUCCESS

Residents of This City and County Gave Fullest Cooperation

ONLY ONE OFFENDER REPORTED IN CITY

Test Covering Nine States Was Most Widespread to Date

The nine-state blackout Monday evening from 10 o'clock to 10:20 was an almost complete success in Thief River Falls and Pennington county, it was reported by Major Gustav Schlibred, chairman of the county civilian defense council.

Street lights in the city were extinguished within thirty seconds from the time the siren gave the alarm, and air raid block wardens reported that with one exception all other lights in homes and business places were turned out in the same space of time.

The only exception was at the Peterson-Biddick plant, where Bennie Hanson, night man on duty was in the basement and failed to hear the alarm when sounded and did not turn out the lights until nearly ten minutes later when notified by the block warden. Brought into municipal court under the provisions of the city blackout ordinance, Hanson was fined $5, the fine being suspended in view of the fact that the offense was obviously unintentional.

During the blackout the central control office handled a simulated incident in the form of a house wrecked by a bomb and persons buried in the debris, a rescue squad being rushed to the scene. Major Schlibred stated that the staff in the control room handled its duties efficiently, as did all the air raid wardens on duty.

Officials of the seventh defense region at Omaha acclaimed as a complete success the blackout covering nine midwestern states, the largest area to be covered by any similar test to date. They also stated that the next blackout will be [illegible] without advance notice.

Work!—That Was 1621 New Year's Observance

"We went to work betimes."

This laconic entry in a pioneer American's journal is the sole record of the observance of New Year's in 1621 by the Pilgrims in the New world.

Many a good Puritan minister regarded the celebration or even thought of New Year's day as an irreverent and impious observance honoring the Roman God Janus, from whom the year's first month derives its name.

Yet the Pilgrims and Puritans came from a land where New Year's eve and New Year's day were second in importance only to Christmas. Throughout every English county New Year's eve was always celebrated. In many districts it was called by the name of "Singing E'en," from the custom which obtained of singing the last of the Christmas carols at that time.

Important Day

New Year's is the biggest festival of the year in China. All the people—rich and poor alike—have to dress up and go out in the streets and see the circus or fair.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The tradition of American cavalry threads back to Indian warfare days and although modern armies are largely motorized today, the cavalry still plays an important role. Sturdy, well trained horses and excellent equipment and trappings are necessary.

When men are in the saddle for hours, their saddles, saddle rolls and other equipment must be made to stand the wear. Complete with carbine and helmets, the equipment for the cavalryman runs into hundreds of dollars. You can help provide this with your War Bond purchases. If you have not done so, join the Payroll Savings Plan and put ten percent of your income into War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Coming Point Ration System is Explained

Arrives in England

PAUL FURUSETH

Technical sergeant in the U. S. Army, who recently landed in England, where he is serving with a ground crew in the air corps. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Furuseth of this community.

Point rationing, the plan whereby commodities of the same general type are grouped together and rationed on the basis of their scarcity, was explained to the northwest in an outline issued Thursday, by the Office of Price Administration.

The plan, OPA officials said, is not difficult to understand. It works easily despite its seeming complicated. Basic facts on the plan were set forth as follows:

Point rationing will be introduced to Americans early in 1943 when war rationing book two is distributed.

The purpose of point rationing is to guarantee everyone a fair share of scarce but essential goods while at the same time giving everyone a variety of items to choose from.

There are three chief differences between point rationing and the coupon rationing which is now in effect for sugar and coffee.

The first important difference is this—under straight coupon rationing, one single coupon entitles the consumer to buy a specific amount of a single commodity—such as, one sugar coupon entitles you to buy three pounds of sugar.

But in point rationing one set of coupons covers a whole group of commodities. For instance, your week's meat ration coupons would enable you to choose your ration freely between beef, pork, lamb or mutton.

The second important difference is this—the coupons in point rationing are of different denominations. Those to be spent in one week, for example, will include a one-point coupon, a two-point coupon, a five-point coupon and an eight-point coupon.

The third important difference is this—the various rationed items within one group will have different point values. For example, tenderloin steak, being relatively scarcer, might have a high point value and require a larger number of coupons, while hamburger, being available in greater quantities, would have a lower point value. Thus, in exchange for a ration coupon worth eight points, the housewife might be able to obtain one pound of tenderloin steak or four pounds of hamburger. (Point values have not been set yet, values used here are for illustration only).

The government will set the point value of each item within the group of rationed products and issue an official list. Point values will be based on available supplies and will vary as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

War ration book two will have four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. The blue stamps will be used for the first group of goods to be rationed by points. The red stamps will be used for the second group of point-rationed goods.

The number on each stamp tells how many points the stamp is worth. The letter on each stamp tells what period it is good in. The government will announce these periods in advance.

Routes out of Thief River Falls numbered from 1 to 7 were arranged, with advance routings to be reported by members according to their membership card numbers at the Evelyn. Route cards will be on file there, and the clerk in charge will handle in-and-out calls. The club, it was announced, will operate on an exchange basis with no fees to be charged.

A. J. Rau, chairman of the local gas ration panel, reported on the ration system as it applies to salesmen. He also stated that present regulations do not give permission to transfer gasoline from one member's car to another.

WPA Shutdown Affects Few County Residents

On North African Front

PVT. THORMAN LUNDEN

Who has been in the army the past eight months, and is now stationed with United States troops in Northern Africa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Lunden of the River Valley community.

In line with the recent directive of the President final arrangements were concluded at a meeting this week in Chicago by S. L. Stolte, State WPA Administrator, with Washington WPA officials for the prompt and orderly closing up of WPA projects in Minnesota as such procedure is consistent with arrangements that will have to be made to bring certain projects to useful stages of completion and in other instances to make arrangements for the sponsors to complete or continue the project operation or arrange for its disposition. As of December 8, there were 5739 persons employed on Minnesota WPA projects.

With approximately 200 Pennington county men on WPA at the time of the outbreak of the war, there was only one man left on the rolls when the stoppage was ordered, it was announced this week by John X. Lynskey, executive secretary of the county welfare board. He stated that all the men left WPA voluntarily for private employment. In addition a half-dozen women are at present employed on the school lunch project in the county.

All project activity sponsored by other federal agencies will be closed out as of February 1, 1943, in this state. This is a nationwide policy. This will affect such projects as work at Fort Snelling, scrap collection for WPB, operation of the rubber dump at Fort Snelling, clerical assistance to OPA offices and many of the War Services projects which are serving the Army, Navy or similar agencies.

These federal agencies will have to make provision for the continuance after this date of any desired work with their own finances. Many of the workers so released and who are not re-engaged by the respective federal agencies will be concentrated in assisting the remaining regular program of project operations in an endeavor to bring them to a speedy conclusion.

The bulk of the remaining project operations will be closed out on March 1, 1943. The only exception will be such units of work which cannot be successfully completed by that date and possibly the operation of the nursery school and the school lunch programs because of their importance to the welfare of many smaller children.

Pleas for Supplemental Rations Getting Attention, Says Chairman Rau

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

"Oh, I'm in such a hurry for June to come!" exclaimed Ellen impatiently, as she tossed her books on the table in the living room.

"Why, Ellen," her surprised mother answered. "January's not even here yet! What in the world do you mean?"

"I mean that when I've finished high school you'll let me go out and get a job! Look at all the girls who are having the excitement of going to Washington to live! I'm sure if I work hard at my typing this winter I can qualify."

"But you have always wanted to be a teacher," her mother exclaimed. "We've saved for years so you could go to college and prepare yourself. Surely you're not going to throw over all those plans."

"But I want to be helping with the war effort," announced Ellen with decision. "I can't see just going on and studying to be a teacher now, when there are so many more important things to do."

Ellen is far from being the only girl whose vision is momentarily distorted by her restless desire to be of immediate help. While it is true that many young women are needed in all sorts of capacities, taking the places in offices, defence plants, restaurants and factories of those who are going into military service, there are equally important things to be done by those who go quietly ahead with the plans for their future that have been carefully laid.

The need for teachers is grave, and Ellen, with the ability and interest she has in teaching, will probably be serving her country much more usefully by taking the training at a nearby state teacher's college or state university than by feverishly being swept into what she thinks of as work more directly concerned with the war effort.

At no time in our history has the training of able teachers been more vital to our salvation than now. The shortage of teachers already is acute. If too many girls impulsively throw away their chances for an education, the children for whose future safety and security we are so passionately working will suffer.

No, Ellen, you will be serving your country just as effectively as a teacher as in clerical work.

BUILDING HARDWARE FRILLS CUT BY WPB

Luxury goods and frills in builders hardware will soon disappear from the market in one of the most extensive orders issued by the War Production Board to simplify these products. Northwest regional WPB officials said the builders hardware items have been slashed from 27,000 to 3,500, effective January 15. After that date, manufacturers are prohibited from putting into process any finishing hardware that does not conform to the permitted sizes, types, grades, finishes, weights and standards. Approved styles will be of uniformly simple design and finish, WPB officials said.

Coming Point Ration System is Explained

Arrives in England

PAUL FURUSETH

Technical sergeant in the U. S. Army, who recently landed in England, where he is serving with a ground crew in the air corps. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Furuseth of this community.

Point rationing, the plan whereby commodities of the same general type are grouped together and rationed on the basis of their scarcity, was explained to the northwest in an outline issued Thursday, by the Office of Price Administration.

The plan, OPA officials said, is not difficult to understand. It works easily despite its seeming complicated. Basic facts on the plan were set forth as follows:

Point rationing will be introduced to Americans early in 1943 when war rationing book two is distributed.

The purpose of point rationing is to guarantee everyone a fair share of scarce but essential goods while at the same time giving everyone a variety of items to choose from.

There are three chief differences between point rationing and the coupon rationing which is now in effect for sugar and coffee.

The first important difference is this—under straight coupon rationing, one single coupon entitles the consumer to buy a specific amount of a single commodity—such as, one sugar coupon entitles you to buy three pounds of sugar.

But in point rationing one set of coupons covers a whole group of commodities. For instance, your week's meat ration coupons would enable you to choose your ration freely between beef, pork, lamb or mutton.

The second important difference is this—the coupons in point rationing are of different denominations. Those to be spent in one week, for example, will include a one-point coupon, a two-point coupon, a five point coupon and an eight-point coupon.

The third important difference is this—the various rationed items within one group will have different point values. For example, tenderloin steak, being relatively scarcer, might have a high point value and require a larger number of coupons, while hamburger, being available in greater quantities, would have a lower point value. Thus, in exchange for a ration coupon worth eight points, the housewife might be able to obtain one pound of tenderloin steak or four pounds of hamburger. (Point values have not been set yet, values used here are for illustration only).

The government will set the point value of each item within the group of rationed products and issue an official list. Point values will be based on available supplies and will vary as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

War ration book two will have four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. The blue stamps will be used for the first group of goods to be rationed by points. The red stamps will be used for the second group of point-rationed goods.

The number on each stamp tells how many points the stamp is worth. The letter on each stamp tells what period it is good in. The government will announce these periods in advance.

'SHARE YOUR CAR' CLUB CONDUCTS SECOND MEETING

Routes Arranged at Session Sunday Afternoon in Evelyn Hotel

Final details in connection with the recently organized "Share your car" club formed by local traveling salesmen were perfected at a meeting Sunday afternoon in the Evelyn hotel, H. E. Colvin, secretary, announced.

Routes out of Thief River Falls numbered from 1 to 7 were arranged, with advance routings to be reported by members according to their membership card numbers at the Evelyn. Route cards will be on file there, and the clerk in charge will handle in-and-out calls. The club, it was announced, will operate on an exchange basis with no fees to be charged.

A. J. Rau, chairman of the local gas ration panel, reported on the ration system as it applies to salesmen. He also stated that present regulations do not give permission to transfer gasoline from one member's car to another.

Tom Mehegan was elected to honorary membership in the club. K. T. Smith was elected vice president at the first meeting, and the next session is scheduled to be held Sunday, January 10.

WPA Shutdown Affects Few County Residents

On North African Front

PVT. THORMAN LUNDEN

Who has been in the army the past eight months, and is now stationed with United States troops in Northern Africa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Lunden of the River Valley community.

In line with the recent directive of the President final arrangements were concluded at a meeting this week in Chicago by S. L. Stolte, State WPA Administrator, with Washington WPA officials for the prompt and orderly closing up of WPA projects in Minnesota as such procedure is consistent with arrangements that will have to be made to bring certain projects to useful stages of completion and in other instances to make arrangements for the sponsors to complete or continue the project operation or arrange for its disposition. As of December 8, there were 5739 persons employed on Minnesota WPA projects.

With approximately 200 Pennington county men on WPA at thhe time of the outbreak of the war, there was only one man left on the rolls when the stoppage was ordered, it was announced this week by John X. Lynskey, executive secretary of the county welfare board. He stated that all the men left WPA voluntarily for private employment. In addition a half-dozen women are at present employed on the school lunch project in the county.

All project activity sponsored by other federal agencies will be closed out as of February 1, 1943, in this state. This is a nationwide policy. This will affect such projects as work at Fort Snelling, scrap collection for WPB, operation of the rubber dump at Fort Snelling, clerical assistance to OPA offices and many of the War Services projects which are serving the Army, Navy or similar agencies.

These federal agencies will have to make provision for the continuance after this date of any desired work with their own finances. Many of the workers so released and who are not re-engaged by the respective federal agencies will be concentrated in assisting the remaining regular program of project operations in an endeavor to bring them to a speedy conclusion.

The bulk of the remaining project operations will be closed out on March 1, 1943. The only exception will be such units of work which cannot be successfully completed by that date and possibly the operation of the nursery school and the school lunch programs because of their importance to the welfare of many smaller children.

GAS RATION BOARD IS NOW UP TO DATE ON APPLICATIONS

Pleas for Supplemental Rations Getting Attention, Says Chairman Rau

The gasoline rationing panel of the county ration board is now completing the processing of the first flood of applications for supplemental gas rations, and will be able to give prompt attention to future applications, A. J. Rau, chairman, stated this week.

At the same time Mr. Rau reminded the public that each coupon in an A, B or C book for passenger cars has a present value of four gallons; E coupons for non-highway use, one gallon; R coupons for off-the-highway vehicles, five gallons; and T-1 and T-2 coupons for trucks, five gallons each.

Mr. Rau cautioned the public to safeguard their coupon books, since those getting lost will not be replaced by a duplicate book until after a waiting period of thirty days.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

"Oh, I'm in such a hurry for June to come!" exclaimed Ellen impatiently, as she tossed her books on the table in the living room.

"Why, Ellen," her surprised mother answered. "January's not even here yet! What in the world do you mean?"

"I mean that when I've finished high school you'll let me go out and get a job! Look at all the girls who are having the excitement of going to Washington to live! I'm sure if I work hard at my typing this winter I can qualify."

"But you have always wanted to be a teacher;" her mother exclaimed. "We've saved for years so you could go to college and prepare yourself. Surely you're not going to throw over all those plans."

"But I want to be helping with the war effort," announced Ellen with decision. "I can't see just going on and studying to be a teacher now, when there are so many more important things to do."

Ellen is far from being the only girl whose vision is momentarily distorted by her restless desire to be of immediate help. While it is true that many young women are needed in all sorts of capacities, taking the places in offices, defense plants, restaurants and factories of those who are going into military service, there are equally important things to be done by those who go quietly ahead with the plans for their future that have been carefully laid.

The need for teachers is grave, and Ellen, with the ability and interest she has in teaching, will probably be serving her country much more usefully by taking the training at a nearby state teacher's college or state university than by feverishly being swept into what she thinks of as work more directly concerned with the war effort.

At no time in our history has the training of able teachers been more vital to our salvation than now. The shortage of teachers already is acute. If too many girls impulsively throw away their chances for an education, the children for whose future safety and security we are so passionately working will suffer.

No, Ellen, you will be serving your country just as effectively as a teacher as in clerical work.

BUILDING HARDWARE FRILLS CUT BY WPB

Luxury goods and frills in builders hardware will soon disappear from the market in one of the most extensive orders issued by the War Production Board to simplify these products. Northwest regional WPB officials said the builders hardware items have been slashed from 27,000 to 3,500, effective January 15. After that date, manufacturers are prohibited from putting into process any finishing hardware that does not conform to the permitted sizes, types, grades, finishes, weights and standards. Approved styles will be of uniformly simple design and finish, WPB officials said.

Best advice we can give to shoppers at this late date is to shop early—early in the day, mornings preferably. Only six shopping days remain between now and the night before Christmas.

A wage boost for Santa Claus is o. k. says the National War Labor Board. Recognizing the fact that even Santa has a few costs to consider, the board has decreed that wage increases are proper, "Provided that the term bona fide Santa Claus shall be construed to mean only such persons as wear a red robe, white whiskers and other well recognized accouterments befitting their station in life, and provided that they have a kindly and jovial disposition and use their high office of juvenile trust to spread the Christmas spirit of goodwill among men, women and children." In this instance we will string along with the Board with a cheery "Hip-Hip."

Gasoline is rationed in order to save rubber we are told but we still don't know why fuel oil sales are restricted. Many are wasteful in the use of gasoline but we don't know of anyone who ever went on a fuel oil burning spree.

If you must travel during the coming holidays do not be disappointed if you must travel in discomfort. Transportation facilities are not going to be adequate and some railroads are already providing seats only on reservation. Better you think it over before you decide to give up the comforts of home.

Housewives of the city can help improve the delivery service of mail and parcel post during the rush season by leaving their porch doors unlocked. Letters and packages cannot be left on the front steps and unlocked porch doors will save much time for the men of Uncle Sam's postal service.

During 1943 the production of armaments will be greatly increased but there will be a decrease in the construction of plants and equipment to produce armaments. We are approaching the peak of production we have so long prepared for. The assembly lines are now functioning smoothly and we are already manufacturing the tools of war at a rate that staggers the imagination. One of the encouraging things in this picture is the fact that American made equipment, produced by mass production methods, meets the highest standards of quality. All in all, it is a magnificent performance.

Horse meat went on the market in Boston last week, retailing from 25c a pound for roasts to 50c a pound for choice steaks. This information did not startle us because last week we ate meat of muskrats, politely referred to as marsh rabbits, and suffered no ill effects. The war will change many things, including some of our ideas on food.

For a few days Congress will not be in session. That would not have been an unusual thing some years ago but now we have grown accustomed to having Congress in session all the time. This last session was the longest in history. The Congress that now retires also has the distinction of being the spendingest Congress we have ever had, huge appropriations having been made necessary by the war. Sad thought is that this spending record is likely to be broken by the new Congress that goes to work next month.

Unless the weather turns terribly rough between now and the First of January we are going to say that December has been a fine month.

RECREATION HIGHLIGHTS

The Christmas puppet show will be held Thursday, Dec. 17th, at 5:10, in the Puppet Theatre. "The Night Before Christmas" and "The Little Lost Angel" will be produced and the puppet carol singers will give two numbers. Mothers, bring your little ones to these productions. They are amusing as well as instructive.

The J. C. boys club held their Christmas party Wednesday evening in the Arena club rooms. Games were enjoyed and a very good lunch was enjoyed by these lively fellows. Gifts were exchanged and Christmas carols were sung. Wallace Groven, Elwood Karwand, James Plough and Jimmy Arras were in charge of the refreshments.

Mothers send your children to the game room during the Christmas holidays. It will be open each day from 1:00-6:00 for their enjoyment.

Army Deserter Taken into Custody Near Alvarado on Monday

Attempting to hide underneath a bed in his mother-in-law's farm home in order to avoid apprehension, Sigurd Alnes, who entered the U. S. Army from Bagley, was picked up as a deserter from the Army by Sheriff O. C. Toftner at the Mrs. Hjalmar Johnson farm near Alvarado early Monday morning.

Sheriff Toftner had previously received official notice from the Army at Fort Snelling that Alnes had deserted from Fort Sill, Oklahoma on August 3 and was requested to be on the look-out for him. Alnes was married to a daughter of Mrs. Johnson at Fort Snelling during the summer.

The deserter arrived at his mother-in-law's farm about three weeks ago, it is believed, attempting to evade detection by hiding there. When Sheriff Toftner arrived at the farm Monday night, Alnes hurried upstairs and hid underneath a bed and only after threatened force, would he give himself up to the Sheriff.

The deserter was brought to the county jail in Warren where he is now being held and will be turned over to the military authorities at Fort Snelling by Sheriff Toftner sometime tomorrow. The army posted a small reward for the return of the deserter.

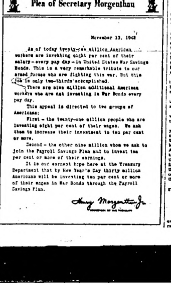
Over the Top by New Year's Is the Plea of Secretary Morgenthau



November 13, 1942

As of today twenty-one million American workers are investing eight per cent of their salary — every pay day — in United States War Savings Bonds. This is a very remarkable tribute to our armed forces who are fighting this war. But this job is only two-thirds accomplished.

There are nine million additional American workers who are not investing in War Bonds every pay day.

This appeal is directed to two groups of Americans:

First — the twenty-one million people who are investing eight per cent of their wages. We ask them to increase their investment to ten per cent or more.

Second — the other nine million whom we ask to join the Payroll Savings Plan and to invest ten per cent or more of their earnings.

It is our earnest hope here at the Treasury Department that by New Year's Day thirty million Americans will be investing ten per cent or more of their wages in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Henry Morgenthau Jr.

Not in Offices

By ALICE DUANE

(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

SALLY BRENT was a sort of handy-man—or handy-girl might be better—in the editorial offices of one of the big women's magazines. David Lister worked in the art department.

Sally could type, and she could write captions for illustrations. She passed on a good suggestion now and then to one of the editors—about something she thought would make a hit with the wide group of women readers of the magazine. Altogether she was a really valuable young member of the editorial staff.

Sally was a lot more than that. She was pretty, she dressed well, and she was a thoroughly nice all-round girl.

And then: Sally had decided that she wanted to marry David. David didn't know this. Sometimes Sally wasn't quite sure of it, but she was always ready to admit to herself that at least she wanted to have a chance to refuse David if she definitely decided not to marry him. And in an office, what could she do about it? David never paid her any attention.

And, thought Sally, that was natural and to be expected. Men you meet in business don't propose to girls they meet in offices. Somebody had told that to Sally. Lots of women had told it to her, in fact, in one way or another. And Sally believed it. Or at least she usually believed it. And there were some men in the big organization, of course, who would, she thought, on encouragement, probably like to marry her. But not David.

The more she thought about it, the more determined Sally was to make no mistake in anything that was becoming so important to her. Sally was getting so that she saw David's blond head before her in the subway crowds—but she knew perfectly well he didn't use the subway but commuted to Long Island. She was getting so she shivered when her work took her to the big art department room; so that she blushed if he happened to ride up or down in the same elevator with her; and so that she noticed what kind of necktie he wore and whether he looked tired or happy.

So Sally, being a practical sort of young girl, took herself definitely in hand.

She made an excuse to hang around the telephone operator's desk one lunch hour, and by adroit questions found out where David usually spent his week-ends.

"Yeah," said the girl, stretching her tired neck and shoulders as she slipped off her headpiece when her noon relief appeared. She didn't know it, but she was really answering Sally's question, as definitely as if Sally had asked it. Sally had just said one thing and another until the telephone operator was giving her the information she wanted. "Wish I had a nice place to go, like some of these people. Mr. Lister, now, with his Saturdays and Sundays out there at Pine Lake in New Jersey. I bet he doesn't miss a week-end there all through the summer."

The girl gossiped on, just lazily talkative. And Sally made her plans.

It wasn't very hard. Three weeks later she got off the train at Pine Lake one Saturday afternoon and was met at the station by Hester Stanhope. It hadn't been hard to meet her—and when Sally wanted to be charming, she seemed to be just the person you'd always been wanting to ask to your house as a week-end guest.

"Oh, Miss Brent," said her hostess, looking past Sally up and down the crowded little commuting platform, "I've another guest coming out by this train—David Lister—oh, hello, David. Come over here and meet Sally Brent. Too bad you two didn't know each other. You could have visited coming out from town."

That was the end of it, so far as Sally's efforts went. David took things in his own hands after that.

Sunday evening he and Sally were sitting on the moonlit terrace outside the Stanhopes' open living room windows.

"Sally," said David, as he sat silhouetted against the brightness in the garden. Sally sat in the shadow of a pergola column. She watched the golden halo behind his profile, and hugged herself for being a bright young thing. She felt sure, now, that David would propose to her. And she felt sure, too, that she would accept him.

"You see, Sally—I'm awfully glad to have found you here like this. I've been longing to get you to talk to me—to listen to me—"

And that was that. Twenty minutes later, when Sally had told David she would marry him, she said:

"But David, think of all those wasted months in the office. You never even seemed to see me."

"Oh—that," said David. "Well, you see, it's this way. Girls you meet in offices don't marry the men they meet there. They don't fall in love with them. You know that. All girls in offices want is a good time. If that's all a man wants, that's all right. But if he really falls for a girl, as I have for you—then he's just out of luck. Girls in offices don't want to marry the men they meet there."

Hidden in the shadow of the pergola, Sally smiled a wise little smile.

"I know, David," she said.

RECRUITS CHECK FOR T.B.

Next time you talk to a soldier or sailor ask if he had a Chest X-Ray when he went into service. He will say "yes." One of the biggest mass check-ups from tuberculosis ever conducted is taking place in connection with the medical examinations of selectees. At Fort Snelling, Minnesota, one of every 200 young men was rejected because of tuberculosis. Christmas Seals carry on a continuous campaign to promote tuberculin testing and x-raying of the civilian population for the early discovery of Tuberculosis.

Topics of the Times

The supply of newsprint is to be reduced in 1943, they tell us. Well, we are prepared to cooperate by eliminating this column for the duration.

In Egypt a plate over the door means there is a marriageable daughter in the house. In the U. S., says the Baudette Region, honking a horn in front of the house means the same thing.

The small city of Eveleth recently made up for the coffee shortage by issuing 27 liquor licenses.

Some of the bureaucrats in Washington may expect to be told where to head in when the new congress convenes.

The government announces farmers may pay their help up to $200 a month, but it doesn't take any steps to supply the wherewithal.

Believe it or not—The census bureau tells us there are more Germans in Minnesota than Swedes or Norwegians.

We join with the Red Lake Falls Gazette in welcoming the respite from a bombardment of free publicity the papers received from the various recruiting agencies until a halt was called on voluntary enlistments.

The fellow who was dreaming of a white Christmas must have had Northern Minnesota in mind.

Despite the handicap of his cognomen, a man named Hickenlooper recently was elected governor of Iowa.

A survey conducted by the Baltimore Sun reveals that in these days of fuel rationing an average temperature of 76 degrees is being maintained in federal buildings in Washington. Someone should make it really hot for those boys.

To be expected following gas rationing are the numerous reports of gasoline being siphoned out of automobile tanks throut the state.

Parents harassed by the Christmas demands of their youngsters might note that the letters in the name Santa spell Satan if transposed.

Another war casualty — Men's shirt tails are now being made several inches shorter.

You have six more shopping days to regret that you didn't do it earlier.

War certainly is terrible. Now they're starting to ration liquor in some states.

1932—TEN YEARS AGO

Paul A. Lundgren was named a member of the board of directors of the state Izaak Walton league. —Ray Swanson of Bronson was elected president of the Soo Line Highway association at its organization meeting held in Karlstad. —Patrolman L. W. Knadle seized an automobile containing 92 gallons of liquor in the form of alcohol.—The mercury dropped to 24 below zero December 15. — Mrs. Genevieve Pederson was elected worthy matron of the local Eastern Star chapter.—James Stewart arrived from Detroit Lakes for an indefinite stay at the H. A. Brumund home.

1922—TWENTY YEARS AGO

All patients who have been under quarantine for diphtheria in the Auditorium, which was used for a detention hospital, were released last week.—Plans were being made to construct an electric power line from Newfolden to Viking.—Olaf Neset and C. Gustafson won top honors with their exhibits at the Pennington county poultry show. — Loken Brothers will close their department store in this city Saturday, and will shortly engage in business in Madison, Wisconsin. — Mrs. E. O. Mogenson was named worthy matron of the local Eastern Star chapter. — Mrs. G. W. Booren and her mother, Mrs. Robbecke, left for a visit in Fargo and Devils Lake, N. D.

'Pasteur Ensyme' New 'Traffic Cop' for Foods

The chemical identification of a cellular "traffic cop," which directs the human body's utilization of food along the smooth and efficient road of respiration instead of the energy-wasting detour of fermentation, was announced by Dr. Kurt G. Stern of the Yale university school of medicine.

Without this strategic biological substance, Dr. Stern declared in his address at the meeting of the New York section of the American Chemical society, each adult would have to consume the daily equivalent of 19 loaves of bread.

Dr. Stern and his research associates, Dr. Joseph L. Melnick and Delafield DuBois, named the newly identified substance the "Pasteur enzyme" in honor of Dr. Louis Pasteur, who in 1861 discovered an anti-fermentation effect while carrying out his experiments on yeast and the fermentation of beer. In the cells of the human body fermentation converts sugar into lactic acid instead of alcohol.

A possible new insight into the chemical riddle of cancer was hinted by Dr. Stern in recalling the discovery several years ago by Dr. Otto Warburg, Nobel Prize winner in medicine, that tumor cells are especially active in fermenting sugar into lactic acid. He suggested that this might be due to a shortage of the newly identified Pasteur enzyme.

"In spite of the fact that some tumor strains can derive all the energy they need from respiration," Dr. Stern pointed out, "they may form as much as their own weight in lactic acid per day, provided that they are furnished the necessary sugar."

A sufficient supply of the Pasteur enzyme, he argued, might prevent this diversion of the normal food supply.

BEST TO CHEW WELL A CHICKEN SANDWICH

Farmington.—Feeling a bit hungry one night recently Ed Ebeling searched the family larder for food. Finding a nice bowl of cold chicken he proceeded to build a fine luscious chicken sandwich. Immediately following consumption of the choice bit, groans from Ed summoned his wife from upstairs. She found him doubled up with pain and he was rushed off to a hospital in the cities. It took just two-and-one-half hours to remove a chicken gizzard from his esophagus. Bet he'll chew his chicken next time, before swallowing it.

TRY IT

Frank (timidly) — Wish I knew what you'd do if I should steal a kiss?

Ruth—Wouldn't take long to find out.

Not Interested

She—Doctor, you told me to show you my tongue, but you haven't even looked at it!

Doctor—No . . . it was only to keep you quiet while I wrote out the prescription.

An Easy One

The class was being questioned on the cardinal points of the compass.

"If I turn to the east and look at the rising sun, what is left behind me?"

Boy—Yer shadow.

Warning

Flossy—Let's play housekeeping. You be the papa and I'll be the mama.

Franky—No, mom said we mustn't fight any more.

Skip It

King—How does the report begin?

Secretary—It is greatly to be regretted—

King—Never mind the rest of it, we were licked.

Sensible

"Doctor, what shall I do for a sprained ankle?"

"Limp."

You Bet!

"The man who jumps at conclusions is liable to land in some queer places."

Maxim

"The bravest man is he who knows when to be afraid."

PRECAUTION

"Dawg! She's turned me down! I'll drown meself. But I'm got to throw you in first to see how deep it is!"

Exchange

"I stole a kiss the other night.
My conscience troubles me.
I'll give back two for each I stole
To set my conscience free."

Oh-Oh!

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "do men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, my dear. What makes you ask?"

"Because I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"Well," said the mother, thoughtfully, "some men do go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave."

Reaction

"What did your father say when he heard I had kissed your sister?"

"He said that was encouraging."

Just a Little Smile

NEEDED MUSCLE

It was on a bright spring Sunday morning that the colored pastor happened to notice a new attendant at the church meeting. When he finished his sermon the pastor made it his business to speak to the new comer.

"Erastus," he said pleasantly, "this is the first time I've seen you in church for a mighty long time. I am very glad that you came."

"Parson, I came 'cause I needs strengthenin'," answered the other. "Yuh see, I got a job washin' a chicken coop an' buildin' a white fence around a watermelon patch, an' las' Sunday I done heard yuh preached a sermon called, 'Come heah for strength.' An' heah I is."

Modern Age

Dude Ranch Owner—Yes, we can use a cowboy, what experience have you?

Cowboy—I'm an expert roper, rider, bulldozer and a good shot with the revolver or rifle.

D.R.O.—Can you sing, play the guitar and other musical instruments?

C.B.—No.

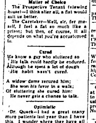
D.R.O.—Sorry, no job for you, we run a real ranch here.

Life in Reverse

Mistress — Time brings many changes, Bridget.

Bridget—Indade it do, mum. Why, whin Oi wus a little tot Oi usta cry fer fear th' policeman would get me, an' now Oi cry fer fear Oi won't get the policeman!

TIGHT FELLOWS



"The fellows down here all claim to be millionaires."

"They're so stingy they must have saved nearly that much since they arrived."

Or Chain 'Em Up

"The storekeeper was all sold out on the poison spray; so instead I bought some cod-liver oil."

"But that won't kill the bugs. It'll just make them big and fat."

"That's what I thought. Then I can throw rocks at 'em!"

Lend, Spend

"I made a quarter today, pa."

"That's good! How did you make it?"

"Borrowed it from ma."

Farmer's Diary

"How did your tulip bulbs come up this spring?"

"With the assistance of the neighbor's Airedale!"

Expensive Wife

"Is your wife as extravagant as ever?"

"Sure. She asked for another quarter this morning."

Directions

Stranger—Sonny, can you tell me the quickest way to get to the station?

Oliver—Run.

OR SOMETHING

"Do you think a fellow ought to kiss a girl before he's engaged to her?"

"Well, not till he's engaged to her or some other girl."

Reverse Side

"Remember," wrote the instructor of the correspondence school of journalism, "to write on only one side of the paper."

And by return mail came the following inquiry from the new pupil: "Which side shall I write on?"

Legend has it that before the crucifixion holly berries were white instead of red as now.

AND IT WORKED

"Can you spare me a moment? I am not an insurance canvasser," said the man on the doorstep. "I do not want to sell you soap, toilet preparations, books, or anything of that sort."

The door had been closing, but paused in the movement. The householder was reassured.

"I do not represent a sewing machine firm, nor any who sell wireless sets, gramophones, electric cleaners, or motor-cars."

The door opened a bit wider.

"I'm not a collector, either of rates, information, or accounts—I find it hard enough to collect a living myself."

The reassurances had their effect; no longer was there a sign of the door closing.

"I'm not a canvasser for any political party, and I don't want details for a directory."

The householder stared at him. "For heavens sake, what are you, then?" she asked.

"Ah," he said, "I see I have you interested! I represent a firm which deals in photographic enlargements."

YOU'RE KIDDIN'

"How about spending the winter in Florida, dear?"

"Nothing doing. They don't have any winter there."

Matter of Choice

The Prospective Tenant (viewing house)—I think after all, a flat would suit us better.

The Caretaker—Well, sir, fer meself, I feel a flat so much like a prison; but then, of course, it all depends on what you're accustomed to.

Cured

We know a guy who stuttered so
His talk could hardly be endured.
Although he spent a lot of dough
His habit wasn't cured.

A widow dame secured him;
She won his favor in a walk;
Of stuttering she cured him:
He never gets a chance to talk.

Optimistic

Dr. Quack—I had a great many more patients last year than I have this. I wonder where they have all gone to?

Mrs. Wrink—Well, all we can do, Doctor, is to hope for the best.

Coffee Causes Sleeplessness?

Science is proving that that time-honored belief about coffee causing sleeplessness is a mere figment of the imagination, and that if the coffee is the right strength, fresh, and consumed without too much accompanying food, sound sleep and even sweet dreams follow.

Wassen. — Not infrequently do we hear of fathers and sons enlisting in the service "to beat the Japs" or "lick the Nazis" but when a father and son land in the same unit that is rare. Cecil Claybaugh and his son, Lowell, formerly of Waterville, both in the 10th Armed Division of the 150th Signal Corps, at Fort Benning, Georgia, were recently honored at a dinner, being the only father and son combination in service there. Cecil Claybaugh was drafted and his son, Lowell, enlisted.

Prowlers Defeated by Roseau; Down Climax

Coach Glenn Hanna's Prowlers divided the basketball doubleheader played here on Friday, dropping the first game to a hard-driving Roseau team, 29 to 20, and then coming back in the second game to hand a scrappy Climax team its first defeat of the season, winning by a 36 to 27 score. Tomorrow night, on the local floor, the Prowlers will be given another severe test when they face coach Jake Hoff's Detroit Lakes Lakers. The Prowler reserves will meet the Newfolden team in a preliminary game.

Coach N. C. Lindberg's Roseau team, 32nd district champions, jumped into an early lead Friday night when, after two minutes of play, Roland Wallin tipped a rebound into the east basket. Berdeen Brastad, on a break-away, dribbled in for a set-up; and Wallin followed with another tip-in shot. The Roseau team was recovering the rebounds and driving in for close shots. Harry Wenner looped in a one-handed shot to give Roseau an 8 to 0 lead. John Dahlgren fouled Milt Reierson and the Prowlers had their first points when Milt tallied the two free throws. Wallin again scored on a tip-in shot; and just as the period ended, Bill Bye connected for a Prowler field goal. Roseau's Brastad and the Prowlers' Melby exchanged free throws to open the second period. Bill McKechnie hoisted in a field goal, and when fouled by Dahlgren, added a free throw, and the Prowlers were trailing by a 11 to 8 score. Brastad tossed in a one-hander, and after Jack Melby had scored, taking a pass from Reierson, Brastad tallied on another dribble-in for a set-up. Wenner marked up a free throw, and Dahlgren, taking a tipped ball, counted on a field goal, to give Roseau an 18 to 10 lead at half-time.

Bob Wright flipped a pass to Milt Reierson and the Prowler guard pushed in a field goal to open the second half scoring. Wright chalked up a gift toss; but Brastad connected for a field goal, and then fed a pass to Dahlgren for another basket to boost the Roseau lead. Two free throws by Brastad, and Bob Abbott's field goal, ended the period's scoring, with Roseau leading, 24 to 15. Each team marked up five points in the final stanza, with Brown and Brastad counting field goals, and Wenner marking up a free throw for Roseau; while the Prowlers were adding a field goal by Abbott, and free throws by Abbott, McKechnie, and Matheson.

Roseau's Berdeen Brastad earned the game's high point honors, scoring 13 points, while the Prowlers' Bob Abbott paced the blue-and-gold with five points. McKechnie and Reierson each had four points.

The second game found Climax, on baskets by Hagen and Howland, building up a 6 to 2 lead, with Reierson scoring for the locals. Mid-way in the period, and in less than a minute, the Prowlers had bounced into the lead. Bill McKechnie pumped in a long shot, and then in rapid order, on passes from Bill Bye and Jack Melby, McKechnie flipped in two goals, driving in to the west basket to score on push-up shots, and the Prowlers led, 8 to 6. Milt Reierson's one-handed lift boosted the lead, and from then on the locals were never headed, leading by a 15 to 10 score at the end of the first period. Reierson, McKechnie, Berg, and Melby, added field goals to give the Prowlers a 21 to 10 lead in the second period before Duane Howland marked up a Climax free throw. The intermission found coach Hanna's team holding a 25 to 13 advantage of the nifty Vikings, and the Prowlers held their margin throughout the final half. Climax tallied three quick goals in the final minutes of play, against the Prowler reserves, to narrow the margin, the final score being 36 to 27 for the locals.

Bob Nelson and Duane Howland were the high point men, with Howland adding 12 points, and Nelson, who also turned in a fine floor game, credited with 10 points. Bill McKechnie's four field goals, all scored in the first half, and a free throw, gave the diminutive Prowler forward 9 points and high-point honors for the locals. Jack Melby sparked the Prowlers defensive play, smothering numerous Viking scoring attempts.

Times Bowling Team Is Winner of Close Match From Eagles on Sunday

The Times scored a 59-pin win over the Eagles team in a total-pins challenge match rolled on the Mint alleys Sunday, winning by a 2421 to 2362 score. A big 886 total in the final game gave the verdict to the Times, after the Eagles, with Clarence Hallstrom striking out from the 8th frame, had tied the score in the second game, erasing the 49-pin lead the Times had picked up in the first game. Larry Rulien's 523 total sparked the winners, while Emil Dostal's 519 was the high total for the Eagles.

City Makes Poor Showing in Traffic Safety Event

As a result of the train-car crash in this city last spring, which took the lives of three local women, Thief River Falls is ranked at the bottom of 28 cities in its population class in the Minnesota traffic safety contest for the first nine months of 1942, it was announced this week by the Minnesota safety council in St. Paul. Of the 28 cities in the group, twenty reported no traffic fatalities.

No Complaints

Local fans were generally agreed that the Prowlers completed a good night's work when they divided the basketball doubleheader played here last Friday. Roseau, with a veteran team, won the opener; but the Prowlers came back to defeat Climax in the second game, and they revealed considerable promise of becoming a ball club in scoring that win over the Vikings. Roseau sewed up their game with the locals in the first period, crashing through the unsteady Prowlers for five set-up baskets. Roland Wallin was especially effective in recovering and converting rebounds into field goals, getting three tip-in baskets by that route. Roseau, though, won the game on their merits, exhibiting the better all-round team play; and the Prowlers weren't disgraced by losing to the 32nd district champs.

Better Against Climax

The Prowlers put up a stouter back defense against Climax in the second game, and on offense the locals broke quickly to get into the scoring zone for numerous set-up shots. Climax, a well-organized outfit that has played together for several years, jumped into an early lead, holding a 6 to 2 edge with the game but a few minutes old. But in the space of fifty seconds, on a long shot and two push-up shots, Bill McKechnie had tallied three field goals, shoving the Prowlers into a lead that they held and increased. That spurt seemed to shake the poise of the Climax team for from then on they were somewhat loose in their play and hasty and erratic in their shooting.

Detroit Lakes Friday

Perhaps the Prowlers are leading with their chins again tomorrow night when they bump up against the highly-rated Detroit Lakes team. Coach Jake Hoff, although losing his high-scoring forward, Ernie Deike, and Bill Peterson, center, has such veterans as Norris Johnson, Warren Westland and Dennis Drews returning for this season's play. And in Dave Hurley, a long shot artist, he is reported to have an able replacement for Deike. In the game played with the Lakers last year, on the Detroit Lakes floor, the Prowlers ran into a tight zone defense and dropped a 38 to 29 decision, with Deike accounting for 18 of the Detroit Lakes points.

The Lakers have a neat solution for the transportation problem for the Thief River Falls trip. They will arrive here by bus, about 8:00 P. M., and then make the return trip home on the Soo Line Flyer.

Shift Jack Melby

Coach Glenn Hanna, in an attempt to strengthen the Prowlers back court game, has shifted Jack Melby to guard. The rangy Prowler, one of the districts finest defensive players, is expected to cover the bulk of the rebounds and set up the plays for the Prowler offense. Don Berg has been moved up to the front line, where he will team with the two Bills, McKechnie and Bye, and Milt Reierson will be in the other guard position. Bob "Cactus Jack" Abbott had been slated for some work at center, but he has been sick and missed a couple of the week's practice sessions. Bob Wright, who played an aggressive game at guard against Roseau and Climax, has been sent through the center drills, and he looked promising.

A 261

Lew Hodgson, of the Schmidt's City Club, had the experience last week of bowling a 208 game and being beaten by 53 pins. Lew was rolling against southpaw Palmer Johnson, a team-mate on the Schmidt's, and Palmer just about wore out the 1-2 pocket on the Mint alley's No. 4 lane. Palmer had his hook breaking into the pocket for ten strikes, six of them in a row. A 2-8-6-10 split in the seventh frame broke the string, but four more strikes gave Palmer his 261 score.

Arena Rink Opens Tomorrow

Chuck Dostal, supervisor of the Arena, has been busy the past ten days in flooding the Arena rink, and he says that the ice sheet will be ready for the skaters on Friday. Season tickets will be available; and for those who wish to skate on an admission basis the fee will be a nickel for the grade school children, a dime for high school students, and fifteen cents for adults.

He Had a Week, Too

Ed Carlson performed a feat that is comparable to a hockey player's "hat" trick when he bowled into the top five bowlers in the Service, Commercial, and Business leagues last week. Ed had a 573 total in the Service league, for league's high; a 554 in the Commercial, for a second in that league; and his 544 total in the Business league was the four high.

Interesting Talks Are Enjoyed by Lions Club at Meeting Wednesday

The Lions club at its meeting Wednesday evening in the Palm Garden Cafe enjoyed an interesting program, including talks by T. M. Thronson, Lincoln Arnold and Arthur Battenfeld. Mr. Battenfeld, who was employed with a construction crew at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack December 7, 1941, gave interesting sidelights on his experiences at that time. Mr. Thronson, manager of the municipal sports arena, urged the participation of Lions club members and their friends in skating on the arena rink, which will be opened to the public Friday. Mr. Arnold gave an enlightening picture of the income tax situation to be faced by American citizens in 1943.

SCHOOL CHILDREN DOING FARM WORK MAY OBTAIN BIKES

May Get Them If Necessary for Transportation, Says OPA

School children who work on farms have been made eligible for purchase of bicycles needed for transportation between school and home or farm, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

This addition to the list of persons eligible for bicycles under rationing was made to help relieve manpower shortages in farm communities by providing quick transportation for these part-time workers. The new classification is contained in Amendment No. 4 to Ration Order No. 7, effective December 1.

While it is expected the majority of applicants under the amendment will be farm children who help with the farm work before and after school hours, residence on a farm is not essential to eligibility. Children and youths who live in urban communities but regularly perform useful work on a farm are also made eligible for bicycles. The farm work may be either work for pay or voluntary services and it includes farm chores performed by members of the family.

The OPA makes it clear that to qualify for a certificate to acquire a bicycle, the applicant must satisfy the local war price and rationing board with which he files his application that thru the use of the bicycle his usefulness on the farm will be increased.

Tubeless Tires Tested Before House

Fresh progress in the "Tulsa plan" to reclaim some 277,500 tons of rubber by detubing the nation's auto tires was demonstrated at the Capitol by John B. McGay, Tulsa manufacturer, who fathered the plan. The demonstrations were made before members of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee. Mr. McGay said a tubeless casing can be remounted, filled with 60 ounces of asbestos-type sealing fluid, and then can be as serviceable as the tubed tires with which 30,000,000 American cars are now equipped. Photo shows, left to right, Rep. Richard M. Simpson (Pa.); Rep. Lyle H. Boren (Okla.); Rep. Alfred L. Bulwinkle (N. C.); Rep. Clarence F. Lea (Calif.), chairman of the committee; Rep. Clarence Brown (Ohio); and John B. McGay, as he demonstrated the use of an ordinary auto tire without the use of an inner tube.

NO CHOCOLATE NOVELTY CANDIES FOR DURATION

The war is hitting pretty close to home these days, fellers. There won't be any of those chocolate santa clauses, valentine hearts, Easter eggs and other chocolate novelties for the duration. Northwest War Production Board officials, announcing the cutting off of these candies, said that boys and girls, in giving them up, will be providing breakfast cocoa and chocolate bars for soldiers, sailors and other fighting men. Effective December 15, the WPB ordered that no chocolate should be used in coating novelty items, miniature candy pieces or chocolate shot or for decorating chocolate pieces.

OPA TO FIX ICE BOX PRICES IN NEAR FUTURE

The old-fashioned ice box, which only a few months ago seemed to be on the way out, is becoming such an important item in northwest daily life again that the Office of Price Administration is preparing ceiling prices for it. Sellers of ice boxes, the OPA said, will be held to their March, 1942 levels. The regulation soon to be issued will set forth the prices applicable to each model now on the market.

ONE YEAR LATER!

ONE YEAR AGO this month our country was suddenly and perfidiously attacked by the yellow men.

A peaceful nation, we sprang into action, and within a few short months a mammoth war machine was functioning at high efficiency.

Millions of soldiers had to be transported, millions of tons of war materials had to be moved, gigantic stores of food for ourselves and our allies had to reach the market quickly—and into this emergency stepped the American Railroads and accomplished the job in true American fashion.

The Soo Line played an important part in this effort and at this time we want to thank our loyal patrons for cooperating with us in this war work and with your continued cooperation—do not travel unless necessary; avoid week-end travel; share seats with fellow travelers; take a minimum of luggage—our war effort will continue unhampered.

For use on heavy transcontinental freight trains the Great Northern has ordered thirteen Diesel-electric engines like the one shown in the picture—only twice as powerful—5,400 horse power. The first was ordered nearly two years ago. None has been delivered. All will be desperately needed during the months ahead. Meanwhile the Great Northern's Iron Horses, straining to the limit of their endurance, have turned in a splendid account of themselves.

We Passed the Ammunition

The whole Great Northern family is grateful that we were able to pass the ammunition all through this momentous year —

- that we were able to pass an abundance of raw materials from the fields, forests and mines of the Northwest to busy factories;
- that we were able to pass 29 million tons of rich iron ore from northern Minnesota to the hard-pressed boats on the Great Lakes—about one-third of all of the iron ore fed to the roaring blast furnaces of the steel industry;
- that, like a huge assembly line, we were able to pass finished materials and parts from one plant and factory to another for final assembly;
- that we were able to pass along for our fighting forces a continuous flow of the finest implements of modern warfare the world has ever seen—ammunition, guns, airplanes, tanks, ships; and food and clothing.

For the opportunity to render these services—to pass the ammunition in unprecedented volume, without once faltering, and to move troops and their field equipment quickly from training centers to ports of embarkation—all without serious inconvenience to those whom we normally serve—for all of this the men and women who own and man the Great Northern Railway are sincerely grateful.

And as this eventful year draws to a close, we join with all in hoping that 1943 will see yet swifter strides toward ridding the World of its present afflictions—that the light of Right and Reason may again begin to glow—and that the Christmas of 1943 may herald once again Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men.

RED CROSS PLAYS LEADING PART IN BOSTON DISASTER

Performed Many Services at Time of Disastrous Blaze in City

Perhaps the one thing needed to prove to the average American citizen the value of a Red Cross disaster committee, was the work performed by the American Red Cross, in one of America's greatest disasters, the recent Boston fire, Herman A. Kjos, chairman of the Pennington Red Cross chapter, stated today.

Blood plasma and sulfa drugs were flown by the American Red Cross to Boston from New York and Washington to aid the injured victims of the Boston night club fire. With 272 units of blood plasma previously made available to Boston hospitals, another shipment of 100 units was dispatched from Washington by plane.

Two members of the national headquarters staff and ten members of the North Atlantic area disaster staff were sent in to assist the Boston metropolitan chapter. Red Cross nurses and nurse's aides were mobilized in Boston and surrounding chapters to relieve the exhausted nursing staff of the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital. When a possible shortage of sulfa drugs was reported, the Red Cross arranged air priority for Dr. Orville Wyss, a sulfa expert, to take a supply of the vital drugs to Boston.

Seventy-five emergency and regular Red Cross ambulances aided in transporting the dead and injured. Fifteen mobile canteens fed rescue squads, families, and injured at the scene of the fire and at the hospitals. Families who visited mortuaries and morgues in an effort to identify the missing were also fed by the canteens. Red Cross motor corps members transported relatives between homes, hospitals and morgues.

Hundreds of welfare inquiries, pouring in from relatives and friends were handled, and Red Cross disaster workers visited the homes of families of victims of the fire to offer emergency aid where required.

Here in Pennington county the important disaster committee is headed by Ben Frolland as chairman, and is organized to render aid should a disaster ever occur, Mr. Kjos concluded.

History Society Says Holiday Turkeys Were Cheaper 90 Years Ago

Turkeys at a dollar and a half and two dollars and chickens at fifty cents a pair were available to Minnesota housewives for their holiday dinners ninety years ago this Christmas. The prices at which poultry, meat, and other products were selling in 1852, as listed in a contemporary St. Paul newspaper, contrast sharply with the wartime prices of 1942.

Beef roast brought ten cents a pound in the winter of 1852-53, and "ordinary cuts" sold for eight cents. Fresh pork was marked at from nine to thirteen cents, and hams were worth fifteen cents a pound. Plenty of venison was available at prices ranging from eight to twelve and a half cents per pound. An almost modern touch appears, however, in the price of eggs, which were fifty cents a dozen.

That holiday menus were temptingly varied in frontier Minnesota is indicated in letters, diaries, newspapers, and other records of the 1850's preserved by the Minnesota Historical society. Oysters were served in most of the larger settlements, to which they were shipped in cans. Many local products, such as cranberries, which grew wild in most parts of the territory, also were served.

Mock Fruit Cake

Maybe you didn't get around to making that precious fruit cake this year either because of the lack of sugar or time. But here's a neat little trick Mrs. Bill Grundhaus is doing. She make a batch of her favorite spice cake (this can be made several days or even a week before Christmas, since spice cake has such excellent keeping qualities. Now just as she is ready to add the flour and spices to her batter, she mixes the flour and as much candied fruit and nuts as she wishes. That's the trick, just add candied fruit and nuts and you have an economical and tasty fruit cake fit for a king. Try it.

Watering Lawn

Early morning is the best time to water a lawn. A thorough watering is best, as it promotes deep, healthy roots in contrast to the shallow root systems of grass that is lightly sprinkled every night.

NEW SAFEGUARDS BOOST STRENGTH OF STATE BANKS

Deposits Mount $45,816,000 in Past Two Years, Says Commissioner

Tracing effect of new safeguards adopted to protect depositors, Commissioner of Banks F. A. Amundson in a biennial report submitted to Governor Harold E. Stassen this week cited improvements in the condition of Minnesota's state banks which he says will put them in strong position to meet any depression that may follow the war.

Capital strength of the banks has been substantially increased through the new policies pursued, the report disclosed, and many of the practices that contributed so largely to the bank failures of 1933 have been eliminated. Coupled with these advances has been a large increase in deposits. Highlighted in the changes reported, for the two-year period from July 1, 1940, to June 30, 1942, were:

Capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves of state banks have increased $2,500,595 in this period, or 10 percent, reflecting efforts of the state banking division to build up capital structure of banks. Capital resources of state banks were $22,832,000, for 551 banks, in 1932, and are $28,495,000 this year, for 486 banks, a gain of 24 percent.

Big progress has been made in campaign carried on by banking division to eliminate speculative bonds from bank holdings. Number of banks, for instance, with more than tenth of their bonds listed as speculative has been reduced 70 percent.

Deposits have increased $45,816,818 to $263,743,803, a gain of 21 percent.

Cash on hand and due from other banks has increased $32,473,339 or approximately 60 per cent, to $86,076,707.

Only one bank has failed in two years, and this was due to a defalcation.

Commercial Travelers Group Wins Victory in Gasoline Ration Plan

After eleven months of work, the United Commercial Travelers have won a notable fight in behalf of business men in gaining approval of the OPA for additional gas and rubber for salesmen. E. M. Bennes, secretary for the local council, was notified this week by national headquarters.

The order was made with the expressed approval of Wm. M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, who held that if the small business man is to be kept alive, the salesmen must be allowed to continue to visit him.

OPA finally agreed December 4 to make the change which allows salesmen of essential food, shelter, clothing, fuel and medical supplies, a maximum of 8600 miles per year. This amount is exclusive of the A or basic mileage which is allowed to every car owner.

YOUNG DRIVERS ACCOUNT FOR MANY TRAFFIC OFFENSES

590 State Drivers Forfeit Drivers Licenses in November

Despite the patriotic appeals of all governmental traffic agencies for the conservation of gasoline, tires and lives to aid in the war effort, 590 motorists in Minnesota forfeited their driver's licenses, either through revocations or suspensions, during the month of November for traffic law violations.

Although many thousands of Minnesota's younger men have gone to war, many of those remaining at home, according to the records of revocations and suspensions, are neglecting their patriotic duty to obey traffic laws as a means of preventing accidents.

A breakdown by age groups shows that the largest number of violators whose licenses were suspended were young people under 21 years of age.

Of the revocations, 137 were for driving while drunk, two for habitual inebriacy and 11 for "repeat" violations of the speed laws. By age groups, 28 revocations were imposed upon drivers under 25 years of age, 39 upon those from 25 to 35 years of age, and 92 upon those from 35 to 64 years. Only three were over 65 years old.

The suspensions imposed included 142 for speeding, 87 for reckless driving and 15 for driving through stop signs and signals—all offenses which accident records have shown to be major contributing factors to traffic deaths and injuries. Twenty-seven other motorists were placed under suspension for refusing to take driving tests required of those with physical handicaps and 44 for refusing or failing to show a doctor's statement of eye examination.

Of the licenses suspended, 184 were in the age group under 25 years of age and 64 between the ages of 25 and 35 years. Only nine motorists so penalized were over 55 years of age, as compared to 144 who were under legal voting age of 21 years.

BE IT RESOLVED

By The Nation's Homemakers

Here are four resolutions which all conscientious housewives and homemakers will want to make, and keep. They are the means by which the health of their families—and eventually the nation, will be improved:

RESOLVED:

To plan and serve healthful, well-balanced, attractive meals to the family every day; such meals to include "protective" foods such as milk, citrus fruits, tomatoes, leafy vegetables, yellow vegetables, eggs, meats, fish, cheese, whole-cereal breads, butter or enriched margarine. To add calories by means of jellies, sweets and desserts.

To increase the food budget, rather than omit an essential food ... to use the less expensive meats, meat substitutes and fish that are just as full of nutrition as the more demanded protein sources of food.

To not use soda when cooking, as it is the cause of vitamin losses ... to cook all foods properly to preserve valuable vitamins, minerals ... to use vegetable liquids for soups, sauces, gravies, stews.

To be a better planner, buyer, and cook ... to avoid waste, and use left-overs promptly, store foods correctly.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of The Times:

Permit me to call attention to the story appearing on the front page of your issue of December 10, concerning the raise in the County Budget for 1942, as recently adopted by the Board of County Commissioners.

It is apparent that the information for this story was furnished you for propaganda purposes. As to the so-called "Bank Losses" it is incomplete and misleading.

At the trial of the first of the law suits growing out of the attempt by the county to reimburse itself from the funds of the school districts and townships, the County Auditor furnished a set of figures which have been used and accepted by all parties to this controversy since. These figures showed that the net losses that resulted from the closing of the banks in 1923-1928 amounted to a total of $14,252.98; that of this sum $6,017.27 was on account of County funds and the balance $8,235.66 was on account of funds belonging to all the rest of taxing units—townships, school districts, cities, etc., then held by the county.

Your story gives the impression that the total raise of $22,325.00, in the County Budget, is all due to the "Bank Losses". As a matter of fact the $8,235.66 which the County appropriated to itself from the other taxing units in October 1939 was all money which the several townships and School Districts had levied for their own purposes, and which the county had collected in addition to all other taxes. It was not a part of the County Budget for that year. It did not affect the county finances in the least. When the County officers were ordered by the court to repay to the Townships and school districts the money they had withheld from them, the County was left with its own budget for that year intact.

I have always tried my law suits in Court and not in the newspapers. It seems however, that it is only fair to the several Town and School Boards in the County that all the facts be given to the public as long as the story has been given so prominent a place in your papers.

Very truly yours,
Theo. Quale.

To the Editor:

The annual sale of Christmas Seals is now on. Since I have been a patient at Oakland Park Sanatorium, I have learned to appreciate just what each little Christmas Seal stands for.

Did you ever stop to realize what you are doing when you purchase Christmas Seals? With each seal you buy, you are purchasing health protection for yourself, your children and your neighbor. Tuberculosis is no respecter of wealth or social position. It may strike anyone. No home is safe until all infection is discovered and controlled.

The purchase of Christmas Seals makes possible the giving of Mantoux tests in our schools. When your child comes home with a blank requesting your permission to take the Mantoux test, give it your immediate attention. This is one of the surest ways of combatting and conquering Tuberculosis.

Don't feel that Tuberculosis is a problem for only a few, for it is not. It is a problem which requires the co-operation of each and every individual. It is a problem which cannot be ignored. Tuberculosis is a curable disease, but if found in its early stages the cure is much surer and easier. I urge everyone to purchase Christmas Seals, thereby proving that Pennington county is doing its full share towards conquering Tuberculosis.

A Patient
Oakland Park Sanatorium.

SERVICE FLAG TO BE AWARDED FOR FARM PRODUCTION

Governor Stassen Announces Awards to be Conferred After New Year

Above is an artist's drawing of the service flag that is to be displayed by Minnesota farmers who, in 1942, increased their production of vital war products. The agricultural production award is an activity of the state, and has the support of farm leaders, the press, and the radio. Local county and township officials are to be invited to assist in the program.

Governor Stassen announced this week that details would be given out soon after the end of 1942, when Christmas and New Year activities had ceased. He pointed out that the service flag will be awarded to farmers for their individual production records rather than on any basis involving competition between individual farmers.

Shortly after January 1, 1942, production statements, on which town, and in some cases, county officials will be asked to recommend awards, will be circulated.

A detail of the preliminary award planning still to be settled, is the selection of a suitable lapel insignia. The present effort is to obtain an appropriate design that can be made of non-vital metal or plastics and therefore not subject to priority regulations.

FESTIVE NEW YEAR'S SQUARES

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or other shortening
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 eggs, well beaten
- 6 tablespoons milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased pan, 15 by 9 by 2 inches, in moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes, or until done. Cut with fancy cutter or sharp knife. Spread with Seven Minute Frosting and decorate with Chocolate Wonder Frosting.

SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING

- 2 egg whites, unbeaten
- 1½ cups sugar
- 5 tablespoons water
- 1½ teaspoons light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine egg whites, sugar, water, and corn syrup in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water, add vanilla and beat frosting until thick enough to spread.

CHOCOLATE WONDER FROSTING

- 3 ounces (1 package) cream cheese
- 2 or 3 tablespoons milk
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- Dash of salt

Soften cream cheese with milk. Add sugar, 1 cup at a time, blending after each addition. Add chocolate and salt and beat until smooth. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 8- or 9-inch layers, or top and sides of 8 by 8 by 2-inch cake, or about 2 dozen cup cakes. Only half this recipe is needed for lettering on Festive New Year's Squares.

Meat Packer Donates Food to Needy at Yuletide

DENVER, COLO.—Because Louis K. Sigman sometimes went hungry when he was an orphan boy in the streets of Brooklyn, N. Y., he now gives 50,000 pounds of meat each Christmas for distribution to needy families by a Denver newspaper. This custom, followed the past 10 years, has helped make the holiday season cheery for the destitute. There are 5,000 parcels of 10 pounds each. In the 10-year period, Mr. Sigman has given away more than 250 tons of meat.

"I've had the idea ever since I was a little boy," he said last year. "I was in need a lot of the time myself."

The actual plan for a Christmas meat party came to him after he had observed dozens of adults and children at his packing plant asking for discarded scraps of beef, mutton and pork.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The ordinary machine gun is too cumbersome for our Marines, especially for parachute troops. So the Marines have adopted new models of the Reising sub-machine gun, a .45-caliber weapon.

The new gun used by the paratroops is a compact model with a pistol grip and a steel-frame stock which folds out of the way when not in use. You can help buy these for our Boys in the Solomons and elsewhere with your purchase of War Bonds. Join the Payroll Savings Plan and let's "Top that ten percent."

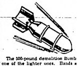
American flyers with the RAF are raining demolition bombs on Nazi cities today. These instruments of destruction so important in razing Nazi war plants, interrupting railroad transportation and other war objectives, range now unto several tons.



The 500-pound demolition Bomb is one of the lighter ones. Bands are attached to facilitate handling and the fins are not attached until the Bomb reaches the airfield, because bending would injure accuracy. They cost up to $500. Your purchase of War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan will help provide Bombs for our airmen. Let's "Top that Ten Percent."

Kidneys and Sweetbreads Are Source of Vitamins

Kidneys and sweetbreads, considered delicacies by gourmets the world over, are practically forgotten by the majority of American housewives.

They are inclined to stick quite closely to the familiar cuts of beef, pork, lamb and veal, with occasional servings of liver or heart.

Yet the shopper who watches her pennies can't afford to neglect these meat sundries. They are relatively inexpensive but are excellent sources of vitamins B, C and G.

When buying kidneys choose those which are full and plump and free from blemishes. Pork kidneys are smooth and a reddish brown shade. Veal kidneys are lighter, while beef kidneys are reddish brown but with a great many foldings.

Lamb and veal kidneys require no parboiling before broiling or sauteing. Beef kidneys, however, should be washed, the membrane taken off, the kidneys split and the heavy fat removed.

Cover them with cold water and heat slowly to the boiling point. Drain, cover with fresh water and simmer until tender. They are then ready to serve in stew with potatoes and onions, in pie, or in any number of other delicious ways.

Good sweetbreads are whole and a naturally creamy white to pinkish color. If there's a greenish cast to the white, don't buy them.

After washing sweetbreads, simmer them in water containing one tablespoon vinegar to one quart water about 20 minutes. This keeps them white and firm.

STEINER

We wish every one a Merry Christmas and happy New Year, especially the boys in the army, who are readers of the Thief River Falls Times. Also relatives and friends in other states.

Relatives received word that a baby girl was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Schulthorp (nee Irene Steinhauer) at the hospital in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Simonson entertained to a turkey dinner Saturday evening. Mrs. Prestby and daughter Phyllis, also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bolden. Mr. Bolden left Sunday for Fort Snelling to be inducted into the army.

The telephone meeting Saturday at the hall. Lodaficetaoin day at the hall had a very small attendance. Otto Saugen is president; Rene Werner, Secretary; Irwin Russell, Treasurer, and Ted Sampson and Gilford Sannes directors.

Mrs. Katy Whitman, received word that her friend, Mrs. Rogers had passed away in her home in Washington. Mrs. Rogers lived here some years ago and will be remembered by many friends.

Early day records indicate that Minnesota had a meat shortage in 1884.

Mileage Above 60 Costly

That 10-mile interval between 60 and 70 miles per hour on the speedometer is extremely expensive to use. Actual test figures show that it cuts gasoline mileage on the average car from 16 to the gallon down to 12, a difference of 25 per cent. It is even more costly with respect to oil consumption. A popular priced car which may be presumed to be fairly typical, shows an oil mileage of 900 per gallon at a speed of 60 miles an hour. At 70 the consumption is at the rate of one gallon every 500 miles. What it does to safety is an even more impressive matter.

Novel Games Enliven Party On New Year's

"The game's the thing" when a group gathers to celebrate New Year's. A few novel ideas help promote a spirit of informality and bridge any dull period until all the guests get well acquainted.

Since New Year's day is traditionally the time for people to make resolutions, a game centering around this topic will make an instant hit. There is one called "Mixed Resolutions" that will fill the bill for fun-making in any crowd.

Just seat the group in a circle and give each person a paper and pencil. Then tell everybody to put down the name of the hostess and the resolution they think she should make for the ensuing year. Then the name of each guest's right and left hand neighbor, with appropriate resolutions until the entire crowd is covered. No names are signed, so the sky is the limit as far as resolutions go.

Week's Confession.

When all the names have been accounted for, the hostess collects the sheets of paper, reading all the resolutions for herself and each guest.

While your guests are still in a circle, have pencils in their hands, there is another slight variation of an old game that applies admirably to a New Year's party and that will create plenty of hilarity. Just furnish your guests with sheets of paper marked into seven divisions to resemble a week's page from a diary.

Direct each person to sign his name at the top and then pass the slip to the right. Players are then asked to write on the first line an account of what they did on Monday. The slips are then passed along until the entire week is accounted for.

The climax comes when each player rises in turn and reads the name at the top of the page and then the confession which follows below.

'Time' Identified.

And while we are on the subject of slips of paper, there is still another game that will serve to while away some merry moments. The subject of this game may be "Time." That being the case, prepare the slips of paper, writing on each a different variety of time, such as Killing Time, Beating Time, Saving Time, Marking Time, Father Time, Losing Time, March of Time, Nick o' Time, Waltz Time, Night Time, Supper Time, Summer Time and so on. Make two copies of every slip. Give one to each girl and place the rest in a box.

Ask the men to form a single line and draw a slip from the box. After each man reads his slip to himself, he demonstrates in pantomime the kind of time he represents, so each girl can identify her partner for the next activity. The pantomime is continued until all the "times" are identified.

Red Tape

Red tape, term applied to official delays because of excessive formality in government business, had its origin in England in the Eighteenth century. The tying and untying of red tape which bound dispatch cases caused long delays. Perhaps "red tape" was first inspired by the red cross of St. George, long the national flag of England and part of official seals. Maryland Laws (1606-1715), draw attention to a map "upon the backside thereof sealed with his Excellency's Seal at Arms on a Red Cross with Red Tape."

Bathless Groggins says—

Yep! I'm back at work agin. I figger on buyin' lots of War Bonds to help out boys. Don't forget—we're all supposed to be signed up for 10% by New Year's!

British Award

Master Sergeant (now First Lieutenant) Kindle Walston, of the U. S. army, receives the British Empire medal from Gen. Harold Alexander, commander of the British forces in the Middle East. The men were honored for their heroism, displayed when a four-motored bomber of the U. S. air force crashed into a building at the edge of the airport and exploded. These heroes dashed into the midst of the fire and exploding bullets and shells to extract the injured.

WOMEN AT WAR

Irene

When Irene got home from the airplane factory she was good and tired. This was the hour, after work and before dinner, that she always looked forward to. Her private name for it was "My lazy hour." Into it, these days, she packed all the lazy, luxurious little things she loved—things that used to take up a lot more than an hour of her peace-time days.

She sat down at the little desk in her room. You could tell quite a lot about Irene from that desk. The water-glass filled with the small bouquet of flowers she sometimes bought on the way home. The paper-weight of pink marble. The thin, crackly blue air-mail stationery. And the big, framed photograph of a young man in a corporal's uniform—as good-looking a man as Irene was pretty. On the blotter pad lay the telegram that had come that morning just as she was leaving for work.

With those long, well-shaped fingers she reached for a sheet of paper. She nibbled the end of her pen for a bit, and then she wrinkled up her nose at the picture of the soldier and began to write, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau", but the corporal's name was Jackson and she called him Pete. Her round handwriting raced across the page. "My boy friend is with the A.E.F. in Ireland. He has cabled me fifty dollars with which to buy a diamond ring. I've been thinking it over and decided to buy a War Bond to help Uncle Sam instead. This may help to bring my boy friend home sooner, and then he can help me select my ring."

Slowly she began to sign her name. "Irene ——"

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The biggest field gun in the Army. That's the 240-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the big Bertha is set up in its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.

The cost of these huge guns runs into thousands of dollars but we can assure the Army of obtaining them by our purchases of War Bonds. Ten percent or more of your income is necessary. The easiest way is to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or factory. Let's "Top that ten percent."

TAXPAYER UNIT NAMES FOUR TO BOARD FRIDAY

T. QUALE DISCUSSES CLOSED BANK LOSSES

Pres. Alf Longren Tells of Success in Securing Valuation Cut

At a well-attended annual meeting of the Pennington County Taxpayers association Friday afternoon in the Civic and Commerce rooms, O. L. Ihle, Waldie Christenson and Lincoln Arnold were relected members of the board of directors, while Rudolph Kusmak was named to succeed C. D. Gustafson, resigned. Alfred Longren, president, and Mr. Ihle, secretary, conducted the meeting.

Theodore Quale was called on to elaborate on his letter published in the Times last week, and he gave a detailed account of the losses sustained by the county and its subdivisions as a result of the bank closings in 1924 and 1925. He outlined the legal action taken by the townships in the name of Kratka township to force the county board to make settlement, and said the closed bank losses should have been eliminated from the county books at an earlier date.

President Longren told of the efforts made by the association to induce the county board of equalization to make a 25 per cent reduction in valuations of rural real estate compared to the 1940 figures, and added that the effort was successful to the extent of 25 per cent. He also referred to the association's achievement this month in persuading the state tax commission to rescind a ten per cent increase in rural real estate valuations.

Other speakers included City Assessor T. M. Thronson, who discussed assessment procedure in Thief River Falls, and A. J. Rau, who pointed out the necessity of checking up on county expenditures as a means of reducing taxes. Mr. Ihle advocated higher rentals on tax delinquent lands to encourage getting the property into private hands and back on the tax rolls.

On motion made by Mr. Rau, the secretary was instructed to ascertain if the duties of Paul Roy as a member of the county board were incompatible with his employment by the local production credit association.

Plans for the next meeting of the group were left in the hands of the board of directors. Lunch was served under the direction of C. H. Jung at the close of the session.

In addition to the fire that destroyed the former Trinity church building Saturday, five small additional blazes occupied the attention of the fire department from Saturday thru Tuesday.

With this objective in view, President Roy J. Oen was authorized to appoint a committee of three to meet with a similar committee representing the attorneys and attempt to arrive at a solution, at the same time authorizing the committee to arrange for securing up-to-date reports covering new regulations as they are put into effect. To serve on the committee Mr. Oen named Alfred Skarstad, chairman; L. B. Hartz and W. M. Ferguson. The committee will report at the next meeting the night of January 7.

As an example of bureaucracy at work, Mr. Hartz cited his experiences in dealing with the federal wage and hours administration.

More Emphasis to be Placed on Flax and Hemp Output Next Year

The 1943 AAA farm program, which will be presented to Minnesota farmers in January, places emphasis on the production of war crops and conservation of soil resources, Charles W. Stickney, state AAA committee chairman, said Saturday.

Farmer-elected AAA committeemen will assist farmers in filling out the 1943 Farm Plan. The plan lists wartime crop adjustments a farmer must make to help him meet his war production goals and the conservation practices he will undertake to help get increased yields in 1943.

Farmers having basic crop allotment payments and all farmers are eligible to earn production conservation payments.

"AAA crop payments in 1943 will be conditional on the degree to which each cooperating farm family carries out its individual farm plan which will represent each farm's share in the national war production goals," Mr. Stickney said.

Allotments for corn, wheat, and tobacco have been established in this state in accordance with predicted needs and growers will be asked to plant closely to such allotments. Failure to plant at least 90 percent of these crop allotments will result in payment deductions at a rate of 5 times the compliance rate. This means a farmer's crop payment would be wiped out entirely should he plant only 70 percent of his allotment. Under certain conditions, farmers will be able to substitute special war crops or designated feed crops for their allotment crops and still remain in compliance.

There will be no deductions under the conservation phase of the program, each cooperating farmer being paid in accordance with the the degree to which he earns his conservation allowance.

"In Minnesota there will be considerable diversion of acres to war crops," Mr. Stickney said. "This will be especially true regarding flax and hemp. Indications are that considerable acreage devoted to wheat and barley in past years will be used for production of flax and hemp in 1943.

"In order for Minnesota to meet the flax goal of 1,800,000 acres and the hemp goal of 60,000 acres it will mean there must be a great switch from other crops to these war crops," he said.

MEN NEEDED ON FARMS WILL BE RECLASSIFIED

Selective Service Bureau Gives Instructions to Local Boards

TO PLACE ESSENTIAL MEN IN CLASS 2-C, 3-C

To Call 18-19-Year-Olds into Service Beginning in January

Local draft boards have been instructed to re-classify essential workers on essential farms into 2-C and 3-C deferred classifications, the Office of War Information in Washington announced this week on the basis of information from the bureau of selective service of the War Manpower commission and the Army and Navy departments.

Answering other questions commonly asked about the operation of selective service, the OWI released the following information:

The 18 and 19-year olds, who registered starting last week, will be called into service starting in January, and will be called in the order of their dates of birth, with the older registrants being called first.

As a general rule 18 and 19-year olds will be called before married men, but the 18 and 19-year olds will not entirely fill the quotas for the early months of 1943.

Married men are being called now in some states and will be called generally before many months. On the other hand, married men with dependent children are not being called as a general rule.

Dependency is still a factor in selective service classification and 3-A will be continued. Single men with dependents will be called first when it becomes necessary to go into the dependency (3-A) groups, then married men with wife only—then married men with a wife and child or children, or children only—but men with dependents who are not in essential industries or agriculture will be called ahead of other men with dependents.

Although the top limit for induction has been cut from 45 to 38 years of age, selective service or the War Manpower commission does not have authority to direct the 38 to 45-year-olds into essential industries or war essential agriculture, but they will be most useful there, and most of the job opportunities will be in those fields.

The army has announced it will release over-38 enlisted or drafted men, but only if they request it, and if it is shown that the men are more useful to industry than to the army, and that they will be employed in agriculture or some other essential war industry on their release.

If a married man has been found by the local board to have an essential job in industry or agriculture, his status will not be affected by his wife's taking a job. It is possible, however, that the additional income might change the status of non-essential workers without children. In general, however, wives by going to work will tend to release some unmarried men for military service, and thus postpone the time when married men will be called in large numbers.

It should be remembered also that local boards in considering dependency deferment will consider not only whether a wife is working, but equally whether she can work.

The rate on non-homestead property in the city will be 108.2 mills compared to 96.81 mills last year.

HOW BIG OUR ARMY?

We do not know how big Uncle Sam's army should be but presumably there is a logical limit to the size we should attempt to make it. The fighting forces are only one part of our all-out effort to win the war. The other part is production and in the world's war problem our greatest contribution to victory probably would be in the provision of materials and supplies. There apparently is no lack of fighting men among the United Nations but there is a lack of equipment. It so happens that we are better equipped than any of our allies to provide the things that are needed to fight with, and it would seem wise therefore, in our national war planning, to make production our first objective.

Granting that there was a time when invasion of this country was a possibility, there surely is no longer any danger of being occupied by an enemy army. We do not now need an armed force of millions of men to defend us at home. As the war has developed, that danger has passed.

What we now need is adequate equipment for the twenty or thirty or forty million men who are already in the armies of our country and our allies. Keeping millions of men in camps in our country is not going to win the war and keeping men in camp who are not needed there adds to the difficulties of production both in our factories and on our farms.

We do not know how big Uncle Sam's army should be but if it gets so big that the production of food and equipment must be curtailed because of a lack of manpower then we would say that our army has become too big.

DEFEAT ON THE HOME FRONT

To many people Leon Henderson, as price administrator, has been the evil man of Washington. No one seems to be entirely satisfied with his tough anti-inflation program and leaders of organized groups, whose special interests he has vigorously opposed, have come to look upon him as the one obstacle that stands in the way of the achievement of their selfish ends. As a public whiping boy he has taken a terrific beating.

No group openly advocates inflation. On the contrary all groups view with alarm the consequences of a vicious circle of rising prices. We all see the need for applying the brakes to the other fellow. The difficulty comes from the fact that we want no meddling in our own affairs. As buyers we want the protection of a price ceiling umbrella but when we sell, whether we sell labor or farm products or goods, we resent any interference that reduces our income.

It appears that both Henderson and the program he has attempted to administer are on the way out. Politicians and various bloc leaders seem to have won the battle of Selfish Interests vs. Good Sense. Too many concessions have already been made to special highly organized groups and now many more will be made. Unless the administration acts quickly and firmly the entire price control program will fall and such a result would be extremely unfortunate for all of us.

In this Christmas season let's not become depressed by what is going on about us. Now, as never before, there is need for Faith and Hope and Charity. The spirit of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" is still alive in your world as long as it is alive within you. In spite of all that is not as it should be, very sincerely we wish you a Happy Christmas.

THIEF BEATEN AT HIS OWN GAME

Graceville.—Wonder what a certain Christmas tree thief thought when he found HIS stolen tree missing? One observing citizen observed a local man steal a Christmas tree from one of the local stores. Following him to the local bakery the thief left the tree in the rear of the store, whereupon said observer picked it up and returned it to the store.

Looking Backward

1932—TEN YEARS AGO

The Rotary club provided funds to supply the services of a caretaker at the local toboggan slide. —A total of 156 carloads of turkeys were shipped from the city during the Thanksgiving and Christmas marketing seasons. —President Clarence Sande was completing plans for the annual reunion of the Lincoln high school alumni association. —Dr. H. H. Hodgson of Crookston was named to succeed Dr. O. F. Melby as president of the Red River Valley Medical society.

1922—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Low water in the river caused a shutdown of the turbines in the power plant, overloading the auxiliary power plant, and a mass meeting of citizens was called to deal with the situation.—At the beginning of the new year, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Register of Deeds N. J. Anderson will give up their offices respectively to O. L. Ihle and Fred Lorentson. —Miss Lyla Belle Schuster was married to Leonard Hanson December 24.—Bernard Barsen, a senior at Marquette University, Milwaukee, arrived at his home here to spend the Christmas holidays.

Lucille Holmgren and Sgt. Leonard Russell Speak Nuptial Vows

On Wednesday morning, December 23, at 9 o'clock a quiet wedding took place in the rectory of St. Bernard's church of this city when Miss Lucille Holmgren, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Holmgren, became the bride of Sergeant Navigator Leonard Bruce Russell, only son of Mrs. Margaret E. Russell of Winnipeg, Man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. I. Merth.

The bride wore a white wool Chesterfield suit trimmed in black velvet with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids, and she wore a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Miss Merle Holmgren, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid wearing a pastel blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of orchids. For the wedding of her daughter, Mrs. Holmgren wore a two piece ensemble of soldier blue with black accessories, while Mrs. Margaret Russell wore a two piece ensemble of American Beauty with black accessories. Both wore corsages of roses. Aviation Cadet James A. Nesse, serving with the U. S. Army Air Corps was best man.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony for sixteen guests. Gracing the center of the table was a beautiful wedding cake around which were placed American Beauty roses and lighted tapers.

Immediately following the breakfast the bridal couple left for Grand Forks. They will return to spend Christmas day here, then leaving for Winnipeg, Man., for a short honeymoon. After January 6 they will be at home in Jarvis, Ontario, where Sergeant Russell will take a special course.

At one time Sergeant Russell was a member of the States-Dominion hockey league and played for Thief River Falls in 1939 and 1940. He is now a navigator-bombardier in the Royal Canadian air force.

Mrs. Margaret Russell of Winnipeg, the bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Clayon Taylor of Minneapolis were out of town guests at the wedding.

Fern Barnett Has Three Parties for Pupils

High school music pupils of Miss Fern Barnett were entertained at a Christmas party Saturday evening at the Barnett home. The evening was spent in playing games, prizes being won by Eileen Louse, Dorothy Geving, and Velma Meyer. Group singing of Christmas carols took place with Lorraine Holum and Dorothy Geving furnishing the accompaniment on the piano. At the close of the evening a tray lunch was served by Mrs. J. S. Barnett after which Camille Narverud, acting as Santa Claus, handed out the gifts from under the tree.

Miss Barnett gave a party for her junior piano pupils Monday afternoon. The main feature of the afternoon was a program of piano music furnished by the pupils. Special awards for eleven good lessons were presented to Billy Borry, Marlene Owen, and Jack Almstedt, and the program closed with the singing of Christmas carols with piano accompaniment by Marlene Owen and Diane Winjum. The rest of the time was spent playing games and contests, prizes being won by Marlene Owen and Allan Williamson, and the afternoon was climaxed with the serving of a 4:30 tray luncheon by Mrs. Barnett assisted by Eileen Louze. The pupils had drawn names the week before and Bruce Williamson and Billy Borry acted as Santa Clauses giving out the gifts.

On Tuesday afternoon the intermediate piano pupils had their Christmas party. Prizes for the games and contests were won by Muriel Geving, Marion Geving, Marily Dahlstrom and Darleen Solheim. Darleen Solheim gave an interesting report on how Christmas is spent in other countries, and special awards for eleven gold stars were presented to Arlene Williams and Muriel Geving. The rest of the afternoon was spent singing carols to the accompaniment of Arlene Williams, Patricia Jackson, and Marilyn Dahlstrom. A tray lunch was served by Mrs. Barnett, assisted by Eileen Louze and the afternoon was closed with the distribution of gifts by Camilla Olegaard.

Broken-Down Organ Responsible for 'Silent Night'

Stille nacht! Heilige nacht!
Alles schlaeft; einsam wacht,
Nur das traute, hoch heilige Paar,
Holder Knabe im lokkigen Haar,
Schlaf "in himmlischer ruh"!
Schlaf "in himmlischer ruh"!

It was near the Christmas season in 1818 when Franz Gruber, organist for a tiny Arnsdorf church in Austria, practiced one stormy evening in the Tyrolian church. Suddenly the organ broke.

Rushing to the 25-year-old parish priest, Joseph Mohr, he cried:

"Father, unless we can find music so simple it can be sung without rehearsal our Christmas service will be without any music."

The young priest, called out into the storm to a home where a first-born son had just arrived, returned a few hours later and wrote the words; Gruber stayed up all night writing the music.

Please Don't Make Christmas Calls to War-Busy Centers

Long distance lines, on Christmas Eve and on Christmas Day, will be busy with the urgent business of war—vital calls that must go through.

On top of these war calls will be many thousands of calls of men in the service trying to share a few minutes of the holidays with those at home.

As a result, long distance lines will be overloaded, even if there are no other Christmas calls. In spite of everything we can do, many calls will be delayed and some won't get through at all. More lines can't be built now because copper and other materials are needed for planes, tanks and shells.

Won't you please help to keep the lines clear for the men in uniform by not making any Christmas calls, especially to centers of war activity.

We feel sure you'll cooperate. Thank you!

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day.

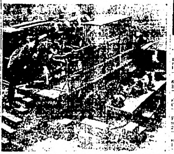
Mobile Optical Shops for U. S. Soldiers



Overseas soldiers who break or lose their spectacles on the battlefield will have them repaired or replaced in the field by mobile optical shops, the first of their kind to be attached to [illegible]. In this unit a total of 120 single lenses can be edged and mounted daily. This with other equipment make it possible to take care of the requirements of a field army of 200,000 men. Approximately 15 per cent of the men in the armed forces wear glasses.

LOOK Lady

By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

Time was when it was nobody's business but our own if we spent the night fighting a poorly made bed. It was a free country and if we wanted to spend half the night pulling the sheet off our feet and the other half trying to cover them up again—well, it was our feet, our sheet and our jangled nerves.

We still have a free country and we want desperately to keep it that way. That's why, today, it's everybody's business whether or not we spend the night fighting a poorly made bed. For research shows that ill fitting bedding robs us of restorative sleep and robs us of textiles—both vitally imperative if our victory plans are to be successful.

Short sheets affect our health because they are an irritation, preventing the peaceful relaxation essential to restorative sleep. Without restorative sleep, there is no period wherein the body can repair the effects of daily wear.

Short sheets affect our fabric conservation plans adversely because they wear out faster than properly fitting sheets, according to the American Institute of Laundering. Not only do these experts know that short sheets wear out faster, but they know why. And, they'd like for us to know, too, for this is the time to conserve every bit of fabric we can. Here's how the Laundry Institute explains the whole business of "frictional wear" which is what gets our sheets when they are too small for the bed.

When Johnny and Bobby begin a tug of war with one of our bath towels, their actions are so exaggerated our concern for the safety of the towel becomes acute instantly. We know that, unless stopped at once, they'll soon have the towel in shreds.

Tillie's nightly tug of war with short sheets tears down her morale and tears up the sheets, both mighty important things to avoid these days when health and fabric conservation are "musts" for a successful war effort.

[illegible] what most of us fail to realize is that, over a period of time, less [illegible] but more continuous yanking and pulling, tugging and crushing can, and does, have the same effect on all fabrics.

The constant pulling and tugging given to ill-fitting bedding adds up to an appalling total of excessive tension, or strain. Over a period of time, this actually approximates the quick shredding of a towel under a vigorous tug of war.

So, right now, before you buy any more sheets or sheets, check yours and make sure all sheets are large enough to tuck in securely at the foot and still have enough to cover the shoulders.

Besides proving a wonderful health and fabric preserver at this time, sheets large enough to cover feet and shoulders at the same time keep [illegible] longer.

WHEN ANDREW "OLD HICKORY" Jackson, seventh President of the United States, went on his war forays he took his cedar chest along. Today's soldier leaves his cedar chest with the girl he left behind so she can safeguard his letters and her trousseau until his return. Preserved for posterity, Jackson's cedar chest is a featured show piece at his home, The Hermitage, near Nashville, Tennessee, while modern soldiers' cedar chests stand quietly in thousands of sweethearts' homes over the land.

Grease casserole with some of the sausage fat, alternate layers of peas and sausages, dot top with cheese and a little grated onion if you like it, pour liquid over and bake slowly from twenty to thirty minutes.

Don't Drive When Hungry

Motion made among traffic violators showed that many suffer from lack of sugar in the blood. After eating chocolate such people become more careful in their driving and their rate of accidents and violations is reduced. The lesson from this is never to drive a car when you are hungry. Hunger brings down the blood sugar level. It may make you ill-mannered in a motor sense so that you race other cars, block out other drivers and weave in and out of traffic lanes recklessly.

Preventing Unpleasant Odor

To prevent unpleasant odor when cooking strong flavored vegetables, such as broccoli, cauliflower, and onions, use large kettle with enough water to cover the vegetables completely, have it rapidly boiling and do not cover. Cook until just tender.

Rubber Pillow

All who like to sleep on their stomachs, but get tired of having to keep rearranging their pillows in order to breathe freely gaped recently at an invention consisting of an adjustable doughnut-shaped soft rubber pillow that supports head and shoulders. It keeps the face floating an inch or so above the mattress. Something of this sort should do much to obviate the need for having children's teeth straightened. Orthodontists say that continuous sleeping on mouths and chins is responsible for lack of development of the lower jaw that only teeth straightening can help.

Sunday Manners

If Ed Noble of Pratt, Kan., could create a new species of worm embodying all the peculiar characteristics of those he has in his backyard tub he probably could build a lucrative business with fishermen. Every Sunday, says Ed, the worms are on top of the dirt waiting for him, just when he wants to go fishing. On other days of the week they bury themselves and seldom are seen.

$100-an-Hour

It costs the government $104.70 per hour to operate a four-engined heavy bomber and $7.23 per hour to fly a primary trainer. In between is the medium bomber at $74.74 per flying hour and the single engine fighter at $31.85. However, if you think the cost of operating a heavy bomber is high, the government will welcome a cheaper method of transporting thousands of pounds of bombs at thousands of feet above the earth to points thousands of miles away and at speeds of more than 300 miles per hour.

Coach Harold Rud's St. Hilaire team journeyed to Oslo Tuesday and received their season's first defeat, losing to the all-veteran Oslo team, 17 to 12, in a nip-and-tuck contest. St. Hilaire, with Harlon Olson leading the attack, held a one-point lead in the third period, but in the final quarter the Saints lost Olson, Bob Janda, and Wallace Swanson on fouls, and Oslo, with Rod Zinks and Paul Swenson spear-heading the drive, put on a fourth period spurt to win the game.

Detroit Lakes Noses out Prowlers 36 to 33

A pair of sharp-shooting long-shot artists, Warren Westland and Dennis Drews, sparked coach Jack Hoff's Detroit Lakes team to a three-point win over the Prowlers here Friday, the scarlet-and-white defeating the locals, 36 to 33, in a bruising contest. In a preliminary game the Newfolden team, with forward Lowell Anderson tallying 21 points, overcame a first period deficit to defeat the Prowler 'B' team, 41 to 30.

Coach Glenn Hanna's Prowlers, shooting at the west basket, built up an early lead Friday night when Don Berg, taking a pass from Milt Reierson, looped in a one-handed shot, and Bill McKechnie followed with a free throw and a field goal. Dave Hurley marked up the Lakers' first points when he scored on a shot from the side of the court. Berg took a "feed" from Melby and popped in another one-handed shot. Warren Westland, Detroit Lakes captain, hit the ring with a long shot, and after Melby had counted on a gift toss, Norris Johnson scored on a tip-in, to cut the Prowler margin to two points, 8 to 6, as the first period ended.

Johnson, on a close shot, knotted the count at 8-all; but McKechnie, on a try from out on the court, boosted the Prowlers into the lead. Hurley drove in for a set-up shot. On a double foul, McKechnie and Drews each missed their try for points. Robb Ruttlege gave the Lakers the lead when his long shot found the net. Jack Melby, who jumped at center for the locals and then dropped back to the guard position, drove in to score on an out-of-bounds play, getting a pass from Reierson; and Jack tossed in a free throw to shove the Prowlers into the lead. Stocky Dennis Drews hoisted a long shot into the basket, but Bob Abbott, taking a long pass from McKechnie, pushed in a set-up to give the locals a 15 to 14 lead at the half.

The Lakers, on field goals by Johnson and Hurley, opened the second half scoring; but Melby and Reierson, on passing plays, sifted through the Lakers zone defense to erase the Detroit Lakes lead. Westland's free throw tied the score; but Melby, on an out-of-bounds play, eased a push-up shot into the net, and when fouled on the play, converted the free throw. Dennis Drews connected with two long shots to give the Lakers a 23 to 22 lead. McKechnie sprinted in for a close shot, and when Westland tallied a free throw, the game was again at a tie score.

Berg flipped in a field goal, on a pass from Melby, but the Lakers' Westland, on a long shot, knotted the count. McKechnie and Drews exchanged free throws with McKechnie leaving the game with four fouls. Free throws by Drews and Powell ended the period's scoring with the teams tied at 28 to 28.

Field goals by Ruttledge and Johnson, and free throws by Hurley and Westland gave the Lakers a six-point lead in the opening minutes of the final period. Powell marked up a Prowler free throw, and Reierson scored on an out-of-bounds play, to slice the Detroit Lakes lead. Free throws by Westland and Drews concluded the Laker scoring, while Bob Wright lifted a long shot into the basket for the locals final points.

Jack Melby, Prowler captain, and Dennis Drews earned the game's scoring honors, with 9 points each; while Bill McKechnie and the Lakers' Norris Johnson and Warren Westland were credited with 8 points each.

PENNIES, PENNIES, FOR THE HOSPITAL

Glencoe.—The lowly copper penny has been saved for many good purposes, but it is doubtful if there is an instance where they have been saved for the purpose for which Mr. and Mrs. Willard Penk of Stewart, collected them. When the Penks became parents of a 9-pound son early this month they astonished the hospital superintendent by tendering 5,000 pennies in payment of their $50.00 hospital bill.

FARMERS WARNED TO GET READY FOR U. S. INCOME TAX

Importance of Maintaining Accurate Records Is Stressed

Nearly every Minnesota farmer will be filing a 1942 federal income tax return before March 15. The new law requires everyone to file a return whenever the gross income from all sources equals or exceeds the personal exemption of $1200 for a married person or $500 for a single person. This report must be filed whether or not tax is actually due.

A farmer who has kept a complete record in an account book is fortunate when preparing his income tax return, says G. E. Toben of the agricultural economics division at University Farm. A farmer who keeps an account book such as that used by the Minnesota farm management service saves time in preparing his report because he can copy the totals from his record directly to the tax statement.

A good farm record not only saves time in preparing the report, but also may reduce the amount of the tax payment. Most farmers have a small number of relatively large items of income which can be remembered, but usually have a large number of small expenses which ordinarily would be forgotten.

Year-end Memories

Most vividly, I think, is the memory of the performance of the Hornets as they skated the Baudette high school hockey team into the slush-ice in the Roseau rink that Saturday night last February to win the state high school hockey championship. And Mouse Eftelands's solo goal in the final period which gave the Hornets a two goal lead and "iced" the game. Yes, that Hornet gang Jug Snelling, Mouse and Johnny Efteland, Lloyd Johnson, Marly Dorn, Bob Baker, Johnny Robarge, Bob Protz, Don Waage, Luke Langevin, Les Vigness, George Effinger, and coached by Walt DePaul—was quite a hockey club.

—the brilliant individual play of Baudette's nifty center-ice man Keith "Corky" Corcoran, when he skated through and around the Hornets to tally six goals in a game played on the local ice, Feb. 17th.

—that hectic fourth period last March 18th when the Prowlers frittered away a ten-point lead to lose their district basketball title to East Grand Forks, 32 to 31. And the narrow squeak the Prowlers had in edging out St. Hilaire, 34 to 33, in a first-round game.

—center-fielder Wally DuChamp's running catch of Don Brown's line drive in the ball game played at Karlstad; and Lefty Lenny Lorentson's four-hit, shut-out pitching in the same game.

—watching P. I. Pederson and Shorty O'Hara trying to play diamondball on the east side park. They never came back.

—young Bill Bye's all-around play as the Prowlers walloped the Warren Ponies, 46 to 0, in a football game this fall. Bill picking up a punt on the Prowler 38-yard line and scampering through the Ponies for a touchdown, and following a few moments later with a 27-yard off-tackle dash for another touchdown.

—Cal Traver's tackle of Moorhead's Don Corcoran as the Spud safety man was taking a punt, causing Corcoran to fumble.

—the terrific wood and iron shots that Bill Kottke uncovered while playing over the local course. And watching Bill use a No. 3 iron on the 4th tee and then overshooting the green, with the ball going into the river on the fly.

—the play of Moorhead's fullback, Al Lund; as he led the Spuds to a 31 to 0 win over the Prowlers. Proving that he merited the all-state honors he earned.

—the stick-handling wizardy of Williams high school's bushy-haired Clarence Schmide, and the dangerous rushes he would make from his defense position.

—it's for sure that there will be a white Christmas, but I hope that everyone has a merry one, too.

WPB HALTS GLYCERINE USE IN ANTI-FREEZE

Use of glycerine in anti-freeze mixtures has been prohibited by the War Production Board, according to northwest officials. Also under new orders is an important group of synthetic resins, added to plastics which are under war-time distribution control. Exceptions to the order include deliveries of resins exclusively for dental use.

APPEAL FOR MORE TEACHERS IN HOME NURSING CLASSES

Mrs. Palmer Anderson, Chairman, Asks Aid of More Local Nurses

In order to reach the American Red Cross goal of one million women and girls with home nursing certificates by June, 1943, the Pennington county Red Cross chapter is intensifying its efforts to enlarge its home nursing classes.

"Last year's national quota has been reached," Mrs. Palmer Anderson, home nursing chairman of the chapter, said today, "but events since October, 1941, necessitate an increase in our aims for the coming year." The total number of persons in Pennington county who have received Home Nursing certificates is 110, she added.

There are many Pennington county persons who feel the need of taking this course, Mrs. Anderson continued, but the shortage now is in nurse instructors. "We are asking," she added, "that each home nursing instructor secure one additional nurse instructor in order that our 1943 goal can be reached."

Mrs. Anderson explained that the home nursing service of the American Red Cross is simple training in keeping the family well and in intelligently caring for minor illnesses in the home. Only nurses who meet Red Cross professional and educational standards may teach the courses. Home nursing techniques help win the war by helping maintain the nation's health and relieving the strain on doctors and nurses caused by war shortages, Mrs. Anderson added.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT SERVICE ACTS FOR MANPOWER BODY

Service Faces New Responsibilities, Managers Are Informed

U. S. employment service offices are among the few points of contact between the War Manpower Commission and the public in the handling of manpower problems, and local USES managers must expect many new and far reaching responsibilities, Frank M. Rarig, Jr., regional WMC director, told a 3-day conference of the group, held last week end in St. Paul. Present were managers of the 50 local offices in the state, as well as members of the staffs of Leonard B. Ryan, state director, and of Mr. Rarig.

"Never before," Rarig said, "have employment people been asked to do so much, so well, and on such short notice. What the War Production Board is to the materials phase of the war, WMC will be to the manpower problem. We have been given this job, and we'll do it."

So far as the rural sections of the state are concerned, chief interest in the conference was in the planning to meet demands for farm help. Under the new program, experienced farm workers will be classified by selective service as such, and they will be allowed a reasonable time to find farm employment. Failing in this, induction will follow.

Placement of such workers will be the job of USES. Determination of how many workers are required on a given farm will be the job of the county war boards, a program that is to get under way January 11.

Christmas Seals Mailed out During Past Month Should be Accounted for

A reminder is given by the local committee that a number have delayed responding to the Christmas Seal letter sent out in November.

"A prompt remittance for the tuberculosis Seals will be greatly appreciated," says a statement from Miss Margaret Hessburg, local chairman.

"The committee records the returns each day, as we must account for all Seals. We know a reminder is all that is needed as most people intend to contribute but put it off in the Christmas rush. Remember a one or two dollar purchase of tuberculosis Seals may save a life—possibly the life of some one near and dear to you."

Home Guards Scale Wall on 'French Street'

Home guards of Birmingham, England, have taken over a blitzed street and have turned it into a typical French street. The guards learn not only how to repel the invader, but also how to attack. They are shown scaling walls on "French Street" by means of the toggle rope, a stout piece of rope fixed with a loop on one end and a short stick on the other.

COMMISSIONER OF CONSERVATION TO RESIGN POSITION

Asks that Governor Relieve Him of Duties; Plans to Resume Teaching

Dr. William L. Strunk, state conservation commissioner, has asked to be relieved of his post at the expiration of three years' service February 1, Gov. Harold E. Stassen announced.

Dr. Strunk has advised the governor he desires to return to his medical and educational work. He is now on leave of absence from St. Olaf College.

In announcing Dr. Strunk's wish, Governor Stassen paid tribute to him, asserting "I feel he has done an outstanding job in the conservation field in Minnesota.

"Dr. Strunk has resisted the pressures of petty groups which always interfere in conservation programs from their own selfish viewpoints, including groups which are primarily concerned with the manufacture of ammunition."

Business Activity in This Community Holds up Well in Past Month

The volume of bank debits in November for Thief River Falls indicates that business activity was 11 per cent above the same month last year while figures for this year to date showed a 15 per cent rise when compared with the January through November period of 1941. These bank debit figures, released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis today, represent the dollar volume of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts to pay for goods, services, debts, etc. Debit totals for a locality are considered a good indicator of general business volume and reflect not only the volume of trade but farmers' cash income and money spent by the Federal Government to cover payrolls and purchase war materials.

Go Easy on Matches, Says War Production Board

"Hold the light" is going to have real conservation significance from now on, according to the War Production Board. The phrase up to now has been the request of a person who didn't have a match at the moment but henceforth, it's going to have a definite place in war terminology. The reason is that match production is slipping because of war demands. Americans burn up 500,000,000,000 matches a year, consuming 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 board feet of lumber and about 300 tons of steel for the staples in match books. Large quantities are exported to the armed forces and to countries where matches are really scarce, the WPB said.

MINNESOTA-MADE VIOLIN EXHIBITED IN NEW YORK

Paynesville.—The first national exhibit of fine American-made violins at the violarium in the Wurlitzer building in New York City, includes an instrument made by Edgar Garding of this town. This instrument is one of 150 contributed to the showing by 91 American craftsmen from 27 states and the District of Columbia. Objectives of this show are to demonstrate that violin making of concert calibre is not entirely a European art, and to show the remarkable growth of this craft in the United States.

SPEEDING ARRESTS UNDER 35-MILE LAW HIT NEW HIGH MARK

State Motorists Discover that Wartime Edict Means Business

Speeding arrests by state highway patrolmen hit a new high mark last month as Minnesota motorists discovered that the 35-mile an hour war-time speed regulation means what it says and is going to be enforced on all trunk highways.

Patrol Chief Elden Rowe reported this week to Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann that 391 drivers were arrested by patrol officers during November for failing to heed the new federal and state regulation, and 672 others were given written warning tickets for marginal infractions of the same rule. Although the motorists warned, escaped arrest, a second offense will automatically cause them to be brought into court.

In addition to arrests for excessive speed, the monthly patrol report showed 125 drivers apprehended for careless driving; 110 arrests and 123 written warnings for going through stop signs; 94 arrests and 52 warnings for improper passing; and 107 arrests and 863 verbal warnings for driving with illegal and unsafe equipment. In addition, 1,068 illegal equipment tags were issued requiring immediate repair or correction of vehicular defects.

In contrast with the large number of arrests for speeding and kindred offenses, drunk driving violations were the lowest in any month since February. Out of 1,066 patrol arrests during November only 66 of the offenders were driving while intoxicated.

Drivers, Pedestrians Urged to Guard Against Mishaps over Holidays

With the tragedies of war casting a pall of sadness over many homes this holiday season, Minnesota motorists and pedestrians were urged to jointly pledge themselves to extraordinary precautions to avoid needless additional loss of life from traffic accidents. The Minnesota highway department appealed to drivers to be more alertly than ever on the watch for both children and grownups in traffic, particularly during the long hours of darkness. Pedestrians, too, were urged to do their part for their own protection, by crossing streets cautiously, and only at designated intersections or cross walks, obeying all traffic regulations as strictly as they expect the motorists to do.

Warn Filling Stations About Taking A-4 Stamps

Filling station operators have been warned by the Office of Price Administration not to accept fourth period "A" gasoline coupons from motorists. Acting on reports that filling station operators have been accepting these coupons, although the only legal coupons for the current period are the "A-3" coupons, OPA officials said that punitive action can be taken against operators who accept them too soon. "A-3" coupons are valid until January 21. "A-4" coupons cannot be used until after midnight of January 21, and will be good until midnight of March 21.

BLACKSMITHS CAN GET WELDING ROD RATINGS

Blacksmiths throughout the northwest who have had difficulty getting welding rods for repairing important farm machinery have been put in a class where they can obtain the necessary priority rating to obtain the rods, according to the regional War Production Board office. Blacksmiths who need the rating can apply through WPB offices in Duluth and Minneapolis, the WPB said. Applications should be made through the state offices and the one nearest the home of the blacksmith. In all cases, WPB officials said, rating will be limited to rods for maintenance and repair work.

Infantile Paralysis

It is not definitely known whether poliomyelitis is an ancient or a comparatively new disease. Early Egyptian engravings and mummies revealing deformities have been cited as indications that infantile paralysis may have existed two or three thousand years before Christ. However, the first unquestioned description of this disease was written by Michael Underwood in London in 1784.

PLEASE GIVE UP THAT CHRISTMAS CALL YOU WERE GOING TO MAKE

We wish this request was not necessary. But it is . . . for two reasons we know you will understand—

1 War won't stop for the holidays, and long distance lines will be busy with urgent calls.

2 In military camps throughout the nation men in service will be trying, by telephone, to share a few minutes of the holiday with those at home.

Even on Christmas calls from men in uniform, that everyone wants to see handled promptly, there are bound to be long delays and many will not be completed at all. More lines can't be built because copper and other materials required are needed for planes, tanks and shells.

So please do not plan to send greetings by long distance on Christ-mas Eve or Christmas Day, particularly to war activity centers.

Thank you for your cooperation.

"NIGHT OUT" 1943 Style

On four gallons of gas a week, millions of Americans will now do their "stepping out" . . . into the parlor. What's more they'll love it, if the evening's entertainment includes a cold bottle of beer or two.

Your home is no longer just a place to rest up after an evening out. The trend, is toward the good old-fashioned custom of "home entertaining". Playing bridge, listening to music, or just pleasant, leisurely conversing—is becoming the popular way to spend an evening in your home or your neighbor's.

The smart hostess has found the secret of making these "at home evenings" successful. It is Nature's own beverage, beer, brewed from wholesome grains and hops, for it is tops in promoting good fellowship and friendliness. You will also find beer the economical beverage to serve.

EGGS FOR DESSERT

Custards and such are among the desserts where corn syrup or honey may be substituted for the sugar. So they are convenient desserts to serve at this season of the year when eggs are plentiful but sugar is being rationed.

BASIC SOFT CUSTARD

2 eggs or 4 egg yolks
4 tbsp. honey or light corn syrup
⅛ tsp. salt
½ tsp. flavoring
2 cups scalded milk

Beat the eggs and add the syrup or honey, salt and flavoring. Pour the scalded milk over the beaten egg mixture and place in double boiler over hot water. Stir constantly while cooking and keep the water in the boiler under the custard a little under the boiling point. As soon as the mixture stops frothing and lightly coats a spoon, it is done and should be removed at once from the heat. If cooked too long it will curdle.

Ways to Use Soft Custard

Use this soft custard as a sauce over fresh fruit such as cut up oranges or bananas or sweetened strawberries.

Use it also as a sauce over fruit gelatin puddings.

Serve also in sherbet glasses topped with whipped cream with a cherry or bit of jelly on top of the cream.

Floating Island

Make the soft custard with egg yolks. Beat the egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in 2 tbsp. sugar for each egg white. Drop this meringue by tablespoonfuls over the top of the custard to form islands. Chill and serve.

Strawberry Floating Island

Pour the egg yolk custard over a layer of sweetened strawberries placed in the bottom of a serving dish. A very little sugar can be used. Make a meringue with 2 egg whites. Fold ¾ cup of sweetened strawberries into the stiff meringue. Drop on custard and chill thoroughly before serving.

French Cream Custard

In the basic soft custard recipe substitute 1 tbsp. cornstarch or 1½ tbsp. flour for 1 egg. Take a little cold milk to dissolve the cornstarch, sugar and salt. Scald the remaining milk and add the cornstarch mixture to the hot milk in the double boiler. Cook over hot water 20 to 30 minutes before adding the beaten egg. It is safer to pour a little of the hot mixture over the beaten egg, then to beat this into the thickened mixture in the double boiler. Cook 2 minutes in double boiler after egg is added, stirring rapidly all the while. Remove from heat, chill and serve.

Coffee Custard

Substitute 1 cup strong coffee for 1 cup of milk in either custard mixture.

Chocolate Custard

Add 1 square chocolate, melted (1 oz.), to either of the custard mixtures.

BAKED HONEY CUSTARD

2 eggs or 4 egg yolks
⅓ cup honey
⅛ tsp. salt
2 cups milk

Beat eggs slightly, add honey, salt and milk. Strain this mixture into individual molds, set them in a pan of hot water in the oven and bake about 30 minutes at 325° F. (slow moderate oven). Baked custards are done when a knife thrust into the center comes out clean.

All That Fluoresces—

All rock that fluoresces is not tungsten, a mining expert stated recently. Prospectors use fluorescent lamps when searching for the much valued defense ore, but some are fooled when they think that everything that glows under the lamp is tungsten. Besides tungsten ore, materials which will fluoresce include zircon, calcite, zinc, uranium, phosphate, anthracene, powdered milk and common sagebrush.

But Is It "Silly" Play?

"Stop that silly play and get down to work!"

With a frown, Mr. Barr turned from his newspaper to the twins, who were giggling over a cartoon one of them had been drawing. They were supposed to be doing their home work, but had got to fooling because they were not very much interested in their assignment.

Now Mr. Barr doesn't know it, but his manner of speaking is not going to encourage a good attitude towards work in his sons' minds. He speaks as though play and work had to be contrasted, as though they were at opposite poles. If we want to build up a happy frame of mind in children towards tasks, we must avoid acting as though work was something unpleasant, and dissociated from play. Play is anything we do just because we want to do it. When we enjoy or like immensely what we are doing, it really becomes play, doesn't it? But if we are constantly talked to as if work was something totally unlike play, we may feel that it must be so unpleasant that it should be avoided as much as possible.

Really, now, shouldn't Mr. Barr have been glad that his sons were having some fun with the boring problems? If they get the feeling that it's fun to study together, they may not "hate" the work of studying. Even though it takes them a little longer to finish their work, maybe the relaxation of laughing over the funny pictures they are drawing will put them in a good humor to go back to their serious business.

I wonder how it would have been if instead of frowning on them Mr. Barr had shown interest in their work, had smiled over the picture with them, and looked at the examples. Possibly he could have drawn them back to interest in them by remarking that it takes a lot of practice to learn to do any particular process in arithmetic well, and that he supposes that's why they have so many problems that seem so much alike.

Play isn't "silly." It is just as absorbing and worth while as work—in its place. If the work that these boys are doing is so lacking in absorbing interest, they can hardly be expected to attack it with zest, if they have no special incentive. But let's not risk making children resentful of work by assuming that of course they don't want to do it.

Sent Home to Grow

U. S. marine corps private George B. Holle, above, was sent back to his Eau Claire, Wis., home after it came to light that in spite of his six-feet-one-inch height, George is only 13 years old. Young Holle enlisted in the marine corps 12 months ago when he was but 12, and after completing recruit training last December he was sent to a South Pacific base. Here, after more than six months at this base, his age was discovered.

New Year Blessing

by Jorlie Webb Pearson

TO MAIZIE GORDON there had always been something so satisfying about a New Year. The old year was gone and nothing could be done about it; but a new one meant new beginnings fresh opportunities, new hope and courage to put into living.

She and Donald had had only one year of happy married life, then his firm had failed, and persistent effort had, so far, failed to bring him another job. Still Maizie kept her faith.

"Something's bound to come soon," she mused as she went about her morning tasks. "The New Year is almost here—"

"Hello, darling," called Donald from the doorway." Greet an uncrowned king—a working man. Once more we eat."

"I bow to your majesty," laughed Maizie. "Shall I offer a kiss or kneel at your feet?"

"I prefer the kiss; this is a democracy," grinned Donald.

"Sit here and tell me all about it. I knew something good was near. Another one of my hunches. Remember it was at a New Year's party we first met, and we were married on another New Year's day—so I knew Lady Luck was on her way to us."

"If that's the way it works, keep right on with your hunches, dear. Maybe that little house you've been wanting will just throw open its doors some day and invite us to take possession. How do you get these hunches you talk about?"

"Just believe hard enough and you'll get what you want," giggled Maizie. I'm concentrating on that house right now."

Winter and spring passed. Donald's work was going fine. "It's not such a hot job," he confided to Maizie, "but one can't be choosy these days; but the company's a going concern and there's always a chance of advancement. Gosh, it's hot in here." They were at dinner, and Maizie had turned on the electric fan. "You look all washed out girl, this is too hard on you. Better run down to your mother's till this hot weather is over."

"Desert the ship? Never," quoted Maizie. "I'm all right. You're going to get that raise in salary and then we'll look for a house."

"What!" retorted Donald, "another hunch? Don't we have to wait till the New Year?"

"It's more than a hunch this time, Donald, and we'll wait till the New Year," replied Maizie soberly.

It seemed to Donald, sitting in the chair at the end of the long corridor that the night would never end. Nurses slipped in and out of Maizie's room stopping occasionally to say, "Your wife is doing fine, Mr. Gordon," but always closing the door behind them with that air of finality that meant: "You are not to come in," when he wanted nothing so much but to be with Maizie. When he tried to question the doctors they were noncommittal. Twice he had gone out in the frosty air to walk, but he couldn't stay away. Then with the gray dawn a smiling nurse led him to Maizie's bedside.

She smiled bravely at him, and gave him a reassuring kiss. "Poor boy, it's been hard for you, too. Now take a look at your son." She turned back the blanket and revealed a downy pink head snuggled close to her breast. "Do you know what day this is, Donald?"

Donald stared reverently at his son. "No," he said, "I'm still too dazed to think. It seems years since last night." Maizie smiled.

"It's New Year's day, and Lady Luck is with us. We're a proud family."

"And I'm closing the deal for the house tomorrow," Donald added.

Army Slang

The old army slang suffered a terrific blitzkrieg. A horse or mule is still a hayburner, and a few of the other old terms remain. But a veteran of the first World war suddenly finding himself in the middle of a 1941 training camp would practically have to learn to talk all over again. Here are a few samples of the new streamlined, mechanized version: Galvanized gelding—tank; bubble dancing—dishwashing; armored cow—canned milk; night bomber—ladies' man; blind flying—blind date; zombie—dumb soldier; refugee—raw recruit; Chicago atomizer—automatic ride.

It's An Old-Fashioned Winter And An Old-Fashioned Christmas

IT'S GOING to be an old-fashioned Christmas this year, a Christmas that will take on deeper meaning than ever in the shadow of more than a year of War. It will be a friendlier, more neighborly Christmas, because shared troubles and labors have brought us all closer. We'll be doing without some of the luxuries we once thought necessary, and find greater happiness in the luxury of giving and doing for others.

IT WILL be a brave Christmas, too. Loved ones missing from their usual places in the family circle will only make us stronger in our determination to preserve the Christmas spirit of brotherhood and peace for which they are fighting . . . Our thoughts will join theirs as we pledge, on our second wartime Christmas, renewed efforts to speed the day of Victory when they will come home to spend all future Christmases with us in the land of the free!

Governor Will be Inducted for Third Time Next Tuesday

LEGISLATURE WILL MEET TUESDAY NOON

Immediately afterward the governor and other elected officials and their wives, with representatives of the army and navy, will hold an informal reception for the public in the rotunda.

In the reception line will be Governor and Mrs. Stassen, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ed. Thye, Secretary of State and Mrs. Mike Holm, State Treasurer and Mrs. Julius A. The legislature will convene Tuesday noon. Thye will call the senate to order, and be sworn in as lieutenant governor by Justice Gallagher. Holm, as secretary of state, will preside over the house of representatives until officers have been elected. Associate Justice Clifford L. FOOD RATIONING TO BE STARTED NEXT FEBRUARY

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard Explains New Program Sunday

CIVILIAN SUPPLY TO BE SHARPLY REDUCED

Armed Forces and Allies Require One-Fourth of Total Output

More than 200 kinds of foods, ranging from applesauce to soup, will be strictly rationed under plans the government announced Sunday night.

With a few exceptions, all canned, frozen and dried fruits and vegetables and soups will require ration coupon "points" for civilian purchase starting in February.

Civilians will have available only a little more than half of the amount of these foods that they have consumed in recent years, Food Administrator Wickard said.

A point system of rationing, similar to England's will be used by means of the new war ration book No. 2. Each individual will have a certain number of points to spend every month. In buying a can of corn, for example, the purchaser will give the grocer a coupon carrying the "point value" fixed for corn at the time of purchase.

The long list of processed fruits and vegetables thus will join sugar and coffee among foodstuffs under rationing. Meat and certain food fats products, such as butter and shortening, are generally expected to be added to the list later.

"Next year our armed forces and our fighting allies will need about a quarter of all the food that we produce," Secretary Wickard explained in a radio address to the nation, carried on all networks.

"Everyone will not get as much of every kind of food as he or she wants. There may not be as much pleasure in eating, but there will be enough for an adequate and healthy diet.

"Canned fruits and vegetables, and dried fruit are among the foods most needed by our fighting men and our allies. Next year half of our production of dried fruit will go abroad to save shipping space.

"Nearly half our production of canned fruit and vegetables will go to our boys in service, mainly in this country. Now our production of processed fruits and vegetables is larger than it ever has been. Even so, after taking out large quantities for our armed forces, we have available for civilians just a little more than half the amount they have been using in recent years."

How much of the rationed foods each consumer will get remains to be determined. The new ration book will give every member of the civilian population, young or old, a certain number of ration "points" which he can spend during each ration period. These periods will be announced in advance.

Elmer Davis, director of war information, spoke first on the half-hour broadcast to explain why the program was being announced so far in advance and to assure the nation that rationing was here to stay until victory had been won or a better system devised.

"It is perfectly true," he acknowledged, "that this interval (before the start of the program) gives chiselers and hoarders a chance to stock up, if they are so inclined—and if they can get away with it. But I am confident that the overwhelming majority of the American people are patriotic enough, and sensible enough, not to try to do that."

"The total number of points that will be allotted to each civilian has not yet been determined," Price Administrator Leon Henderson said, "nor has the specific point value of any of the foods to be rationed. Points will be set for each commodity according to its supply at the time the ration period is announced.

"The housewife can spend her points any way she wishes—although, of course, the items that are scarce will have a higher point value, and hence will use up her points faster."

Wickard said "the way we manage our food supply will have a lot to do with how soon we win this war."

Senator Alfred Solstad of Fisher and Mrs. George Aanstad of Crookston spent Christmas with the former's wife and the latter's mother, Mrs. Lillian Solstad.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

This week brings to a close another year and in rummaging through our scrap book for something suitable for the occasion we found an Edgar Guest poem that expressed a few good thoughts on the passing of Time. Maybe you will like it too, so here it is:

Against the little that is done
Loom all the unattempted tasks.
'Twixt rising and the set of sun
There is not time for all life asks;
Nor time enough in life, it seems,
For all the hopes and aims and dreams.

Night falls and man looks back upon
A day which he has travelled through,
To see where time for toil has gone,
Just what he did, and didn't do.
And ever through his mind there run
Deeds which he hopes might yet be done.

Never the perfect day is known;
Nor perfect month; nor perfect year.
Across man's best the shadow is thrown
Of something better to appear;
Something in which his faith believes,
But which he never quite achieves.

It probably is true that no normal person ever looked back over his past performances with complete satisfaction. The past is not what we would like it to have been and so we are anxious to say good bye to an old year.

As individuals we grow old but the world, fortunately, remains young. That is what makes it a hopeful world, and, being hopeful, an interesting world in which to live. It is better that we look forward.

Looking forward, however, let's keep our expectations within reasonable bounds. We may not quite achieve that "something in which our faith believes." It is important that we have faith nevertheless. Our faith may help others reach our goal later on.

And so we wish you a cheerful, hopeful and purposeful New Year. We are sure it will then be a happy year.

WHAT IS AHEAD OF US?

What kind of a world are we going to live in when the war ends? A recent statement by an official of the DuPont organization, gave us a mental lift that enabled us to forget for a while such disagreeable problems as war debts by prompting a more pleasant speculation on the abundent life scientists are preparing for us. If you are dumpy about the prospects, consider the advantages people will enjoy in the world of tomorrow, a tomorrow that is very close to us. Here are a few of the things that are predicted as certainties:

> "Aluminum, magnesium, and other light metals are available in undreamed of quantities. Enough aluminum already has been produced in a single year to build as many passenger cars as operated on all American railroads, or seven times as much as was produced in '39. Twice as much magnesium is being produced from sea-water in a single year as our entire aluminum output in 1939.
>
> Our latest automobiles are already 20 years out of date. We shall have better, newer cars, with sealed cooling systems, with power outputs per cubic inch of displacement quadrupled, with fuels yielding 50 miles a gallon. All existing models are already passe.
> We have an aviation industry now geared to produce twice as many planes in a single year as in all the 37 years since the Wrights first flew at Kitty Hawk, giving us aerial freight cars that can lug 20 tons of pay freight to Europe and back, nonstop; and airplanes towing gliders, dropping off cars here, picking them up there! Glass that is unbreakable and can float. Wood unburnable. Laminations of plastic and wood to compete with steel. Shoes without leather. Window screens without wire. Machinery without steel. High pressure synthesis of ammonia has given new producing capacity rated as comparable to a discovery of a sixth continent. Food available in greater quantities, with easier effort, and with qualities possessing the power to prolong life."

The writer of this column will move to St. Paul this week where he will occupy a chair in the Senate Chamber during the legislative session. His writing machine will move with him, to be used in grinding out a personal column for the great family journal, the first installment of which may, or may not, appear next week. In this column the first person "I" will replace the editorial "We" and he has authorized us to say for him that in his personal column he will give a true and accurate account—he used the word expose—of the experiences of a small town scribe in a big city. Just how the paper will get along without his services is a cause of worry to him, but not to the rest of the staff. His suggestion that four or five additional men be hired to take his place was received with cool indifference by the management which seems to be strangely pleased with the idea of his departure.

Topics of the Times

By N. A. H.

Our first resolution for the new year should be to do something more to promote the nation's war effort.

A new federal office building in Washington is so big that folks are constantly getting lost in it. And we may be sure it will continue to be filled with functionaries after the war is over.

It's high time to start to practice writing 1943.

That ten per cent bonus on fuel oil rations announced last week by Leon Henderson should have been a welcome Christmas present for a lot of citizens.

Speaking of holy wedlock, a Lord and a St. Peter were united in marriage recently at Lake Park.

Now that matches are becoming a war casualty, lighting "three on a match" may not so unlucky in the future.

It really doesn't seem too much to ask war bond buyers to give ten per cent when a lot of young men on the fighting front are giving 100 per cent.

You're an oldtimer if you can remember way back when a popular parlor pastime consisted in bringing out the picture postcard album.

Simile—As scarce as butter and eggs on the West Coast.

The girl who once threatened her rival, "I'll scratch your eyes out", now says, "I'll snag your silk stockings".

With all the rationing programs, we can be thankful that we don't have to eat barley bread as we did in the last war.

So many young men were away from home this Christmas season that mistletoe was a drug on the market.

Double Sneezers

Dr. Milton Hyland Erickson, director of psychiatric research at Eloise hospital in Michigan, observed a young woman who, when she sneezed, nearly always sneezed twice in rapid succession. After one sneeze she waited for the second and if it did not come felt "a distressing sense of incompleteness." Checking the sneeze behavior of the woman's mother, he ran into another double-sneeze pattern. When a granddaughter was born, Dr. Erickson kept careful record of her sneezing, found three generations of double sneezers. In his report in the current Journal of Genetic Psychology, he concluded: "Variations in the (sneeze) pattern may be inherited."

He Fed Them Before—He's Doing It Again

Former President Herbert Hoover, who fed the Belgians during World War I, visited the stage door canteen and helped to feed some of the boys who are doing the job in World War II. He is shown putting sugar into the coffee of Aviation Cadet Marion M. Fowper, while Pvt. M. Walesky awaits his turn.

THE WAR-TIME COOKIE JAR

Yes, we can still have a well-filled cookie jar. For there are a number of substitutions that can be made for the sugar we've been accustomed to using.

SPICE, MOLASSES OR CHOCOLATE COOKIES—Brown sugar (packed firmly in the cup to measure) may be substituted for the white sugar. Honey or dark corn syrup may also be substituted for part of the sugar in these cookies.

WHITE OR LIGHT COOKIES—Substitute light corn syrup for part of the sugar. These cookies will taste the same as though they'd been made with all sugar. But if dark corn syrup or honey is used in the light cookies the flavor will be changed.

WHEN SUBSTITUTING CORN SYRUP (LIGHT OR DARK) OR HONEY FOR PART OF THE SUGAR—Blend it into the creamed shortening and sugar before gradually adding the egg. Reduce the liquid ¼ the original amount for each cup of syrup used.

OLD-TIME CINNAMON JUMBLES

- ½ cup shortening (part butter for flavor)
- 1½ cups sugar (or ½ cup sugar and 1 cup light corn syrup)
- 2 eggs
- 3½ cups sifted all purpose flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. soda
- ½ tsp. baking powder
- 1 cup thick sour cream (25 per cent butter fat) or ¾ cup sour cream when corn syrup is used
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- Sugar and cinnamon mixture (¼ cup sugar mixed with 1 tsp. cinnamon)

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream well—(add corn syrup here if you are using it for part of the sugar). Blend in the well beaten eggs. Sift the flour, salt, soda and baking powder together and add to the creamed mixture alternately with the sour cream. Blend in the flavoring.

Drop by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on a well-greased heavy baking sheet. Bake 9 minutes in a hot oven, 425° F.—remove from oven, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon mixture and return immediately to oven to finish baking—1 to 3 minutes longer.

This makes 5 dozen medium-sized cookies.

CHOCOLATE DROP COOKIES
(made with brown sugar)

- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar (packed in cup)
- 1 egg
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. soda
- ½ cup buttermilk
- 2 sq. unsweetened chocolate (2 oz.) melted
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Cream the shortening, add the sugar gradually and cream well. Blend in the well beaten egg. Sift together the flour, salt and soda and add to creamed mixture alternately with the buttermilk. Blend in the melted chocolate, the chopped nuts and the vanilla.

Drop by teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart on a greased heavy baking sheet and bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 400° F. This makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Lucky Hunchback

The Lucky Hunchback was a favorite charm of the Egyptians against all manner of evil. Like the Phoenician god Bes, also a hunchback, he warded off demons and malignant spirits by frightening them with his grotesque gestures or by making them laugh at his deformity and thus forget their evil intentions. The weapons he carried together with his manner of dancing about like a madman, screaming, spitting, sticking out his tongue and rolling his eyes, were thought to strike terror in their hearts.

Rattling Doors

Pesky rattles in doors of automobiles can sometimes be easily silenced, the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California advises. Such noise is usually due to the shifting of wear of the striker plate which catches the latch. By loosening the screws and adjusting the plate for proper position, the door is held snug. If excessive wear prevents proper adjustment, a thin square of lead under the plate may help.

PREPAREDNESS IS URGED ON DRIVERS IN WINTER MONTHS

State Traffic and Safety Engineer Recommends Caution

Numerous essential cars, vital to transportation in the war effort, are going to be involved in traffic accidents which will put them at least temporarily out of commission, unless every essential driver takes immediate precautions to guard against the sleet and icy conditions prevailing on Minnesota streets and highways at this time of year. This was the prediction of W. F. Rosenwald, traffic and safety engineer of the state highway department, this week.

"While we are striving to eliminate all non-essential driving, we should be equally aware that there are many essential cars and trucks which must get through regardless of weather. Under present conditions of increased activity in war industries and the vast amount of increased highway transportation it is more necessary than ever that winter accidents and traffic tie-ups be avoided.

"Unless properly equipped and otherwise prepared for extraordinary travel conditions prevailing at this time of year, all non-essential cars should be left in garages until conditions clear. Essential cars, by virtue of the very fact that they are essential, should be equipped before they start out. One of the best times to avoid a winter driving accident is before you step on the starter" Mr. Rosenwald said.

"Any owner who knows that his car is not fully prepared to meet winter hazards, should have the good judgment not to drive while streets are extremely slippery. That means any owner who is not sure of his brakes being equalized should have them tested immediately, and his anti-skid chains put on and kept on while ice and packed snow conditions exist. Loss of traction and skidding are the main causes of tieups and increases in winter accidents according to National Safety Council research."

Open Drive for Cadets in the Merchant Marine

Operating under directives from "speed ahead" in the recruiting of cadets for the merchant marine, the maritime service enrolling office, 109 U. S. Court House, Minneapolis, Minn., this week began passing out information and applications.

With full assurance that the recruiting will not conflict with the recent directive of the Manpower commission limiting recruiting by the armed forces, Lieutenant J. J. O'Meara, regional enrolling director of the War Shipping Administration, announced a drive to interest young men of draft age in merchant marine officers' training.

Requirements for the sixteen-month training are a high school education, good physical condition, including 18/20 vision in both eyes.

The age limits are 17 years and 10 months to 23, with one year added for each year of college training up to 27 years of age.

Volunteers for the training may obtain applications forms at the maritime office, have them filled out by their own doctor and by their secondary schools and then send them to Washington for approval.

Eagles Bowling Teams Roll Challenge Match on Mint Alleys Monday

Piling up their winning margin in the second game, Emil Dostal's Eagles team defeated Clarence Hallstrom's Eagles, 2450 to 2274, in a challenge match rolled on the Mint alleys Monday evening. After a tied first game, both teams rolling a 774 total, Dennis Wegge's 210 game piloted the Dostal-captained Eagles to a 183-pin lead in the second game and allowed them to "coast" through to the win. As a result of the match the losers are pledged to provide a "wild game" dinner for the winners.

51 NEW BRIDGES ERECTED BY STATE IN PAST 2 YEARS

New Structures Represented $3,130,000 Investment, Says Hoffman

During the past fiscal biennium, the state highway department has completed the building of 51 new bridges, 13 railroad overheads or underpasses, and five highway grade separations on the state trunk highway system. An additional 20 bridges were contracted and under construction at the end of the biennium. The cost of bridge construction contracted during the two years was $3,130,000, Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann announced this week.

Outstanding individual bridge projects accomplished during the biennium included the new interstate crossing at Winona, bridges over the Mississippi River at Little Falls, the Rum River at Anoka, and the St. Louis River at Fond du Lac. The latter three cost approximately $200,000 each.

There are now 2,550 bridges on the state's 11,267 miles of the trunk highway system. They range from moderate bridges of 20 feet or more in length to gigantic structures like the new $1,500,000 interstate bridge at Winona, and various others across major rivers. This figure does not include any of the hundreds of concrete culverts throughout the trunk system, although many of these also approach bridge proportions.

Of the total, 1,481 are concrete bridges, 1,008 are steel structures and 61 are built of wood.

Two thousand four hundred and seven of the state trunk highway bridges are stream crossings, 128 are railroad overheads and 15 are highway separations. Only 200 bridges on the trunk system have a roadway width of 18 feet or less.

U. S. Navy Recruiter Will be in City Monday

Hunters are expected to add 155 million pounds of meat to the nation's food supply in the next 12 months.

NAVY RECRUITING STATIONS TAKING MEN OF DRAFT AGE

Probably Will be Accepted Under Quotas for Month of January

Applications are now being accepted at all navy recruiting stations throughout Minnesota for voluntary induction of men 18 to 38, with the probability that such men will be accepted under January quotas, according to Lieut. Comdr. Cy R. Olson, state navy recruiting head.

Under one plan, an applicant may make direct application to the navy recruiting station, expressing a preference for the navy through induction. If he meets the navy's physical, mental and moral standards, he is given a letter to present to his local selective service board, as a request that he be placed in class 1-A and returned to the nearest navy recruiting station for final induction.

Under a second plan, the applicant may express to his local board a preference for the navy—and request that he be placed in class 1-A and sent to the nearest navy recruiting station for qualifying examinations.

Men accepted under either plan do not become members of the naval reserve but may enter the regular navy as apprentice seamen. Period of service is the duration — plus probable six months.

In enlisting men 17 years of age and 38 to 50, the navy is following the same procedure it had before December 5.

N. W. Motorists Turn in Half Million Idle Tires

Latest checks on the turning in of idle tires as a part of the mileage rationing program disclose that northwest motorists turned in a total of 551,000 tires up to December 5, according to the Office of Price Administration. This was an average on one tire for each two cars registered in the area. The nation's total turn in was 9,900,000 tires, which is a little more than the number of tires now in dealers' hands for sale to the public. The OPA survey showed slightly more than 9,000,000 tires in these stocks, compared to 20,000,000 in the normal year's turnover. So far, OPA said, 1,418,000 tires have been rationed to persons given certificates by local war ration boards, but this figure is expected to be stepped up because the rate of consumption will increase as the tires now on cars wear out.

Dr. L. Boe, President of St. Olaf College, Passes Away at Northfield Home

Dr. Lars W. Boe, president of St. Olaf college, Northfield, since 1918, and an outstanding leader of the Lutheran church in this country, died Sunday, his sixty-seventh birthday, at his home in Northfield.

Born in Calumet, Mich., Dr. Boe was graduated from St. Olaf in 1898 and from United Lutheran church seminary in 1901. He served two pastorates in Iowa before becoming president of Waldorf college in 1904, a post he held until 1915. He served in the Iowa house of representives in 1909-11 and in the senate in 1913-15.

From then until his installation as president of St. Olaf by Dr. H. G. Stub, then president of Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, he served the church as secretary of the board of trustees, the board of regents and the board of education.

Minnesota OPA Office Approves Rise in Price of Cordwood This Week

Price increases ranging from $1 to $2 per cord of firewood have been approved by the Minnesota headquarters of the Office of Price Administration.

The top increase of $2 per cord is allowed on maple, birch, oak and mixed hardwood, either in cord or chunks. An increase of $1.50 per cord is allowed on maple, birch, oak, slab wood, maple chippings, mixed hardwood slabs, pine edgings, poplar and tamarack cord or chunks and factory mixed wood.

The order, issued by T. G. Driscoll, state director, defines a cord as 128 cubic feet of wood in 4-foot lengths; sawed wood cord is defined as 110 cubic feet when ranked or 160 cubic feet when unranked, and sawed and split wood cord is defined as 120 cubic when ranked and 175 cubic feet when unranked in delivery.

Necessity for increasing the prices, which apply to wood used for cooking and heating purposes in many rural areas and for fireplace burning in many city homes, developed because ceiling prices were unable to care for the costs involved in production. With labor forces depleted, firewood producers have been unable to make cuttings profitable and many fuel dealers throughout the state have been unable to supply their customers.

DRAFT BOARDS GET BIG TRIBUTE FROM GENERAL HERSHEY

Chief of Selective Service Voices Appreciation to Members

In a statement issued last week, General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the selective service system in Washington, pays tribute to the important part played by local boards in the mobilization of manpower for the war effort. His statement reads:

Selective service is on the second year of the war and the third of its existence. It has been the major factor in the mobilization of the greatest armed forces that America has ever had. These armed forces have been created at a rate which has been called a modern miracle of mobilization.

Concurrent with this mobilization for battle has been a tremendous production of the sinews of battle—the airplanes, the ships, the tanks, and the guns. Selective service played a vital past in making this record possible.

Food for our army and our navy, food for our workers, food for the United Nations—has come in immense quantity from our farms during the past two years. You of selective service have played your part in this effort.

The war is not won, more men must be selected for the army and now for the navy, the marine corps, and for the coast guard. Men must be selected to remain to make airplanes and ships and to produce food.

As 1942 gives way to 1943, I salute the resolute members of the local boards who have carried on day after day, month after month and now year after year. The quality of your service in the past gives me confidence that come what may you will do the job.

I hope you will express my appreciation to those who work on your team — the ever faithful clerks, the examining physicians and dentists, the government appeal agent and the advisory board members, as well as the American Legion and other cooperating organizations.

Keeping Score

Around the District

With the Prowlers slated to resume basketball practice this week, and scheduled to move into district competition next week, playing the Crookston Pirates on the Crookston floor on the 8th, it is perhaps timely to take a glimpse around the circuit. The defending champion East Grand Forks team, although losing such players as Bennett Larson, Ray Martin, Lorry Worden, Harold Harney, and Clyde Babcock, has such experienced squad members as Harold Hunt, Luverne Nustad, Al Moen, and Lowell Kelly returning for this season's play, and on their record to date, the Little Green Wave must be installed as the team to beat.

The East Siders have already given promise of being troublesome, having scored wins over Crookston and Warren, their one loss having been administered by Climax. In swarthy, black-haired, bow-legged Pete Hunt, coach Ray Flam has one of the district's most colorful and talented players. It was due largely to Hunt's inspirational spurts that the East Side team was able to carry thru to the district title last year, and if Pete had been physically fit, he had a badly bruised leg, the East Grand team could possibly have upset Bagley in the regional finals.

Small Team at Crookston

Moving over to Crookston we find that coach Herschel Lysaker is coming up with a small team, the Pirates having lost what height they had last year when Glenn Simpson, Keith Thorson, and Ray Winchester graduated. Lysaker has Toddie Johnson, Howie Casmey, Bill Reynolds, and Omer Larson as returning lettermen and these boys, with Dick Sellberg and Jim Laurent, will provide the Pirate first team material. Not much height there, but they should be a nifty ball-handling outfit and they are probably stronger than their early season play would indicate, for they have been beaten by Clinges, Fosston, and East Grand Forks while scoring a triumph over Red Lake Falls.

Warren Lacks Material

Chuck Frissell, who took over Lysaker's old spot at Warren, is plagued by lack of material. Clyde Culver, Warren Fulks, Jim Nichols, and Maynard Ranstrom are the veterans on hand, and only Culver was a regular on last year's Pony team. Dana Allen, Jack Gilbertson, Henry Hanson, Bill Rogers, and Glen Lindberg are missing from the orange-and-black lineup. Lindberg, a hot-shot forward, had been depended upon to furnish much of the scoring punch for the team this year, but the blond youngster moved out of town. Chuck really has a task in building up a team over there.

Of the district's smaller schools acknowledgement has already been made of the fine teams that St. Hilaire and Climax are putting on the floor this year; but in addition to the Saints and the Vikings, Red Lake Falls and Oslo are also coming up with strong teams.

From the early season evidence it appears that the "big four" teams of the district are comparatively "soft" this year, and that the district tournament, billed for the local gymnasium in March, should be a wide open affair, with East Grand Forks and the home-floor Prowlers having a slight edge.

Better Get Going

Judging by the reports sifting down from the north, the Hornets had better get into their practice togs and begin to cut some capers on the Arena ice. Roseau, Warroad, and Williams have already played games, with Warroad edging out Roseau, 4 to 3; and Roseau defeating Williams, 4 to 2. Warroad and Roseau, especially, are reputed to be primed to upset the state high school hockey champion Hornets. Roseau's coach Oscar Almquist, reports that he has only four lettermen, Don Hedlund and Morris Taylor, defensemen; Bob Peterson, wing; and Carl Ovezon, center, on his squad, but that the new material looks promising and that a month or two of hard work should find the squad developing into a fine team. Oscar, principal at Roseau high school, is a former All-American goalie, while playing at St. Marys college, and later he performed in the nets for the St. Paul team, has resumed the hockey coaching duties. Harold "Babe" Paulsen coached the Roseau sextet last year.

The local Hornets have had a few late-hour practice sessions. They take over the Arena ice after the cash customers have concluded their evening's skating, about eleven o'clock, but the work-outs have not been very intensive for the Hornets have been lacking a coach. Manager Alex Campbell has been endeavoring to find a mentor for the boys, and he expects to complete arrangements for a coach soon.

Our Sympathies to Ole

It was a shock to learn that Mrs. Helmer Ness, wife of the manager of the local ball team had passed away suddenly in a local hospital Monday morning after a short illness. I know that I express the sentiments of the members of the local baseball team and the diamondball boys many of whom are in the service and scattered far and wide, in extending their sympathies to [illegible] and the four boys.

Farm Machinery Given Top Priority Rating

The new high rating will be applied to material for new machinery as well as for repair parts for existing equipment. The rating was given to speed work on farm equipment and other material needed for the coming spring planting season.

THIS IS THE MOMENT!

1943 IS HERE . . .

Now is the time . . .

THIS IS THE MOMENT—for all of us to make a solemn pledge that nothing shall be left undone to win the war—and to win it quickly.

The Penney Company regards its more than 1600 stores, its more than 40,000 men and women associates, as a group of tremendous vitality and force in the war effort. In addition, helping shoulder to shoulder, we include the thousands of people who supply us with what we sell; who in mills and factories all over the land produce with only one thought in mind: the speeding up of the war effort. But most important of all, are the millions who are our customers. They know that no sacrifice is too great for our common cause—and they make it—willingly and gladly

The Penney Company's job has always been to supply typical American families (people who live simply but well) with clothing and home furnishings at substantial savings.

Those American Families are now the Home Front!

It is their job to send an ever-increasing avalanche of supplies to those who are fighting our battles on the far-flung war fronts of the world.

Those American families, that Home Front, can count on us to continue our efforts to supply the good American merchandise they must have to keep fit for their great task. We will continue, unremittingly, our efforts to secure their needs at savings: Today it is more than good sense and good management to save—Thrift and Savings are now an imperative duty.

PENNEY'S
J. C. PENNEY CO., INC.

This is the Penney Company's Statement of Faith, the Penney Company's Promise of Cooperation for the Year 1943, and for Every War Year Thereafter.

To Our Friends and Customers - - - SEASON'S GREETINGS
And All Good Wishes For The New Year!

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many courtesies that have been extended to us during the past year—in several respects the most successful we have experienced.

In other respects, however, the past year has not been so good. For one thing our service has not been up to standard—not what we would like it to be.

And there have been times when we have questioned our own right to call our store a complete food market.

These things, however, have been caused by conditions beyond our control. We're all in the army now and for the duration we'll just have to do the best we can.

We assure you that we will do our best. We will do our best to secure for you the best of available foods and continue to offer them at the lowest possible prices. And we will do our best to maintain a satisfactory service.

For your patience and consideration, we thank you.

The Young Fellow Has A Big Job Cut Out for Him—

1943 DAWNS UPON A WORLD AT WAR—SUCH A WAR AS THE WORLD HAS NEVER KNOWN—A WAR THAT EXTENDS OVER THE SEVEN SEAS AND SIX CONTINENTS — A WAR THAT WILL INFLUENCE THE COURSE OF EVENTS FOR CENTURIES TO COME. THERE IS HOPE THAT 1943 MAY BRING THIS WAR TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION. SUCCESSFUL AT LEAST TO THE EXTENT THAT IT WILL BRING THE DOWNFALL OF THE POWERS THAT SEEK TO ENSLAVE THE WORLD. TO WAR WEARY PEOPLE OF MANY NATIONS AND CREEDS AND COLORS, 1943 BRINGS HOPES OF PEACE.

Who Is This Smart Looking Youngster We Welcome So Cordially?

Who is this fellow in whom we have such confidence? He is us, you and I. He represents our confidence in ourselves, our confidence in the righteousness of the cause for which we work and fight, our confidence in our ability to make whatever sacrifics are necessary to win in a just cause.

We have high hopes for 1943 because we are unafraid. Pearl Harbor did not frighten us. The months of reverses that followed Pearl Harbor did not discourage us. The genius that made us great in peace would make us great in war. The enemies who would destroy us had built a great military machine. We would build one still greater.

From our peacetime pursuits we have gone all-out for war. In peacetime production we surpassed all other nations. Now ships and planes and tanks and guns are rolling off our assembly lines in quantity and quality that surpass the combined production of the Axis powers. Pearl Harbor gave us the will to fight and we now have the finest and most highly mechanized fighting machine the world has known.

That is why we have high hopes for 1943. As a nation we are united as we have never been united before. We are determined to win this war. We have confidence in our ability to win. We are not afraid.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

LEGISLATURE OPENS TUESDAY IN THE CAPITOL

Third Inaugural of Governor Harold Stassen Also Conducted

JUSTICE GALLAGHER ADMINISTERS OATH

Lawrence Hall of St. Cloud Is Elected Speaker of the House

In the presence of several thousand fellow Minnesotans gathered in the capitol rotunda, Harold E. Stassen late Tuesday took his oath as governor for the third time, three hours after the state legislature convened Tuesday for its 53d session.

The stage thus was set for Gov. Stassen to deliver his inaugural war message before the two houses meeting in joint convention at noon today.

The governor's inaugural was brief and simple in contrast to the ceremonies of previous years. Business suits and afternoon frocks replaced evening attire. For the first time the event was held in the capitol rotunda instead of the house chamber and the public reception in the afternoon instead of evening.

At 3 P. M. Chief Justice Henry M. Gallagher and Major General E. A. Walsh, state adjutant general, followed by Gov. and Mrs. Stassen and other state officials and their wives, led a procession from the governor's office into the rotunda.

Then the chief justice, the governor and the adjutant general took their places in the center of the rotunda under two huge flags—the stars and stripes and a service flag.

As the governor raised his right hand, Chief Justice Gallagher read the oath and the governor answered in a firm voice, "So help me God, I do."

The 1943 legislature, faced with the problem of further lending efforts toward winning the war, got off to a smooth start Tuesday.

Both the senate and house met at noon. Chief Justice Gallagher administered the oath to Lieut. Gov. Ed Thye, and members of the senate and in the house, members were sworn in by Associate Justice Charles M. Loring.

The house overwhelmingly re-elected Lawrence M. Hall of St. Cloud as speaker. The vote was 122 to 2, largest margin given a speaker in the legislature's history. Harry Allen, Mankato, was named chief clerk and other officers and employes were selected.

The senate selected Senator Archie H. Miller of Hopkins as its president pro-tem. There was no opposition. Herbert Y. Torrey, Duluth, was chosen secretary.

PRECIPITATION IN CITY IN 1942 WAS LESS THAN IN 1941

18.87 Inches Recorded Compared to 24.33 Inches for 1941

A total of 18.87 inches of precipitation was recorded in Thief River Falls in 1942, compared to 24.33 inches in 1941, according to records maintained at the municipal power plant.

The months of July and August last year saw the heaviest precipitation, the figures being respectively 4.50 and 4.19 inches. In 1941 June with 6.35 inches and September with 4.84 inches recorded the most rain.

Following are the figures by months for 1942:

January	.28	July	4.50
February	.09	August	4.19
March	2.42	September	.71
April	2.06	October	.21
May	2.21	November	.46
June	1.04	December	.71

A marked decline in the number of applications for marriage licenses was recorded in Pennington county, the total falling from 144 in 1941 to 110 last year, it was reported this week by Henry Storhaug, clerk of court. The heaviest volume was registered in May and November, with 17 applications each month, while eleven were filed in December.

Tire Inspectors Named for Pennington County

New County School Head

MRS. A. C. MATHESON
Who this week took over the duties of Pennington county superintendent of schools, succeeding Miss Judith Lockrem.

LOCAL RATIONING BOARD SOON WILL BE IN FARGO AREA

OPA Is Now Inaugurating Decentralization Policy

Under the new plan of administering affairs of the office of price administration by district instead of the present state-wide areas, Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties will be serviced out of OPA headquarters in Fargo, N. D.

The change, soon to go into effect, is being made because of a need to bring OPA activities closer to the public because of the increasing number of problems, such as the new rationing program. The present state-wide districts are being broken down and administration put in the hands of smaller district offices so that rationing boards and the public can obtain service from the OPA more conveniently.

Until the new organization can be put into effect, OPA officials said that the existing state headquarters will remain in control of OPA problems in their areas. Public announcements of the date of the actual change will be made in advance.

All officers and directors of the Union State bank were re-elected at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon, in addition to which R. W. Habberstad was named assistant cashier, succeeding Reuben Johnson. Officers include E. O. Peterson, president; H. A. Brumund, vice president; A. W. Henrud, cashier; and Miss Laura Lund, assistant cashier. Directors are Messrs. Peterson, Brumund and Henrud, in addition to H. H. Kelly and Andrew Anderson.

Certificates for Women Finishing Home Nursing Course Are Now Available

Certificates earned by local women earlier in the winter thru the Red Cross home nursing class taught by Mrs. Harvey Patten have arrived in the city and are now available at the office of Herman A. Kjos, judge of probate. Those winning the awards include Mrs. Maybelle Magnuson, Adlynn Bakke, Rakel Erickson, Ella Fiskerbeck, Lorna Hanson, Minerva Udstuen, Edith Sandum, Margaret Severson, Myrtle Holzknecht, Frances Powell, Nina Winjum, Marjorie Baumann, Bessie Lang, Grace Holen, Ruby Aasland, Ella Larson and Violet Larson.

Curfew Hour Changed from 9 to 10 o'Clock

Mayor H. W. Kinghorn announced today that the curfew hour in the city will be set ahead from 9 o'clock, the former time, to 10 o'clock, and that the police have been instructed to see that children are in their homes by that hour.

January 31, 1943, is the deadline for getting tires on passenger cars inspected in compliance with the mileage rationing program, but the Office of Price Administration urges motorists to get the job done as quickly as possible.

Apprehensive that most motorists will let the job dally along until the last minute and then pile up in droves at filling stations, tire shops, garages and other places designated as official inspection stations, the OPA started a campaign to get the job done now.

Elmer Anderson of St. Paul, field man for the OPA, was in Thief River Falls this week, and announced the appointment of 10 truck and car tire inspection stations in Pennington county, the list being published in an official announcement elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Meeting with the inspectors at the court house Tuesday night, Mr. Anderson issued instructions and explained that truck tire inspectors also are authorized to inspect passenger car tires.

Motorists must go to these official stations for the inspections. If the tires are in good running condition, which the inspector can determine by looking at them as they stand on the car, the maximum fee for the service will be 25 cents. If any of the tires look as if they need attention, the inspector is authorized to remove the tire from the wheel and charge the motorist 50 cents for each such removal. There are OPA ceilings on any service that has to be rendered the tire.

Where tires are in good running condition, the inspector will place his official stamp on the motorist's tire inspection record, which is the lower half of the application form he filled out when applying for his basic "A" mileage ration book. That is all there is to the inspection for the next four months unless the motorist has a "B" or "C" card. Then he must have his tires inspected every 60 days.

Where the tires need attention—say, recapping — the inspector does not put on his stamp until the job has been attended to. The motorist is not obligated to have the man who inspects his tires do any repair job. He can have that attended to wherever he pleases. But he must bring the tire back to the inspector for final approval and stamp when the job is completed.

The procedure is the same for truckers and motorcyclists, except that the fee for demounting a truck tire will range from 75 cents for a small truck tire to $1.50 where an inside dual tire must be removed. The maximum fee where no tire is removed is 25 cents for trucks, as well as passenger cars and motorcycles.

ARRESTS HERE ON ALL CHARGES HIT 265 DURING 1942

Slight Increase in Cases Involving Drunkenness Last Year

A total of 265 arrests for offenses of all classes were made by police in Thief River Falls in 1942, the number comparing with 241 in 1941, it was revealed in the year-end summary by Chief L. W. Knadle.

Arrests for drunkenness increased from 135 in 1941 to 146 last year, while in 1942 24 persons were taken into custody for drunken or reckless driving, compared to 20 in the previous year. Eleven speeders were arrested in 1942, six less than the number in the previous year.

Notable was the decline in the number of arrests for petit larceny and burglary, the total falling from 17 in 1941 to six last year.

WAR EFFORT OF FARMERS TOPIC NEXT TUESDAY

All Citizens Are Urged to Turn out for Program in Auditorium

FARM MOBILIZATION IS THEME OF SESSION

Supt. Morris Bye to Give Address; Music by High School Band

A plan for all citizens of Pennington County to attend the Farm Mobilization Day meeting to be held in the county Tuesday afternoon, January 12, at 1:30, was given this week by Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the county USDA War Board. The meeting will be held in the municipal Auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Highlighting the day's activities will be music by the high school band, a talk by Supt. Morris Bye and a world-wide broadcast over all radio networks.

"Every townsman that can possibly get away should attend this meeting," Mr. Anderson said. "Townspeople must have an understanding of the food production difficulties and problems farmers will face in 1943. We must be aware of these things so that we can be in a position to give farmers assistance wherever possible."

"Farmers and townspeople must work together in 1943 like never before," Mr. Anderson said, in urging all farmers in the county to attend the meeting.

AAA Chairman Reports On Past Year's Record

The 1942 farm program was announced in November, 1941, said Carl Anderson, Pennington county AAA chairman, in reviewing the past year's record.

Due to World War No. 2 the U. S. department of agriculture asked the farmers of our nation to increase their production of certain essential commodities.

Farmers in Pennington county were requested to increase their production of milk, eggs, hogs, beef and flax. Goals were established for the county as a whole on these commodities. Due to the fact that for the past several years the Triple A program has been in existence in Pennington county the assignment was given them to go out and complete the task.

Local community committeemen contacted each farm operator or owner and informed them of the government's request and stressed the necessity of increasing production on their farms. After completing this canvass the results were summarized in the county AAA office and the production of 1941 as compared to that of 1942 is as follows:

	1941	1942
Milk, lbs.	44,769,333	51,099,734
Eggs, doz.	561,720	763,742
Pork, lbs.	2,045,000	2,923,200
Beef, lbs.	4,899,000	5,454,000

Flax acreage was increased approximately 20% over the acreage of 1941. All goals were exceeded according to the intentions of 1942.

Listed below are several other activities carried out under the Triple A program:

Commodity loans as follows:

Warehouse loans on flax and wheat, 322; rye, 20. Farm stored loans—barley 6, flax 16, rye 9, wheat 39.

Feed wheat—23,000 bushels of CCC wheat was sold to livestock producers which greatly stimulated increased production.

Phosphate—119 ton of 48% and 118¼ tons of 20% was distributed to farmers participating in the AAA programs. In addition there is in storage approximately 5 carloads of phosphate that will be distributed to farmers for their 1943 program year.

The wheat crop insurance program has been well represented by 281 farmers participating in the program.

Five 1200 bushels CCC bins or granaries were erected in the county to relieve the anticipated storage space shortage.

The 1943 farm program was recently announced and the county was again assigned goals. The department of agriculture is requesting the county farmers to produce not less than the goal, better still if these goals can be exceeded.

The first meeting for the 1943 war production goals was held at the city auditorium January 5, 1943 which was attended by all community committeemen.

War Bond Sales in City in December Reach High Aggregate of $76,825

Local financial institutions and the postoffice reported sales of war savings bonds in Thief River Falls in December with an aggregate maturity value of $76,825, the highest total for any one month in 1942. No quota for Pennington county for December had been announced by the treasury department. Contributing to the heavy sales last month was a brisk demand for bonds to be used for Christmas gifts, local agencies reported. During the entire year 1942, city institutions sold war bonds with a maturity value of approximately $525,000, exceeding quotas nearly every month by a wide margin.

LOCAL BANKS HAVE MORE THAN THREE MILLION DEPOSITS

Institutions Register Big Increase During the Past Year

The two local banks, in statements of condition as of December 31, showed deposits totaling $3,219,025, this being the first time in the history of the community that bank deposits have passed the $3,000,000 mark. The totals represent an increase of $968,000 as compared to deposits December 31, 1941.

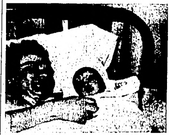
Funds on deposit at the Union State bank grew from $1,267,000 at the end of 1941 to $1,806,501 a year later, while during the same period total resources increased from $1,424,676 to $1,949,612.

A similar increase was recorded by the Northern State bank, where deposits mounted from $964,000 at the beginning of 1942 to $1,413,424 at its end. At the same time resources of the bank increased from $1,056,485 to $1,508,520.

Sgt. Robert Rosendahl of St. Hilaire Is Jap Prisoner, Parents Hear

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rosendahl of St. Hilaire received word from the war department in Washington on New Years Day that their son, Sergeant Robert Rosendahl, is a prisoner of the Japanese on the Philippine Islands, where he had participated in the struggle at the time of the Japanese conquest of the islands. Enlisting in the army four years ago, Sergeant Rosendahl was stationed in the Hawaiian Islands at the time of the Jap attack December 7, 1941. The report received by his parents last week was the first news reaching them in nearly a year.

This Baby Boy Collected a Lot of Gifts



The attractive young fellow pictured above with his mother, Mrs. Louis Schultz of the Dorothy community, gained the distinction of being the first baby born in Thief River Falls in the new year, 1943, by arriving in this wartorn world at 11:20 the morning of Friday, January 1. By virtue of his early arrival, Baby Louis Herman Schultz, Jr., received approximately 25 valuable gifts contributed by Thief River Falls business places.

Municipal Power Plant Gains in Output in '42

Continuing its record of past years, tho by a smaller margin, the municipal power plant in 1942 again registered an increase in kilowatt output, the total increasing from 4,597,600 kilowatts in 1941 to 4,636,000 in 1942, Supt. Ole Legvold reported this week.

Thanks to a liberal flow of water during the year, the turbines produced in 1942 just short of 2,000,000 kilowatts, the total being 1,990,500 as compared to 1,903,400 in 1941. The biggest output from the turbines for any one month was in March, with 235,700 kilowatts, while in December the output was 183,000.

Production by the turbines, Mr. Legvold pointed out, would have been considerably larger but for the fact that one of the two turbines was shut down for repairs during the period from April 15 to August 17.

The McIntosh & Seymour engine produced the bulk of the kilowatt output by the three Diesel units, with 1,246,900 kilowatts for the year, followed by the new large Busch-Sulzer unit with 500,700 kilowatts and the smaller unit with 897,900 kilowatts.

MUNICIPAL COURT REVIEW REVEALS SMALLER VOLUME

Fines and Fees Collected Decline One-third, Judge Arnold Reports

That residents of this community were in general more law-abiding in 1942 than the preceding year is indicated in a summary of municipal court activities completed this week by Judge Lincoln Arnold. The report reveals that fines and fees fell off about one-third, declining from $2,169.90 in 1941 to $1,376.72 last year.

Violations of city ordinances brought into the city treasury fines totaling [illegible], compared to $1,727.85 in 1941, while fees in criminal cases netted the city $184.80 and fees in civil cases $119.65. A total of $230 was paid to Pennington county from fines, and $131.50 to the state treasurer.

Number of cases handled declined sharply from 649 in 1941 to 381 in 1942. Included were 161 criminal cases for violations of city ordinances, 69 parking law violations, 75 criminal cases based on violations of state statutes, and 76 civil cases.

Cases of drunkenness brought in by the police and sheriff numbered 119, compared to 106 in 1941. Actions involving reckless driving totaled 19 last year and 29 in 1941, while there were only five cases of drunken driving in 1942 compared to 17 the preceding year. Eight drivers licenses were suspended or revoked, and 14 defendants were bound over to district court.

BURGLARS OBTAIN $6.00 AT JAHR'S MEAT MARKET

390 Births, 132 Deaths Recorded Here in 1942

The past year was notable in respect to the large number of births recorded in 1942 in the city of Thief River Falls, the total increasing from 343 in 1941 to 390 in the past year, Dr. O. F. Mellby, city health officer, revealed this week. At the same time 132 deaths were registered, compared to 140 in 1941 and 112 in 1940, indicating that the stork is leading the Grim Reaper in this community by a considerable margin.

Shaw, publicity chairman, today issued an appeal for more women to contribute their time to the undertaking. Mrs. Shaw said, "At the last meeting before the holiday season, the women pledged themselves to turn out 100 per cent after the holidays, but if there isn't a better attendance than there has been this week, the committee will be obliged to draft women for this work, which is so vital to all our boys in service."

PAUL ROY AGAIN NAMED HEAD OF COUNTY BOARD

O. M. Mandt Elected Vice Chairman at Meeting Tuesday

APPOINT DR. MELLBY CO. HEALTH OFFICER

Appropriate Usual $1,500 for Agricultural Extension Work

The Pennington county board, which convened Tuesday for its annual organization meeting, will complete its business today. Meeting with the board for the first time was Perl W. Mabey, who was elected in November to succeed Alfred Bredeson, not a candidate for reelection.

As its first business, the board elected Paul A. Roy as its chairman, succeeding Mr. Bredeson, Mr. Roy having filled the position for several years previous. O. M. Mandt was named vice chairman.

Dr. O. F. Mellby was reappointed as county health officer, while serving with him on the health committee are Mr. Mabey and W. H. Mulry. Mr. Mabey was appointed to take the place on the Oakland Park sanatorium commission vacated by Mr. Bredeson.

Named to serve on standing committees were Roy, Frank Race and Mandt, roads; Mulry and Roy, bridges and culverts; and Roy, Mulry and Mabey, court house.

Salaries under the jurisdiction of the board were left unchanged with the exception of Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, who was granted a salary of $1,500, an increase of $100. Wage rates for county employes were set as follows: grader and snowplow operators, 60 cents an hour; man, team and mower, 80 cents; man and team, 70 cents; and common labor, 45 cents.

Remaining to be completed today were action on bids for the county printing, approval of beer licenses and fixing allotments for state aid and county aid roads.

COUNTY SHEEP MEN HOLD INTERESTING MEETING TUESDAY

University Farm Authority Addresses Session in This City

Thirty leading sheep men from Pennington County met Tuesday to line up a campaign on controlling nodular worms in sheep. A great deal of interest was shown by those present according to County Agent Ernest Palmer.

W. E. Morris, extension animal husbandman, University Farm, discussed with the sheep men the losses from nodular worm infestations, the war need for surgical sutures, the economical loss to the producer, methods of control, and the cost of treatments. He stated that in some instances, nodular worm infestation was as high as 70%.

The method of control recommended by Mr. Morris was a drench composed of one ounce of phenothiazine and three to four ounces of milk. He recommended that two drenches be given if possible, one now and the second about April 1. If it wasn't possible to give a drench now, the producer should wait until just before the sheep go out on pasture before treating.

In order to carry the program through to completion, a committee was set up to administer it. Members are: Ernest Palmer, Emil Larson, Soren Knutson, Anton Johnson, R. J. McKercher, Frank Hardisty, and V. C. Noper. R. J. McKercher was appointed to order supplies for the campaign.

YOUR HOUSE AND THE WAR: Salvage
Of all the nations on earth, we Americans must admit to habits of wastefulness known in no other country.
We have lived so long in the midst of plenty that we have lost the art of utilizing everything of value. Now we have to learn to salvage, re-claim, re-use . . . every little item we live with.
On the home front such economies are especially important. Every housewife can devise ways of turning things to use.
But remember this: in order to get long use out of the things you buy, you must buy them carefully in the first place.
The close scrutiny, the rigid testing of Penney merchandise, assures you good value . . . an assurance you MUST have in everything you buy today.

The rites are being conducted in the St. Olaf Lutheran church of Grygla with Rev G. L. Halmrast conducting. Interment will be in the Grygla cemetery.

Mrs. Nomeland, who was born in Norway Dec. 1, 1857, came to the United States in 1886 and lived in Fisher. Thirteen years later she came to Valley Township, Marshall county, and she has made her home here since. Her marriage to Sigurd G. Nomeland took place in 1885 in Norway.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Sigurd Levorsen and Mrs. Emil Anderson of Grygla, Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Carlos, Mrs. Charles Motzko of Little Falls; three sons, James of Langdon, N. D., Ole and Halvor of Grygla; one sister in Norway; two brothers, T. G. Helle of Goodridge, and Targie Helle of Craig; 27 grandchildren and one great grandchild. Her husband, one daughter, and two sons preceded her in death.

SIX-MONTH-OLD PULLET HATCHES 14 CHICKS

Canby.—If there were a few more chickens like the one on the Clarence Gilbertson farm, south of Canby, the goal of four million eggs in 1943 will be easy. When this White Rock pullet was six months old it was the mother of 14 baby chicks. The precocious chick started laying October 1 and soon had a well-filled nest and proceeded to set for three weeks like a veteran biddy. Her 14 chicks are all thriving.

IT'S ROBINS IN DECEMBER

Coleraine.—Folks around town are beginning to wonder whether it's winter or springtime as reports of seeing robins pop up. Mrs. E. R. Blair fed two robins she found sitting on her back steps the day before Christmas and a fine fat fellow was seen just outside the hotel basking in the winter sun a couple of days later.

PAY NOW
(Industrial News Reviews)

Twenty-seven million Americans will soon be paying heavy income taxes that as time goes on will become even heavier. To all but a mere fraction of this number, personal income taxes will be a new experience. In fact, according to recent surveys, a good proportion of these people do not yet realize they have been included in the taxable brackets. They are making no preparations to pay taxes. They are spending their money as fast as they earn it. The threat to government authority and solvency by a mass of potential tax delinquents, is serious.

A practical solution is the prompt adoption of a pay-as-you-go arrangement such as the Ruml plan. Mr. Ruml, former dean of social sciences at the University of Chicago, and chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, observes that: "Nothing can be gained by arguing that people ought to have saved the tax on last year's income out of last year's income. The fact is that they did not do it and now they cannot do it."

Every taxpayer must realize that we cannot survive war, and return to a system of individual freedom unless the government remains solvent. If it is to do that, the people will have to pay taxes and buy bonds on a devastating scale. Tax laws must be mercilessly far-reaching and efficient.

SHOULD BE TOLD ABOUT RATIONING (Park Region Echo)

Criticism is leveled at the OPA and Department of Agriculture for making an advance announcement of the forthcoming rationing of about 200 food items. Some hold the opinion that letting the cat out of the bag so early only serves to give the chiselers and hoarders a head start. Elmer Davis, of the War Information Office explained this very nicely, we believe. The public, by this time, should be cooperative and patriotic enough to accept these rationing measures, not as inconveniences, but as the only means to distribute goods equally and fairly to all, rather than allowing a few greedy hogs to lap everything up with no regard for their neighbors. We will always have the chiselers with us, and this time will be no exception. But these people have been hoarding canned foods for months, anticipating shortages. The announcement of the impending rationing will spur them to hoard more, no doubt. But now merchants know what to expect and they can control their sales if necessary, limiting purchases to each customer, spreading their sales over more customers. If the American public wants to hoard and chisel on the sly, the government can't be blamed. This is our war and our program—it is up to all of us to take part. Let's not be like the fellow who rushed into a local store just before coffee was rationed and said, "give me 10 pounds of coffee—I want to stock up before these darned chiselers get it all."

A CITATION IS NECESSARY
(Watonwan County Plaindealer)

Some better system is needed for public recognition for the boys who stay home on the farm, while their brothers in the cities and not living on the farm go into the army, navy or marines. The boy who stays on the farm to help push agriculture to its highest peaks in years is doing just as much to win the war as the boy in the army or in a national defense plant.

If he could be inducted by his local draft board, taken into regular government service and then assigned to the farm, he would be eligible for the same kind of an honorable discharge paper at the end of the war as the man in military service. He might be given an insignia to wear on his arm similar to the insignia showing the branch of service worn by a soldier on the shoulder of his uniform.

Today the boy who is refused admission to the fighting services has an inferiority complex which might well be changed to a spirit of eagerness to help win the war through high agricultural production. There are many others on the Home Front, who have a difficult job, long hours and hard working conditions to provide for the civilian population and to supply the men doing the actual fighting. The war must be fought on the home front as well as the fighting front and it must have tremendously hard working service of supply. This starts on the farm and continues to the battle fronts of the world.

From the State Capitol
BY W. E. DAHLQUIST

The legislature does not formally convene until tomorrow, Tuesday, but several organization meetings have already been held and the necessary preliminaries have been disposed of. A few of the old-timers have put in many hours of work. Committee assignments have been made and to the individual members this of course is a matter of great importance.

In these assignments the desires of the individuals are considered as far as possible. We had been asked to submit a list of preferences and I am well satisfied with the action of the committee on my requests. I have been assigned to the following committees:

Dairy Products and Livestock
Education
Finance
Municipal Affairs
Public Highways
Public Welfare
Reforestation
Rural Credits and State Development
Liquor Control

Most of these I inherited from Senator Tungseth, my list including all his assignments except "University" and with the addition of "Finance" and "Reforestation." All of these committees are of special interest to the people of our district.

The finance committee, they tell me, is the back breaker. All bills that require an appropriation, and that includes most of them, clear through this committee. A. J. Rockne, who has represented a rural community in the legislature since 1903, is chairman of this committee and he has a reputation among the members of being the kind of a fellow who doesn't believe in putting off until tomorrow what can be done today. If there is a legislative jam at the close of the session the fault is not his. There are no holidays in his calendar and he thinks nights are a fine time to work. From my associations on this committee I hope to acquire a good general knowledge of the problems of the state of Minnesota. I think too that this committee will save me some money personally. My cost of living is never high when I am busy.

Education is another committee that promises to be interesting. An interim committee report, recommending a complete revision of our system of school aids, will be highly controversial. There seems to be general agreement that the present system needs an overhauling but any system that is devised to replace it will not be without imperfections.

At an organization meeting this afternoon the majority group selected Senator A. H. Miller, representing rural Hennepin County, as its choice for president pro tem of the Senate. This is regarded merely as an honorary position that is passed around among the old timers. In filling this office there seemed to be no intention of naming the future lieutenant governor, it being assumed that Governor Stassen will not step out until the legislature has adjourned.

After an interesting discussion on the possibilities of shortening the session this year the majority group voted unanimously in favor of cutting the time from the regulation ninety to seventy-five days but judging from the number of doubts that were expressed on the ability to complete the work in that period my guess is that the seventy-five day limit will be useful merely as a mark to shoot at. Setting this mark, however, will tend to speed up the action in the early days of the session, the time when apparently it needs to be speeded up.

Twin City hotels are doing a boom town business and not much encouragement is given to the idea of monthly rates. They feel the same way as the storekeeper who hung up a sign reading, "Please be kind to our clerks, they are more precious than customers." After checking them all I have decided upon the St. Paul where I will be "at home" while away from home. This is the headquarters of the majority group in the Senate and staying here gives me some advantages of association. I have already discovered that there is some advantage in having friends.

By this time next week I should have a little better idea of what the routine at the Capitol will be and I will try to give you more information on pending legislation.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

This morning I drove out to the heavy timbered area sixty miles east of here. On the way out I picked up a farmer who was interested in some post and pole timber. He had listened-in to the talk made by Secretary Wickard on Sunday night. He was not opposed in anyway to the war program in fact, he was very outspoken in his acceptance of it. He did however, criticize the announcement of the rationing so far in advance. He felt it would allow those who have the means and disposition to hoard a quantity of items that are to be rationed, a splendid opportunity to do so, in fact, it appeared to him to be an invitation to the hoarding minded person, to get busy. I missed the radio talk by the secretary and was much inclined to agree with the gentleman in his conclusions.

On the way to the timber we stopped at a little cross-roads store and while we were in the store a small group of country people were discussing the coming rationing program. They held the same opinion my companion had expressed, they were quite sure a large number of people would take advantage of the intervening time and hoard a large quantity of food that may become scarce.

When I returned home, I read the Secretary's statement in the daily paper that had come in during my absence and also found some criticism of the plan.

When I tuned in for the news of the day, the radio report carried some very severe criticism by men prominent in congress. There was no doubt the announcement of the rationing was a clumsy piece of work and would go far to offset the intention of the plan which of course was to protect the homes of the country as well as the fighting forces.

Thinking the matter over carefully, I found that every case of criticism and fear of hoarding was based on the assumption that right among us, our neighbors, our townsmen and fellow farmers, were the ones we had adjudged as hoarders, unwilling to co-operate in this small way with their government and their more loyal neighbors.

Without going in the reasons why it would be impossible to start a program that requires the setting up of the proper official machinery necessary to put a plan in operation that must reach every hamlet and city ward in this great nation, on one day's notice or ten days notice, or trying to show how foolish it would be to try to carry out such a program secretly, I will say, While there is an element of selfishness in nearly all of us that always has a plentiful number of excuses for asserting itself, in this matter it excuses hoarding on the grounds that others will do it and we must protect our selves by doing it.

We can not control this element in other families but we can control it in our own household and in this household we need not attempt to buy one item beyond our regular and necessary requirements. If our neighbors wish to do so that is their business, we will abide by the request of the Government and if all or the great majority of the families of our locality will do likewise, every family will have a plentiful supply of all kinds of food.

$82 CONTRIBUTED IN COUNTY TO BUY SEED FOR RUSSIA
Each Farmer Is Requested to Supply at Least One Bushel

Complete plans for assisting the Russians in securing a supply of seed grain were made by the Russian War Relief committee at a recent meeting in the county agent's office in Thief River Falls. Simon Breiland, chairman of the committee, along with R. J. McKercher and William Ferguson announced that subscriptions have already reached $82.00 in this worthy cause.

The committee is asking all Pennington County farmers to contribute at least a bushel of grain towards this program. If more convenient, the farmers are asked to make a payment in cash which will then be used to purchase seed by the car load lot.

The committee states that every pound of seed, which will reach Russia in the next few months, will be worth its weight in ammunition to the Russians next spring. A considerable area of fertile Russian land has been lost and their seed situation is very serious. Those wishing to help out the cause are asked to contribute as much as possible to members of the committee, AAA, community committee men, or leave their contributions at the county agent's office.

ENTERTAINING A GUEST AND DIDN'T KNOW IT

Claremont.—What a surprise Mrs. E. C. Craig had when at four o'clock one morning recently she entered the living room of her home to find a perfect stranger lounging in the most comfortable chair in the room and enjoying a big black cigar. Mr. Craig had driven from the cities in a blinding snowstorm, arriving home about three o'clock, and when she was first awakened by the radio she assumed her husband had decided to stay up a while and listen to it. But later the playing awoke the baby and she went to the living room to turn it off. It was then she found the uninvited guest. Investigation revealed the guest to be a man who was hitch-hiking his way back to his "home", the State Hospital at Rochester.

GAS STATIONS ARE ASKED TO SERVE AS SALVAGE DEPOTS
Committee of Petroleum Industry Announces New Project

Thousands of Minnesota service station operators will help continue the flow of scrap metal which is so vitally needed in the production of steel, by establishing "official salvage depots for donated scrap" at gas stations throughout the state, according to an announcement by I. A. O'Shaughnessy, chairman of the petroleum industry salvage committee.

O'Shaughnessy said that the plan was adopted to give every housewife and small business place in Minnesota, a convenient place at which small amounts of scrap accumulating from time to time, can be easily deposited. Service stations will post signs informing the public that scrap which is donated will be accepted. All money received from the sale of scrap will go to the local salvage committee for disposition. Local salvage chairmen will arrange for disposal of all scrap donated to filling stations.

Service stations will now become a continuing part of the salvage drives which have been underway for several months, and will help carry on the splendid work started by newspapers and local salvage committees of Minnesota. O'Shaughnessy said that the scrap metal situation is still very critical, in fact so serious, that not one person should relax in the effort to discover every pound of scrap metal which may still be lying idle and useless in homes and garages.

Funeral Services Held for Alfred Jarshaw

Last rites were held Monday, December 28, for Alfred Jarshaw who passed away at a local hospital at 6:00 P. M. Monday, December 21, after a lingering illness. At the time of his death he was 67 years 2 months and [illegible] days. The services were held at the Rindal Lutheran church with Rev. E. L. Tungseth and Rev. Theo. Mybrer officiating, and interment was made in the Rindal cemetery.

Mr. Jarshaw was born October 12, 1875, in Columbia County, Wisconsin, where he operated his father's farm for a number of years. He came to Marshall County at the age of 27 and purchased a farm in New Solum Township where he was married May 2, 1912, to Tilla Langlie, and made his home.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife and nine children, Mrs. Nels Roe of Viking; Elmer, who is now in military service in India; Sammy of Camp Livingston, La.; Irvin, Irene, James, Maynard, Florence, and Fern all at home; and three grandchildren. His parents, six sisters and five brothers preceded him in death.

GIRL SCOUT GROUP MAKES REPORT ON 1942 ACTIVITIES
Total of 148 Local Girls Are Participants in Work During Year

A report of girl scout activities in this community, prepared by the local girl scout council, includes the following highlights:

A total of 148 girls registered for girl scout work in 1942, and of these, 38 belong to the brownie troop, 89 are intermediate scouts, and 21 are senior scouts. 42 adults registered for work with the 6 brownie troops, 6 intermediate troops, and one senior troop last year, but there is still a great demand for adults who are willing to give their time to the training of these children.

Rotarians and parents of the scouts furnished transportation for the 55 scouts who vacationed at Camp Trowbridge this summer. The outing was made possible by the sale of 1125 boxes of girl scout cookies which netted a total of $117.11, while $15.50 was also turned in from the sale of McCalls subscriptions.

The girl scouts have taken part in many community activities, such as first aid, nursing and patriotic parades. Carolers were sent to cheer the patients at the sanatorium and the local hospitals, as well as other invalids. Favors were made for trays at the sanatorium, and home-made scrap-books and library books were taken to the hospital patients. At the close of the year the council entertained all the scouts at an annual party.

The girl scouts have helped in several window displays in the city last year, one being in the Northern State Bank during National Girl Scout week. Through the reports of activities turned in to the local newspaper by the scribes, the parents and public have been kept informed of girl scout activities.

STRANGE AFFLICTION

Windom.—A former Windomite, Mrs. Harold Ness, now of Eau Claire, Wisc., has just had four or five fragments of shot removed from her skull and is making a fine recovery from the operation. Strange is the fact that the fragments had apparently been within her skull for some twenty years as she was the victim of an accidental gun discharge that long ago.

Keeping Pie Crust Crisp

When taking a pie from the oven do not put it on flat surface of a table to cool, but on a high wire rack. The rack helps to keep the crust crisp.

Auxiliary Notes

The first meeting of the Auxiliary in the New Year will be held this (Thursday) evening. During the fall months the members assisted in surgical dressings from seven o'clock until nine, after which the meetings were conducted. However, due to the lateness of the hour this was found inconvenient, so the regular meeting hour, 8 o'clock, will be resumed. Let us all begin the New Year right by attending all meetings and making them as worth while and interesting as possible.

The members are also urged to assist with the surgical dressings as many afternoons and evenings as possible. A good turnout of members in this worthy undertaking is a credit to our unit. The surgical dressing rooms in the auditorium are open every afternoon except Saturday and Sunday from 2 o'clock until 5 and every evening from 7 until 10. Instructors are on hand to assist the new workers in getting started.

The children's Christmas party held last week at the Pine Cave was an enjoyable event. The children played games and lunch was served after which Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts and sacks of candy. Christmas carols were sung before lunch with Mrs. H. M. Hetterdahl as accompanist.

Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon at Grygla for Mrs. Jorand Nomeland, a Gold Star mother. Several Auxiliary members are in attendance at the funeral.

Women's Missionary Society Meets Friday

JUNIOR HOCKEY IS SPONSORED AGAIN BY 40 & 8 GROUP

Reieragaard to be Manager; Connie Stanbridge Is Named Coach

The 40 & 8 at a meeting held Tuesday night decided to continue their sponsorship of the Hornets junior hockey team. Gilbert Reieragaard was named managing director, succeeding Alex Campbell; Connie Stanbridge was appointed coach; A. M. Senstad was selected to arrange a playing schedule; while Elmer Larson, Joe Maruska and Helmer Carlson were appointed to the transportation committee.

The 40 & 8 members realized that transportation and schedule-making problems would handicap junior hockey this year, but they believe that hockey interest should be kept alive and that the local fans would support the game again this season.

With the opening game scheduled to be played against Crookston Cathedral at Crookston next Saturday, Coach Stanbridge has been drilling the Hornets in practice sessions on the arena ice. Stanbridge has Marlyn Dorn, Bob Protz, Johnny Efteland, Bob Baker, Johnny Robarge, Les Vigness, and Johnny Baker as veterans from last year's squad. Doug Snelling, George Effinger, Lloyd Johnson, and Morris Efteland are the players that are missing this season, with Snelling and Effinger having graduated, and Johnson and Efteland having quit school.

Jury Members to Get Extra Gasoline Ration

Men and women of the county who are called for jury duty will be able to get additional gasoline if they have to use their cars while they are on court call.

Pointing out that the jury is an important part of America's judicial system, OPA says that sufficient gasoline will be provided to keep jury men on the job. In many parts of the country, particularly the midwest, it would be impossible for some persons to serve on juries unless they had the use of their cars, to and from court.

Special gasoline rations will be given to jurymen who present signed statements from the judge, OPA said. The statement must set forth that the applicant has been called to jury duty and that specified mileage is necessary to provide required transportation.

'SAVINGS ACCOUNT' SOUGHT FOR ROAD NEEDS AFTER WAR

Highway Commissioner Submits Biennial Report to Legislature

Citing that out of approximately $11,000,000 in trunk highway projects which had been programmed for construction during 1942 virtually all have been forcibly cancelled by war requirements, and will remain at a standstill for the duration, State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann has recommended to the new Legislature two basic steps to assure Minnesota road users of a "savings account" with which to meet anticipated highway improvements.

The two fundamental steps urged by the state highway chief are:

Conserving of all road-user revenues and highway fund balances, accruing because of the state's current inability to carry on normal construction, in order to build up a substantial post-war highway construction reserve.

Establishment of authority to invest such funds and balances as may not be immediately required for current operations and bond payments, in a short term federal securities where they could not only be helping to finance the war, but could be earning a substantial interest return and thus materially increasing the amount of money available to meet road needs when the war is over.

The highway commissioner's recommendations are made public today with their publication as an excerpt from the Highway Department's official Biennial Report for the two fiscal years from July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1942.

Mr. Hoffman disclosed that $21,300,000 in new road and bridge construction on state trunk highways was accomplished and paid for during the biennium. The bulk of it was achieved before the necessities of war required a virtual cessation of all such work except that already under contract or immediately essential even under emergency conditions. Of these expenditures approximately $9,300,000 were financed by federal funds and about $12,000,000 by state funds. Preliminary engineering, surveys, plans and other costs incidental to this construction program totalled an additional $1,910,000, exclusive of right of way costs. At the end of the biennium $2,782,000 worth of additional construction projects were carried over into the last half of 1942 for completion.

During the biennium the Highway Department, cooperating with federal authorities, supervised $2,360,000 worth of other road construction not on the trunk system, such as federal aid county and defense road projects, financed entirely by federal and sponsor funds.

FACTS ARE GIVEN TO MINN. FARMERS ON SERVICE FLAGS

Applications to be Mailed to Township Clerks by January 11

Farmers of this community this week received application blanks in connection with Minnesota's Agricultural Award for 1942. These applications, together with explanatory material, were mailed in St. Paul on January 2, according to Ole A. Flatt of Fisher, director of the program. All rural and star route boxes will be covered.

The applications, which are very simple, should be filled out and mailed to the town clerk of the township in which the farmer resides, not later than January 11.

At the same time that applications were being mailed, Governor Stassen addressed a letter to township supervisors, town clerks, county commissioners, the county auditor, and the county agricultural agent asking that they cooperate by serving as township and county award boards.

After town boards have considered the applications mailed to the town clerk, they will forward them to the state office of the agricultural award, 537 State Office Building. County boards will be asked to serve in making awards to farmers who live in unorganized areas or in incorporated villages, and also to constitute the local committee to make arrangements for "Minnesota Agricultural Award Day," the date of which is to be announced later.

Farmers who increased their major vital war production in '42 over '41, or who had a son in the armed services and, in spite of that, made a good production record, are entitled to apply for the award.

Keeping Score

.... With HUCK OLSON

Mr. American League

Harold Eide, president of the local chapter of the Ted Williams Song and Shout Club, has been pretty happy ever since the American League released the official batting and fielding averages. These statistics reveal quite conclusively that the Boston Red Sox outfielder was the most talented performer in the circuit, for not only did Ted lead the league in batting, in runs-batted-in, and in homeruns, but he also was the league's top-ranking outfielder, with a fielding average of .988.

That mark, considering players who participated in 150 games or more, was one point better than the Yanks' Joe DiMaggio, who had a .987, and DiMaggio is reputed to be the game's finest outfielder. Joe Gordon, who was named the league's most valuable player, an event which made Harold, like Brother Crawford, very unhappy, didn't fare so well in the averages.

Second baseman Gordon ranked below Boston's Bobby Doerr in the fielding averages, and on offense Joe had more strikeouts to his record, 72, and hit into more double plays, 22, than any other American League batsman. Guess we will have to agree that Ted Williams has a right to be called Mr. American League, and that we'll have to apply for a membership in Harold's club.

A Look at the Records

Thumbing through the high school annual the other day we found that the Prowlers, in the years from 1916 to 1942, had met the Crookston Pirates 48 times in basketball, and that the locals had piled up the high score in 39 of those games while losing but 9 games. The games, for the most part, have been close and hard-fought, with seven of the contests being decided by a margin of two points or less.

The Prowler team captained by Roy Brown, turned in the most top-heavy score of the series, defeating Crookston, 54 to 5, during the 1915-16 season. By the way, the Prowlers back in those days were called the Midgets, and a few years later they were known as the Whippets. The Prowler label was tagged on the locals in the twenties.

Other games which gave the locals a considerable margin in the score was the 43 to 22 win marked up by the 1929-30 Prowlers; the 40 to 21 score by Howie Hoium's team in 1931; the 22 to 9 and 40 to 22 wins credited to the state champion Prowlers in 1932; the 30 to 9 score in the 1934 district tourney; the 48 to 14 and 47 to 20 triumphs in 1939-40; the 40 to 16 score by the team captained by Eddie Flasch; and the 56 to 27 win in the district meet last year.

Crookston scored its most convincing win in 1919, winning by a 26 to 8 score; but the Pirate victory which was the sweetest, undoubtedly was that 28 to 24 win over a heavily-favored Prowler team in the district tourney in 1935. The victory, in a semi-final game, turned to wormwood, however, because the Pirates were upset by East Grand Forks in the finals.

Good Record vs. Warren

Over the same span of years, from 1915 to 1942, Warren has met the Prowlers in sixty-two games, with the locals winning 47 decisions while losing 15 games. Warren has been particularly tough for the Prowlers in the district tournaments, and on several occasions the Ponies have eliminated the blue-and-gold from the tourneys. In 1927 they beat the locals, 13 to 11; in 1928 they won by a 14 to 12; in 1931 they eked out a 20 to 18 win; and in 1934 they scored a 21 to 19 victory. And Warren very nearly tripped the 1938 state champion Prowlers during a season game, losing by a 23 to 22 score. The one score to which the Prowlers can point with pride is the 76 to 9 drubbing administered by the 1934-35 Prowlers.

East Grand Forks is a Johnny-come-lately to Prowler competition, having been on the locals schedule only since 1930. But in 31 meetings with the Little Green Wave the Prowlers have come thru with 24 wins and only 7 losses.

Moving out of the district we find the Prowlers record losing some of its luster, for in 30 games with Bemidji, the locals have won 17 games while losing 19 contests; and against the Fosston Greyhounds, a team that was a power in the early days, the Prowlers have won 9 games and lost 11 times. The Prowlers didn't play Fosston in the late twenties or in the thirties, which was, perhaps, a break for the Greyhounds. Grand Forks Central has tripped the Prowlers 10 times while losing 7 games; and the Moorhead Spuds has 7 wins over the locals to but 2 losses.

3 STATES SUPPLY 190 MILLION LBS. SCRAP MATERIAL

Regional Manager Reports on Collections During Past Four Months

Minnesota, North and South Dakota have contributed a grand total of 190,118,686 pounds of industrial scrap to the nation's war effort within the last four months, Carl W. Jones, regional conservation manager for the War Production Board, reported today.

Highlights of Mr. Jones' year end report were:

Actual shipments from auto graveyards and scrapyards, 305,491 tons.

Awaiting shipment, 112,000 tons.

Special salvage collections, 245,278 tons.

New special salvage projects, 890.

Special salvage projects completed, 305.

Industrial units in salvage campaign, 2,012.

"Many of our figures are complete only up to December 1," Mr. Jones said, "but we are satisfied on the basis of reports from the various salvage sections that Minnesota, North and South Dakota will be well 'over the top' when all the figures are in about January 10. The results have been very gratifying. This is a great tribute to the war spirit in the Northwest because 90% of this enormous tonnage has been brought in by volunteer committees of men and women in this region."

Mr. Jones' report was made on the basis of figures collected by three section chiefs in the regional salvage division, E. F. Granzow, chief of industrial salvage; Norman S. Olson, chief of special salvage projects, and Robert E. Grimes, chief of scrap processors section. The report of Linus E Vorpahl, regional chief of general salvage, released earlier, showed approximately 1,000,000 tons of scrap collected this year in general salvage campaigns.

TRADE-IN OF OLD RADIO TUBES PLANNED BY WPB

You may have to turn in your old radio tubes when you go to buy new ones next time. Plans for this are now being worked out by the War Production Board. It isn't definitely set yet, but it is believed likely sometime early this year. Bases of the old tubes, in many cases, can be refabricated and used over. Otherwise they are good as salvage. WPB had reduced the number of types of radio tubes from over 700, before the war started, to about 120.

Office of Censorship Warns Public on Giving Information to Enemy

On battle fronts every day men risk their lives to discover the location and strength of the military units of the enemy. Yet at home, too many of us are presenting the enemy with information of the same military value, the federal office of censorship says in a statement.

This is the information which newspapers and individuals are asked not to tell the enemy:

Do not tell the troop units in which soldiers serve overseas.

There is no objection to revealing that Pvt. John Jones is in Australia or that Seaman Tom Brown saw action in the Atlantic, but there is military information which endangers the lives of American fighting men in stating that Pvt. John Jones, "Company C, 600th Infantry," is in Australia, or Seaman Tom Brown, "Aboard the U. S. S. Wisconsin," is in the Atlantic.

The Office of Censorship says: "We ask editors not to publish these troop identifications, and we ask parents and relatives not to reveal them. Don't give the enemy anything that may lengthen the war!"

750,000 PERSONS IN MINNESOTA GET INCOME TAX FORMS

Exemptions Have Been Drastically Lowered for the Coming Year

Shortly after January 1 approximately 750,000 Minnesota taxpayers will receive 1942 federal income tax blanks from the office of the collector of internal revenue at St. Paul. Blanks will be mailed to all taxpayers who filed returns last year and, in addition, the collector is mailing blanks to additional taxpayers who may be liable this year due to decreased personal exemptions.

Every single individual whose gross income for the year 1942 exceeds $500.00 and every married person whose income exceeds $1,200.00 will be liable for the filing of an income tax return. Returns must be filed on or before March 15 in order to avoid penalty.

Instructions and samples of blank forms are also being mailed to employers who will be required to withhold the new 5% victory withholding tax from the wages of employees beginning January 1, 1943. These blanks are being mailed on the basis of the employment tax mailing list and mailing lists which have been prepared in the collector's office for other employers who are not now required to file employment tax returns, such as federal agencies; departments of the state government; city, village and township officials; school districts; churches; private and parochial schools; societies and clubs.

The victory tax must be withheld from the wages of all employees who earn in excess of $12.00 per week, $26.00 semi-monthly, or $52.00 monthly. The only exceptions from such withholdings are employees who are in military service, agricultural labor, domestic service and certain other branches of employment.

Arthur D. Reynolds, collector of internal revenue for the State of Minnesota, has stated: "Due to transportation difficulties we have not received forms in time to make delivery to all taxpayers promptly on January 1, but we are assured that all these blank forms and instructions are in transit and as soon as they are received they will be mailed to taxpayers on the basis of our existing mailing lists. We realize that many individuals and employers will not receive blanks thru the mail for the reason that they are not included on these mailing lists. Such taxpayers should address inquiries and requests for blank forms to the collector of internal revenue, St. Paul, and they will receive our prompt attention."

Congressman Buckler Issues Statement on Retiring from Office

Congressman R. T. Buckler of Crookston ended his long service as a congressman from the ninth district of Minnesota Sunday and in a statement officially said farewell to Washington.

While out of active politics, the congressman declared he expected to still be interested in politics and good government.

"The 77th congress has adjourned and it is a thing of the past. It was probably the most nerve wracking congress since the last war.

"The voters of Polk county and the Ninth district have been very kind in supporting me, for which I feel grateful and I take this opportunity to thank them.

"While I have made mistakes, no doubt, I feel that my service has been reasonably satisfactory, or the voters would not have kept me in office for so many years.

"What few years I have left I want to spend in Minnesota."

Congressman Buckler gave failing health, which was aggravated by Washington, D. C., climate, as the reason for retiring from office.

He is 77 years of age and was born in Coles county, Illinois. He came to Polk county in 1885.

Girls Taking Tractor Course at N. W. School

The Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston is training girls to become farm tractor operators. According to Superintendent T. M. McCall, two classes have been organized in the tractor and motors course for girls which started on January 5. The course has been streamlined to meet the needs of girls who will assist in the all-out production of crops on the farms of the Red River Valley. The girls are being trained to fill in part the depleted ranks of essential farm workers. Enough of the fundamentals of design and construction of tractors will be taught to give the girls a background of information for the proper handling and care of the different makes of tractors. William Barron, tractor specialist at the school, is the instructor in the girls' tractor course.

THE GREATEST MASS PRODUCTION JOB IN HISTORY

Not in Detroit . . . not in shipyards . . . not in steel mills . . . but rather on six million scattered farms, America today faces the greatest mass production problem of all time.

With tremendous new production quotas for next year just released, the American farmer now tackles the formidable problem of feeding our armed forces, our allies, our home front and the starving nations of the world.

It is not easy . . . yet there is not a farmer in America today who will shirk his duty . . .

Because poorly fed industrial workers never broke a production record!

Because our allies, fighting with us all over the world, need food as desperately as they need fuel!

Because food is more eloquent than words to a conquered nation!

Today America has three armies: its fighting men, its war plant workers, and its farmers. To win the war depends on all three. You can be sure that the farmer will do his part—working long, tedious hours—from before dawn to late at night. To do his job, the farmer expects to work on Sundays, on Christmas, on New Year's Day, on every holiday.

The farmer does not ask for special favors, flag waving or medals.

But he does need farm help. He does need equipment. He does need a fair share of the American dollar.

And most of all . . . the farmer needs an understanding public.

His job is vital to America's war effort . . . and he'll carry on!

"Keep 'em rolling" is more than a slogan. It's a must! Every serviceable piece of automotive equipment is needed—needed on the road. That makes the service station dealer a vital cog in the nation's war machine. Just consider that—

* * *

Millions of war workers have no other means—except autos to get to work. In some sections over 75% of war workers reach their plants by car.

Over 65% of all freight going in and out of war plants is carried by truck. 54,000 communities are not reached by railroad, depend on trucks for supplies.

Nearly 100% of many vital crops are hauled to market by truck. Over 2,000 cities depend on cars for private transportation.

Every car owner must do a certain amount of necessary driving, as provided for under the rationing system.

Yes! America must remain a nation on wheels, and your Standard Oil Dealer is proud that he is playing a vital part in America's war effort. You can count on it—he'll carry on!

"Everybody eagerly accepts wartime restrictions. We'll have the good things, again, someday. But now it's work harder and fight, too. We've got a tough war to win. And no matter what anybody is doing to help (this doesn't go for fighting men) nobody is doing his full share if he's not buying U. S. War Bonds and War Stamps regularly. Are you buying them?
